Algerians Flock to Barracks After Call For Mobilization

Prepare to Meet Threat Of Conflict With Morocco

BY MICHAEL GOLDSMITH

ALGIERS (AP) — Thousands of Algerians streamed into army barracks today in answer to President Ahmed Ben Bella's general mobilization decree to meet the threat of war with Morocco.

The mobilization decree was issued Tuesday night after more fighting in the disputed outposts after two days of bloody skirmishes.

Ben Bella ordered all former soldiers — estimated to total 30,000 — to report for army service. At the same time efforts continued to negotiate a settlement of the dispute.

Those who answered the mobilization call included numerous young volunteers carried away by the officially whipped-up war fever. Many were clearly too young ever to have fought against the French.

Algerian sources said Ben Bell's call to arms was answered "with spontaneous enthusiasm" Several thousand men reported at the former French Orleans barracks in Algiers.

War Not Likely

Despite the atmosphere of crisis, it seemed unlikely that the governments would allow the dispute to degenerate into war.

Mohammed Yazid, former Algerian information minister, and Slimane Hoffman, an aide of Defense Minister Col Houari Boumedienne, flew back to Algiers Tuesday night after a day of talks in Marrakech with King Hassan II of Morocco and other Moroccan leaders.

The two emissaries immediately went into conference with Ben Bella. They took off again at dawn to resume their talks in Marrakech.

There was no official word on the negotiations, but informed sources said little real progress had been made.

Reports from the Sahara said fighting had subsided.

Republicans Hit Kennedy Deals With Russians

National Chairman Sees Possibility Of 'Connivery'

BY JACK BELL

WOSHINGTON —(AP)— With the election still 13 months off, the political guns already are zeroing in on their targets President Kennedy's dealings with Russia are in the center of the crossfire.

Republican National Chairman William E Miller rolled up the GOP artillery Tuesday night at a fund-raising birthday party for former President Dwight D. Eisenhower. There may be "connivery" in Kennedy's moves, Miller said

Manning the defenses for the administration earlier in the day was Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson "It is possible," Johnson told a Liberal party rally in New York "to lower world tensions without lowering our guard."

A frequently applauding array of Republican notables heard Miller say that many people are wondering "what really lies behind these moves to conciliate and cohabit with the Soviets in nuclear affairs, commercial transactions and space exploration."

When Eisenhower was in office, Miller said, the people were never "worried over the possibility of secret deals, private understandings and conni-

Erhard Chosen Chancellor of West Germany

Assumes Post as Bonn's Leader to Succeed Adenauer

BY CARL HARFTMAN

BONN, Germany (AP)—Ludwig Erhard, who directed West Germany's miraculous postwar economic recovery, was elected chancellor today to succeed Konrad Adenauer.

West Germany's lower house, the Bundestag, voted 279-180 to elevate the 66-year-old Erhard to the top government spot left vacant by Adenauer's reluctant retirement Tuesday There were 24 abstentions and one invalid vote.

250 Votes Needed

Erhard needed 250 votes to win. His Christian Democrats were joined by their partners in the coalition government, the Free Democrats The Socialists voted against him.

The chancellor will go before the Bundestag later today to take the oath of office. He will present his new Cabinet to President Heinrich Luebke Thursday.

Erhard has been economics minister throughout Adenauer's tenure as West Germany's only chancellor since the Federal Republic was created in 1949 Adenauer made no secret that he felt Erhard incapable of filling his shoes He retired at 87 only under extreme pressure from other leaders of his party.

Wants Tensions Needed

Erhard has promised to follow Adenauer's basic foreign policies of support for the Western Alliance, demand for German reunification and reconciliation with France.

But he is expected to show less resistance to U.S efforts to ease cold war tensions and to open up the European Common Market to trade with the rest of the free world. That will be the big difference.

Barring the unexpected, Erhard will serve the two years until the 1965 general election

Vehicles Proceed After Commander Stands Firm In Resisting Demand

BERLIN (AP) — A British convoy held up on the Berlin Autobahn by the Russians today moved westward, a British spokesman announced

The British spokesman said the convoy continued its interrupted journey "on our terms."

That meant the British refused the Soviet demand for the British soldiers to dismount to be counted

The convoy of nine vehicles carrying 28 men, was stopped by the Soviets at Babelsberg their checkpoint just outside Berlin where a U.S convoy was blockaded last week

It was kept waiting nine hours until the Russians gave up their insistence on men dismounting and lifted the barriers for it to proceed

Second Checkpoint

It was still a question whether the Russians would repeat their delaying tactics at Marienborn

The British said the Soviet blockade was deliberate and protested vigorously The U.S State Department had suggested the American convoy was held up by confusion at the local level

Traffic Continues

The scene was the same for both incidents, the checkpoint at Babelsberg within sight of Berlin

The halting of the convoy did not interfere with civilian traffic on the 110-mile autobahn between Berlin and West Germany

It was understood that the Soviets demanded that the British soldiers get out of their vehicles and line up to be counted The British convoy commander refused.

Similar Demand on U.S.

The Russians made the same demand of a U S convoy last week on the autobahn and the American commander similarly refused A serious crisis resulted, but the Russians finally lifted their blockade

The Western allies allow the Russians to count the troops aboard large convoys but refuse to permit head checks of small convoys, contending that the convoys' travel papers are sufficient

British authorities in Berlin appeared convinced that the stopping of the convoy today was part of a Soviet plan. Informants said the British au-

Private Income Up $1.5 Billion In September

Reaches Annual Record Rate of $466.5 Billion

WASHINGTON (AP) — Personal income jumped by almost a record annual rate of $466 5 billion, the government reported today

The Commerce Department's Office of Business Economics said the September figure was $21 billion, or 4 5 per cent, higher than for the same month last year

Nearly all of the August-to-September increase was in wages and salaries Part of it reflected increased payrolls under the new federal minimum wage law effective Sept. 3

The bureau said that since February, when there was a slight dip, personal income has advanced by an average of $2 billion a month The increase during the third quarter averaged $1 25 billion a month

The third - quarter increase was just half the $2 5 billion average monthly gain reported during the second quarter

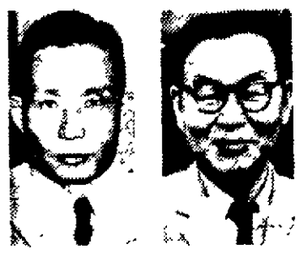

Factory payrolls hit an annual rate of $99 billion in September, about one-third of a billion higher than in August

Park Elected President of South Korea

Spokesman for Rival Party Virtually Concedes His Victory

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — Gen Chung Hee Park, who seized control of South Korea in a military coup two years ago, has won the presidency through a general election, unofficial returns showed today.

Hour before, a spokesman of ex-President Yun Po-sun's Civil Rule Party had virtually conceded victory to the strongman, who resigned his commission to

The party's spokesman, Kim Yung-sam, saidiin an informal statement: "We apologize to the people who fought to the end despite various bad laws and other obstacles in this election."

Urges Unity

Meanwhile, a spokesman of Park's Democratic Republic party issued a brief statement saying "The presidential election battle is over. We all should let bygones be bygones and be united in our work at building the Third Republic."

While neither party made any flat statement of concession or victory, unofficial counts gave Park nearly a 100,000-vote lead.

Tabulations by South Korea's government-run radio network gave Park 4,471,300 votes to 4,379,084 for Yun.

But votes for three minor anti-government candidates totaled 780,201, demonstrating that a majority of South Korea's voters oppose Park's military-dominated regime.

In earlier returns, the lead shifted back and forth between Park and Yun

Yun, 67, candidate of the Civil Rule party and slashing critic of Park's military regime, went into hiding as the ballots were counted. He obviously feared Park's military backers would arrest him.

It seemed apparent that the final tabulation would not end the fierce struggle between the military leaders who have ruled Korea for 29 months and the civilian politicians they displaced in the May 16, 1961, coup.

Royce, Ex-President Of Platteville College, Dies in Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Asa M. Royce, president of Platteville State Teachers College for more than a quarter century, died Tuesday in Deaconess Hospital. He was 86.

A native of Oconto, Royce was graduated from Oshkosh State Teachers College and the University of Wisconsin. He was principal of Oconto public schools from 1897 until 1907, when he became head of the normal school at Superior.

Royce was named president of the Platteville college in 1916 and held the post until his retirement in 1942. He was prominent in civic affairs and was a past governor of the Wisconsin and Upper Michigan Kiwanis district.

Gen. Harkins Unhurt During Crash Landing

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—A transport plane carrying Gen. Paul D. Harkins, commander of U.S. forces in South Viet Nam, made a wheels-up crash landing, today. U.S. officials said Harkins and others aboard the plane were not hurt.

Authorities said the pilot neglected to lower the retracted landing gear.

B58 Flies From Japan to Britain In Record Time

GREENHAM COMMON, England (AP)—A U.S. Air Force B58 jet bomber sped from Japan to England nonstop today in 8 hours and 35 minutes. It covered the 8,028 miles at an average speed of 938 miles an hour.

This was a record paring 9 hours and 7 minutes from the best previous time for a flight between Japan and England.

The bomber, carrying a crew of three, set down at an airfield at this Berkshire, village

The plane had to slow down five times to be refueled by aerial tankers

Commander of the plane was Maj. Sidney J Kubesch, 33, of El Campo, Tex.

Maj. John O Barrett, 32, of Yucca Valley, Calif., was the navigator and Capt Gerard R Williamson, 26, of New Orleans manned the defensive systems.

Stauffer, Monticello Assemblyman, Dies

MONTICELLO (AP)—C. M Stauffer, 67, Republican Assemblyman from Monticello, died in a Monroe hospital Tuesday after suffering an apparent stroke in his home.

Stauffer became ill shortly after the 1963 Legislature convened in January and did not take an active role in the session. He was the second Republican assemblyman to die since the Legislature recessed in August. Hugh Harper, R-Lancaster, died Aug. 8.

Illinois Town in Fear of Arsonist

Man Telephones Threats to Set Off 4 Additional Fires

MONMOUTH, Ill. (AP) — An arsonist believed responsible for setting three fires in this college town Monday, has threatened to set off four additional fires unless his demands are met.

Authorities seeking the arsonist, apparently a man with a grudge, said the man telephoned Mrs. Allan Walters, wife of Monmouth's mayor, Tuesday night with his latest threat to burn down the town.

"There will be no more fires set tonight," Mrs. Walters quoted the mysterious caller.

City Patrolled

"But if the pottery works tomorrow you can expect that four fires will be set tomorrow night."

Tuesday night passed without any fires as arm guards, including National Guardsmen and state troopers, Monmouth police and college students, patrolled the city to prevent a repetition of Monday's fires

The three big fires Monday destroyed two lumber yards and half of a block-long factory building with losses estimated from $280,000 to $400,000.

Fire Chief Dale Moore and Walter Parlier, deputy state fire marshal, termed all three fires the work of an arsonist.

Hospital Guarded

Closely guarded throughout the night were the Monmouth hospital and a nursing home for the aged.

Authorities said the pottery to which the mysterious caller referred in his call to Mrs. Walters is the Western Stoneware Company, against which the arsonist apparently has a grudge.

Earlier Tuesday, Mrs Vincent Romano, wife of Mon-

Guard Arrested On Arson Charge

NEW YORK (AP)—A guard at a children's home on Staten Island was arrested on an arson charge today several hours after a fire forced about 350 boys to flee

The guard ran into a blazing unoccupied building with a fire extinguisher and was carried out unconscious from smoke inhalation

The guard, who recovered quickly, was quoted by officials as saying he had "problems at home" but did not know why he set fire to the four-story building

None of the boys was reported injured They fled from three dormitories at Mount Loretto, run by the New York City Catholic Charities The fire, which for a time threatened the dormitories, was in the boys' section of the campus-like grounds. The home has about 850 children

Wauwatosa Couple Killed in Virginia

CENTRAL, Va. (AP)—Harold H. Kolbow, a business executive from Wauwatosa, Wis., and his wife, Alice, were killed Tuesday in the collision of their car and a tractor-trailer truck at an intersection about 25 miles northeast of Richmond

State police said Kolbow and his wife, both 55, died in the crash. Two men in the truck were not injured.

How Hurricane Grew From Nothing to Record Storm

BY BEN FUNK
Associated Press Staff Writer

The day: Thursday, Sept. 26, 1963. The exact time: Unknown The place: The tropical Atlantic, 3,000 miles southeast of the Florida coast.

The day is hot, sultry, oppressive. The wind blows in fitful gusts. The heaving sea is gray and sluggish as molten lead.

A whiff of warm, damp air rises from the sea, like smoke drifting up a chimney. Other air takes its place and is caught in the updraft. Very, very slowly, an air column grows.

Rising, the warm air expands and cools. The water in it condenses and falls. Heat is released, adding energy to the thing that has formed.

Erratically, the darkening column begins to drift westward.

A tropical disturbance formed and started spinning westward over the Atlantic 3,000 miles southeast of Florida. It developed into hurricane Flora, the most devastating storm recorded in the Caribbean area. The following article traces its birth, growth and effects.

Orbiting over the South Atlantic on Sept. 26, the Tiros 7 weather satellite photographed a poorly organized circular motion in a cloud mass.

Forecasters mark this down as an "area of suspicion" and plan to keep an eye on it.

FRIDAY, SEPT. 27

1:30 p.m. Tiros sends another picture of the same cloud mass. It has moved 400 miles westward.

For two days, there are no further reports There is little ship traffic in that area

SUNDAY, SEPT. 29

6 p m The captain of a ship 350 miles east of Trinidad reports he is encountering light squalls and rising seas His barometer is falling

MONDAY, SEPT. 30

10 a m The hurricane hunter thrusts his plane through the "wall of the eye" of a small but tightly wound and "very dangerous" hurricane It is moving fast toward the island of Tobago.

Tobago has two hours to prepare The eye of the hurricane reaches the coast at noon.

Houses collapse under the 100-mile-an-hour winds. Torrential rain triggers floods Towering tides bury the beaches. Seventeen islanders die

The Indian Dropout Problem

The figures presented at the Northeast Wisconsin Indian Institute meeting at Keshena on high school dropouts among Indian youth are discouraging But perhaps they may point the way toward better educational opportunities for the various minority groups, particularly those who receive little encouragement to stay in school from their homes

According to statistics covering the years 1959 through 1962 50 per cent of the Indians entering high school as freshmen did not finish The lowest average rate was at Shawano but even there it was 40 per cent At Crandon and Antigo the rate was 75 per cent And of greater seriousness the rate has been climbing steadily In 1959 it was 37 per cent but last year it was 59 per cent Nationally the rate is 60 per cent and rising

Of course statistics can never tell the whole story One reason for the rising rate in the last few years may be because more Indians than previously go to high school at all Eighth grade or lower used to be the termination point And apparently it is the compulsory attendance law that holds many Indian youngsters as far as the 10th grade as most of the dropouts occur after that.

Encouraging youngsters to stay in school is not only a matter for educational authorities. It is worth noting that the Indian dropouts correspond to those of the Kentucky hill people where there is little or any effort among parents to keep their children in school It is similar among some mid-south agricultural families too where a high school diploma is not regarded as important for plowing or planting cotton.

But youngsters from minority groups are exactly those who need the additional skills and training from the upper high school years. While discrimination is officially frowned upon in employment in Wisconsin it exists. An Indian seeking certain types of employment undoubtedly needs higher qualifications than his white brother The competition for all except the most menial and temporary of jobs is tougher all the time

The study presented at Keshena showed that the schools which made extra efforts to keep the Indian youth in school had the better records Bus tranportation for extra curricular activities, special counseling of dropouts and their parents seem to have good results In addition the high schools must continue to improve their vocational offerings so that classes are not mere time fillers but obviously point toward future employment

Integration of schools regardless of color or race of course must be the norm in Wisconsin. But within the schools it appears there must be more effort toward encouragement of those who do not get it at home This is true not only for the Indian or Negro youngsters but for those from other lower economic strata where family apathy or habit shrugs off the importance of education in today's world

It's Time the U.N. Calls Russia

Last week the United Nations voted to spend some $18 millions to keep its troops in the Congo for the first six months of 1964 The troops had been requested by Premier Adoula in a plea to give the Congolese a little more time to train and organize their own police to keep the peace

The United States, Great Britain and Belgium urged that the U.N. take the action Belgium, in fact, reversed itself and agreed to pay its assessed cost of the operation and a voluntary contribution besides. France abstained from voting but did not oppose the action as in the past. Only the Soviet Union, insisting that the Security Council alone is the peace-keeping part of the U.N., voted against the resolution but since this was general assembly action, the vote was not a veto.

The action begins to indicate that in spite of the blood and the chaos the Congo operation may be viewed by history as a success There is no hiding the atrocities by the U.N. troops and Congo forces against the Katangese as well as in the reverse. The confusion and lack of real control was so great it is amazing that any sort of order has come from the project. But it should be noted that, while this is an extension of time, the original U.N. force of 21,000 men has been cut to 7,000 and the new appropriation is for only 5,300.

The big problem of course comes in finding the money. The Congo itself will put up $3 million. Another $3 million is to be raised from the 111 members through regular assessment formulas The rest will be assessed at the regular rates for the 27 "wealthy" nations while the others will pay only 45 per cent of the regular amount. This obviously means a deficit which will have to be made up through voluntary contributions of which we definitely will pay a large share to add to our already lion's share of 37 per cent.

This is certainly the time to face Russia down at the United Nations. The Soviet Union is in arrears more than $37 millions. The new assessment should put it over the two year limit as set in the charter. Without further ado, the Russian right to vote in the U.N. should be withheld until it pays up

Quite obviously a lot of members will watch to see what happens France also owes money—about $16 millions—because it disagreed with the U.N. action in the Congo. But there is speculation that France will pay up since it didn't vote against the appropriation this time. And Yugoslavia, one of the Red bloc hold-outs, has agreed to pay up at least part of the debt it owes.

The Soviet Union might make only a token payment—that is, enough to get back on the voting role. But a big point would have been won if the U.N. brings the matter that far along. A precedent such as paying up in order to vote would be difficult even for the Soviet Union to break in future decisions.

Is Rockefeller Desperate?

Governor Rockefeller's challenge to Senator Goldwater to a series of debates on Republican party principles is evidence of the desperate straits of the New York governor and his advisors

The challenge to debate is about the oldest political trick known. Rockefeller must surely have known in advance that his challenge would be rejected. And it gave Goldwater the perfect opening for his reply that he would be happy to join with Rockefeller in challenging the Democrats to debate national issues.

In issuing the challenge Rockefeller also implied that there are serious issues over Republican principles. Which again gave Goldwater the opportunity to remark that Republican principles are well known as outlined in the 1962 Declaration of Republican Principle and Policy issued by a committee of senators and representatives. If Rockefeller wants to debate, he implies that he disagrees with these principles

The Rockefeller challenge was issued during an address he made to the Western Republican Conference at Eugene, Oregon, a meeting which was subsequently addressed by Goldwater. The Rockefeller organization received a first-hand impression of the strength of the Goldwater boom at the conference. Whereas ahe New York governor's reception was quietly polite, those in attendance practically tore the roof off for Goldwater.

It now appears that Rockefeller's only chance to head off a Goldwater nomination is to challenge him in a number of early primaries and win them decisively. But the impression is growing that if this were even possible, it might only result in swinging the nomination to a darkhorse candidate, rather than to Rockefeller, so low has the Rockefeller image fallen.

Rockefeller is expected to announce his candidacy formally later this month or early in November. Then he will start setting up campaign organizations in key primary states. But all will be useless unless he finds some way to slow down the Goldwater boom. And if challenging him to debate is the best idea he has developed to date his tacticians are certainly bereft of imagination.

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for Oct. 17, 1863.

Fearing the political effect of the conscription has so much alarmed the Abolitionists for the safety of the mongrel State ticket that they have postponed the draft until Nov. 9th — JUST AFTER ELECTION!

Now, then, Copperheads, look out how you vote in November or you may have the terrors of the law held over you!

Bring on the draft, Mr. Government, if you want men or else acknowledge that you told Gov. Seymour a falsehood when you said you would be willing to have the constitutionality of that law tested. You wanted men so much then that you could not make any delay.

How is it, Messrs. Abolitionists. did the "Government" need those men at the time of the Lincoln - Seymour correspondence? Or was the President only joking? We really would like to know.

And while you are on the matter, give us the secret programme connected with the draft postponement in this State! Who had it postponed, and why?

'How Can Anyone Say I Have Political Ambition?'

Freedman Column

Adenauer Ranked as Greatest German Leader Since Bismarck

BY MAX FREEDMAN

Dr. Konrad R. Adenauer, who has resigned as chancellor of West Germany, has become a legend even though he has ceased to be a statesman. For the last three or four years his career has been a feeble parody of his great period He has lived on echoes from the past while Europe struggles forward to a new age. Yet with all his blots and infirmities, he must be considered the greatest German leader since Bismarck.

Freedman

Like Bismarck, he has left a heritage that is at once splendid and equivocal. Bismarck created Germany as a powerful state while shunning an adventurous policy that would make her too dangerous for the rest of Europe. His success in war was remembered but his restraint in diplomacy was forgotten; and in the end his perverted example led Germany to disaster. Adenauer leaves his country divided without any hope of early unity, the future of Berlin is still an enigma, and the German problem darkens the debate over the security of Europe. Not long after the war, Dr. Adenauer in a speech pointed to the ruined cathedral in Cologne, and the devastation of the city, as evidence of the failures and follies of Hitler. Instead of bringing his people to the mastery of the world, Hitler had cursed Germany with sorrow and hate beyond the measure of men. An experiment which had been so fully tried, and which had crushed in such painful and humiliating failure, need never be repeated.

This practical demonstration of the tears and blood caused by Hitler was one way to shake the Germans out of the calamitous cruelties of the Nazi era. But Dr. Adenauer had the right to a more searching argument. He could also appeal to the conscience and judgment of the German people for he had looked beyond the triumphant arrogance of Hitler to the inevitable doom which awaited the German people while they followed this evil leadership. Moreover, he had presented this challenge not when the tide had begun to turn against Hitler but while the Nazis still bullied Germany into servitude.

Unless Dr. Adenauer is right in regarding Hitlerism as a sinister aberration, and not as a logical expression of German history and German character, there can be no enduring prospect that West Germany will continue to follow the paths of peace and democracy. It therefore becomes a matter of the highest importance to understand Dr. Adenauer's reading of the German experience

Dr. Adenauer does not believe that German people lurched into Hitlerism because of their defeat in the First World War or the penalties imposed by the treaty of Versailles. When Ludendorff joined with Hitler in the first years of peace, the Munich revolt failed disastrously and Hitler went to jail. That was Germany's judgment on the Nazi Party while the country could still think freely and without fear of brutal coercion. It was a different story years later when Germany was gripped by the depression when millions of unemployed gave an explosive edge to populous agitation, when other party leaders entered into a shameful alliance with Hitler, and when the blunders of the democracies allowed an unopposed Hitler to snatch a succession of spectacular victories. Nor did Dr Adenauer even forget, what world opinion so easily forgot, that Hitler had used the pitiless power of the Gestapo to break the liberal leaders of the German people long before the Nazi war machine became an instrument of terror to frighten Europe into slavery.

At all events, Dr. Adenauer rested his whole career on the conviction that there is a faith in freedom among the German people that can make them dependable allies of the free world. The period since the Marshall Plan is too brief, measured in historical terms, for this question to be settled beyond all dispute. But at least West Germany, under the guidance of Dr. Adenauer, has given an answer which holds the promise of stability and peace. Germany has ended its quarrel with France, has become a founding member of the Common Market, and has earned respect as a valiant partner in the NATO community. All these gains must be remembered to Adenauer's credit when one thinks of his barren record on disarmaments, on security arrangements for Central Europe, on easier relations with Russia.

As Dr. Ludwig Erhard prepares to succeed Dr. Adenauer, there is abundant evidence that West Germany remains steadfast in its commitment to democracy. If that promise is fulfilled over the long years, then Dr. Adenauer will be much more than a great German. He will rank with the great Europeans who have brought new unity and hope to the peaceful purposes of mankind.

Knowles is senior in party experience, stature, state-wide acquaintance, and most important, in the affections of the men who constitute the base of the party organization and whose decisions are likely to control in the convention or the primary election

Wyngaard

The only doubt about the Olson decision — during the ten days of his deliberation — was the chance that the intensity of his desire and the keenness of his disappointment might make him obdurate. Some of his interim statements to the press suggested that possibility strongly.

There is no intention here to suggest that there is a mysterious power in Republican politics — especially in this era of its self-appraisal following three bitter state-wide defeats — waving a wand and making arbitrary decisions

As Olson has explained, the withdrawal decision was his own. What he didn't say, and perhaps could not be expected to say in his situation, is that the men he most trusted for advice told him he probably could not win and that if he made the attempt nevertheless he would probably risk the quick extinction of his career.

As the situation now stands, he can make a fair claim for renomination and reelection to his present office, which, of course, will be frustrating and disappointing to Assembly Speaker Robert Haase of Marinette who took Olson at his word and announced his own candidacy for the lieutenant governorship.

OLSON PROBLEM

Considered objectively, Jack Olson occupies a promising situation in politics, and especially at a time when the ranks of prospective party leaders have thinned due to the reverses at the polls during the last five years.

But the vacuum in the party is not quite as great as he has seemed to assume Some of his political style has borne the tell-tale marks of amateurism, including his exceptionally early announcement of his gubernatorial candidacy. The more seasoned aspirant would have examined the outlook more carefully. The slightest query in organization politics, for example, would have shown that there was a strong support for Knowles for governor — not to mention the public declaration of the Republican state convention last spring

The lieutenant governor has also been slow to recognize that while the office he holds is a platform, of sorts, from which to attract voter attention, it is not the best. Except as an occasional lieutenant governor has succeeded to the governorship through the death of the governor, it has not been an especially fruitful avenue for promotion. Indeed, Knowles' stature derives not from the circumstance that he once held the same office, but from his years of fruitful service as a state senate leader — as Republicans generally appraise that service

THE OPPORTUNITY

Yet there has been an opportunity for personal promotion in the office this year, through the circumstance that it is the highest ranking place the Republicans now hold, that Olson has not always recognized, or if he has recognized, has somehow been unable to exploit fully

The major issues between the capitol Republicans and the capitol Democrats this year found Olson on the sidelines for the most part. His public statements have tended to concentrate on the neutral and dispassionate questions — such as his preoccupation with tourism and its development. He has a public image of standing somewhere above or beyond the firing line, in what has been the most difficult competitive experience in the modern history of his political party.

Mr. Olson used to play football well, and is now an avid fan of the sport. He may draw a lesson from his athletic experiences. It is rare that the sophomore player is chosen to captain the team Leadership goes to the more seasoned and mature hands.

Strictly Personal

Both Einstein, Freud Are Little Understood

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Perhaps the two most influential men of the 20th century — in terms of changing the moral and intellectual climate of our times — have been Einstein and Freud

Harris

Yet, by the paradox that always accompanies their kind of greatness, neither of them is really understood, not only by the masses, but even by the majority of educated people.

Of course, their technical theories need not be understood; what I mean is that not even their basic premises are grasped accurately and clearly. To most people, Einstein said, "Everything is relative," and Freud said, "Everything is sex."

Both these statements are totally false, and would have horrified the men to whom they are ascribed. Leaving Einstein aside for the moment, let us consider the widespread distortion of Freud's view into "Everything is sex."

Some psychiatrists in the past believed this. They were known as "pan-sexualists." Freud fought these men vigorously and relentlessly. But at the same time, he was fighting conventional society, and forcing us to recognize that many kinds of "non-sexual" behavior has deep sexual roots.

What we have forgotten — if we have ever known it — is that Freud also demonstrated the opposite: that, in neurosis, what often seems to be sexual conduct is not really sexual at all

Take, for example, patterns of adultery and promiscuity. These certainly seem to be motivated by sexual drives. Yet, in many if not most cases, the sexual "acting out" is merely a symptom of other discontents and dissatisfactions.

Of the people who behave this way, relatively few are driven by genuinely sexual needs. They are unhappy in other ways, they are enslaved by infantile fears or conflicts never resolved within themselves — and their sexual misconduct is simply a symptom of their deeply unconscious problems.

Freud showed that many things we do not commonly think of as "sexual" are sexual in origin: but he also demonstrated the contrary — that "pseudo-sexuality" is one of the prime ways in which the disturbed or immature personality tries to come to terms (unsuccessfully, of course) with its conflicts. This is why, as he pointed out, there is no real joy or lasting satisfaction in such compulsive behavior.

The finest tribute humanity can pay its great men is to understand them. Instead, they are venerated or condemned, out of blind admiration or blind ignorance; which is why Freud said, "I am not a Freudian."

Walnut Chair and Brittle Charter Lawrence Symbols

Articles Will be Entrusted To Dr. Tarr at Investiture

BY MARGUERITE SCHUMANN

A carved black walnut chair and a charter brittle from 116 years in the college safe are the symbols of office which will be entrusted to 39-year-old Curtis William Tarr at his installation as 12th president of Lawrence College Thursday

Compared to 300-year-old eastern colleges, there is very little pageantry involved in a Lawrence installation Only since 1894 has there been public observance of the day Before that time the Lawrence presidential situation was so fluid that turnovers scarcely warranted a celebration

It was the advent of Samuel Plantz, a Detroit Methodist minister with considerable reputation as a mortgage-burner, that stirred the first formal investiture at Lawrence

Methodist Church

The emphasis in that first installation was on Methodism—it was held in the local Methodist church In the audience were "150 ministers all surcharged with enthusiasm, so that the speakers had a well wrought-up audience to talk to, wherein the 'amens' are heartfelt but explosively cut short for fear of losing the next word"

The ceremony was plain and prayerful, and pride was taken in the fact that 74 of Lawrence's 260 men graduates to that time had entered the ministry

Most colorful touch on the program was the public advice of Bishop Charles H Fowler to the new president "Your principal work will be to say no The professors will want more money and less work, and the trustees will want less money and more work You must say no"

By the time President Henry Wriston took office in 1925, the installation ceremony had expanded. The trustees presented him with a parchment scroll testifying to the fact that he was head of a college. A mammoth academic procession, led by the governor of Wisconsin, assembled at the college library, marched to Main Hall and crossed College Avenue to the chapel

Wriston's inauguration was the largest Lawrence has ever witnessed for 3,000 invitations were sent and 40 educational institutions were represented. 13 by their presidents

The late Dr James S Reeve sparked the day with an account of how a committee selects a president. He said

"Our beloved Dr. Plantz had been with us for so long that no one at Lawrence knew anything of the gentle art of catching college presidents We were short on both theory and practice

The committee conceived its task to be a three-fold one—first to find a man who didn't care particularly to come—that is, whose first reaction would be 'I'm pretty well satisfied right where I am, thank you' Second, to pry our man loose, and third, to make him glad he let us do it. We might almost be said to have put ourselves in the place of Vice, looking for someone who would first endure, then pity, then embrace"

By the time Thomas N Barrows was inaugurated in 1937 Lawrence had acquired several objects of historical interest from the founder's family among them a carved block walnut chair used at a desk in Amos A Lawrence's library during the period he composed the letters which led to the creation of his college The chair was called The President's Chair and has been used as such in public ceremonies since that time One of the founder's grandson's the Rev Frederick C Lawrence, received an honorary degree at the event

Wartime Investiture

Nathan Pusey was installed on an October day in 1944, which due to the disarrangement of the college calendar caused by the wartime accelerated program came the day before commencement Perhaps it was an omen that a Conant from Harvard Kenneth professor of architecture, was a delegate at Pusey's ceremony Nine years later the resignation of another Conant from Harvard James B, the president was the instrument by which Lawrence lost Dr Pusey to the east

Douglas Knight was the youngest president in Lawrence's history when he was inaugurated at 32 in 1961 The late Cola G Parker's remarks of investiture mirrored the accent on youth He said, "We have chosen a young man whose educational attainments at an unusually early age mark him for the distinction that has attended his predecessors However, lest there be misunderstanding on this mention of youthfulness I would point out that our Lawrence outlook our belief in youth is the result of our faith in the future growth both of the institution and all those connected with it growing out of the traditions and experience of the more than 100 years of its own history"

Just as coming events cast their shadows before the special quality that Curtis Tarr will bring to the history of Lawrence College will begin to appear on his day of installation

The Outagamie Chapter of Credit Unions Celebrates

THURSDAY OCTOBER 17

Each year on the third Thursday of October, over 17 million credit union members around the world give special recognition to the many benefits made possible by credit unions. Credit union members save together and borrow for useful purposes at low cost. Credit unions are owned and managed by their own members, under state or federal supervision. Any group with a common bond of association (employment, church, fraternal) can form a credit union.

This is the 114th anniversary of the credit union idea. The 1963 International Credit Union Day theme tells the credit union purpose simply and accurately — "Helping Hands in Many Lands." Tomorrow, Credit Union Day, highlights Credit Union Week, which is being celebrated by the 28,500 credit unions now operating in 67 countries in the free world.

'Women in Politics' Program At BPW Week Observance

"So Politics is for men?" was answered with a qualified 'yes' by Mrs. Ruth Doyle, Madison, guest speaker at the Appleton and Valley BPW Clubs dinner meeting and observance of National Business and Professional Women's Week. The former Wisconsin Assemblywoman, explaining that being an ex-office holder gave her more freedom of speech than those currently holding public positions, went on to say that national and great state politics were not only for men, but for a very special kind of man. In addition to his masculinity, he must also be rich and handsome.

These qualifications are increasingly necessary in national politics, she stated, where wealth is a requisite to permit the time required from one's business for campaigning, and good looks are a must to withstand the trials of television debate. She noted that there seems to be no scarcity of such men, pointing out that President Kennedy, Barry Goldwater, George Romney and Nelson Rockefeller all fit both requirements.

Has Enormous Power

The speaker also called attention to the women who figure and have figured in political life, and who possessed similar attributes. Mme. Nhu of Viet Nam is a striking example of a woman with enormous political power. She is rich, handsome, has intellectual qualities and her signals clear, saying exactly what she means to say, and possesses a kind of power Americans find hard to understand. In other times and cultures Mme. Chiang and Queen Victoria possessed like qualities, the speaker noted.

In our times, such a position is impossible for the American woman. She does not participate in the same intrigues — murder and thievery — to which some others have lent themselves.

Not Enough Time

Americans, too, are governed not by regimes, but by adminstration, with no one in office long enough for such power to be accumulated.

American women must face up to certain limitations, Mrs. Doyle stated. One is geographic, with most women married or tied to families or homes. Even if they wished national office, they would find it difficult to persuade their husbands to close their businesses or give up their jobs to move to Washington. The amount of time a woman can give to such work is necessarily limited by the amount needed by her family. Most of those serving in Congress are widows of independent wealth. In addition to wealth, politicians need a base in which to establish themselves and gain prominence. Most women have their base in family life.

Still Opportunities

While they may be largely precluded from national political life, women may still find great rewards in community service and local government.

The speaker pointed out that even though Wisconsin has a sympathetic governor, there is still no woman on the University of Wisconsin Board of Regents — a lack she considers a personal affront.

Mrs. Doyle told the women that they should not feel guilty about not filling more positions in government. They should face the natural limitations honestly, and then go about doing the things they can do, especially to improve the general climate of women in politics.

She suggested that women should concentrate on electing officals of knowledge, competence and judgment, and should prevent Wisconsin's again having a stalemate government of a legislature of one party and governor of another.

Know About Candidates

Political aspirants should be studied before nominations are made, she stated, with the choice made because of a candidate's ability and power to adapt to changing conditions. It is impossible for everyone to know about all issues, she stated, and often false campaign issues are raised, sometimes to hide real problems, often to place us on a dangerous course for the sole purpose of argument. She cited the off-shore islands of Quemoy and Matsu as an example. It is more important, she stressed, to know the candidate than the issue.

No Singing Commercials

She also suggested that women should work to cut the cost of campaigning, in which many qualified men are cut off because they are not wealthy, or are overwhelmed by special interest groups. Woman power, making small contributions to such men, would help them seek office. She also advocated an end to the spot announcement and the singing commercial in political campaigns, insisting that whatever time is purchased be used for information. The nonsense should be eliminated from campaigning, she asserted, noting that it would cut expenses by four-fifths.

Women in Wisconsin should be the watchdogs of Civil Service, helping to make the program more flexible, not demanding that social workers be skilled typists, encouraging more good people to enter public service.

Mrs. Doyle concluded that politics is for both men and women—that it can be lonely and discouraging, but that every now and then something gets done that is rewarding. Accomplishments are also possible outside of politics, she stated, through the work of interested citizens.

Activites Scheduled as part of the observance of Business and Professional Women's Week were concluded Tuesday evening as the Appleton and Valley Clubs were hostesses at a dinner meeting at the Conway Hotel. 'Women in Government' was the theme of the program, to which area BPW members were invited. Above, seated, is Mrs. Merlin Buchanan, president of Valley BPW, and standing, Mrs. George Munroe, president of the Appleton Board of Education; Mrs. Ada Barthule, Neenah, president of Appleton BPW, and Mrs. Ruth Doyle, Madison, former Wisconsin Assemblywoman, the speaker. (Post-Crescent Photos)

Visiting at the Social Hour preceding the dinner Tuesday evening were members of BPW and their guests. Seated above are Miss Mollie Pfeffer, Outagamie County Clerk, and Mrs. Dorothy Stillings, Appleton alderwoman. Standing are Miss Mabel McClanahan, national BPW treasurer, and Mrs. Gen Anderson, Kaukauna, district BPW president. Local women in government were guests at the dinner. Also part of the BPW Week observance was a one-day seminar Saturday at the University of Wisconsin Fox Valley Center. Gordon Bivens, University of Wisconsin, Milwaukee, spoke on "Enduring Values in a World of Change."

Women's Clubs Plan Spring Convention

GREEN BAY — The Eighth District Board of the Wisconsin Federation of Women's Clubs met recently at the Holiday Inn with Mrs. H. J. Weller, Appleton, presiding. Plans for the Federation's spring convention, to be held in Green Bay in April, were discussed. Mrs. Ted Brooks will be chairman of the event with Mrs. L. D. Wright as convention coordinator.

Mrs. Ruby Ridgeway spoke on helping the Indians to acquire college educations. It was decided to send a teacher to the Trees For Tomorrow sessions and to award a nursing scholarship to a deserving student.

The entire Eighth District was represented by delegates from Appleton, De Pere, Oconto, Oconto Falls, Marinette, Sturgeon Bay, Niagara, Manitowoc, Kewaunee, and Seymour.

Lawyers' Wives Set Fall Reception Plans

Your Problems

Adopted Girl Very Special Because She Is a Chosen Child

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Why don't people keep their mouths shut when they don't know what they are talking about?

Landers

I am the mother of twin boys, eight years old. I had a very difficult pregnancy and almost lost my life when the twins were born. The doctor advised me against trying to have more children so my husband and I decided to adopt. It took two years before we were able to get our adorable little girl. Laurie is now five years old and what a joy!

Last week Laurie came home crying as if her heart would break. One of her playmates told her his mother said we couldn't possibly love her as much as we love the twins because they are of our own flesh and blood and she is not. I tried to comfort the child and reassure her, but she hasn't been the same since. She seems withdrawn and unhappy. Can you suggest any way we can help her? — Furious Mother

Dear Mother: I trust (and hope) that Laurie had been told by you and your husband that she was adopted before the neighbor kid got to her. If not, perhaps this is part of the reason for her unhappiness.

Continue to give Laurie generous doses of love and attention. Let her know that as a chosen child she is special — and that you were lucky to get her because so many others wanted her, too.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Last year I wrote to you about a problem I was having with my husband. He agreed to do as you said and it worked out fine. Now we have another problem we'd like to settle. Again he has promised to take your advice.

Our 8th wedding anniversary is coming up. It falls on the opening day of the hunting season. He wants to go hunting with the fellows. I say a wedding anniversary is a lot more important than hunting, and that he belongs home with me. We get along a lot better than most of our friends and would say our marriage is a good one. Please settle this because we've been talking about nothing else for two weeks. Thank you. — Mrs. Call of the Wild

Dear Mrs. Wild: And just what kind of an anniversary celebration do you think you'll have with a long-faced martyr who would rather be hunting?

Of course his choice shows he's a self-centered little boy but let him go anyway. Every marriage should have at least one adult and in your home you'll have to be it.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our son is soon to be married to a lovely girl.

It is customary where I come from for the mother of the bride to ask the mother of the groom for the names of close relatives to assist at the reception. Our family is small but some members will be coming a great distance for the wedding.

I'd like my brother to be at the punch bowl. My husband has two wonderful aunts, charming and well-bred, and I'd like to have them pour.

I realize the bride's family puts on the wedding and the reception but it is our son's wedding, too, and it would seem like a slap in the face if our family were ignored. Please tell me if I should inform the mother of the bride that I feel strongly about this. — A. B. W.

Dear A. B. W.: The groom's family should indeed be included in the reception activities. If the suggestion comes from you, however, it might be resented.

Ask your son to mention it gently to his fiance and let her take it from there. If you hear no more about it, let the matter drop. The unpleasantness which might result would not be worth it.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Use Cartons For Freezing

How can we use milk, ice cream and cheese cartons for freezing? The only way you can use these cartons is to make them moisture-vapor proof before you put them in the freezer, according to Charlotte Dunn, foods specialist at the University of Wisconsin.

You can rewrap them in foil or put them in an airtight plastic bag to make the cartons moisture-vapor proof. Sometimes the shape of the carton lets you pack cookies, rolls or other items well. But remember they need a rewrap for they're not designed for protection from freezer burn.

What Price Bathing?

There are few things more healthful for the body and nerves than a long soak in a tubful of soapsuds. But aside from the health aspect, a bath is one of the biggest and best beauty bets.

World-famous spas and salons place so much value on the bath that they make a beauty ritual of it. In their exotic chambers, clients recline in water made fragrant with preparations that tone and texture the skin.

Such pampering, of course, is not in the cards for many of us—millions of us. But that is no reason to make bathing a routine affair. Cosmetic counters abound with unguents, oils and salts that, for just a few dollars, will turn your own tub into a spa.

For pennies and no further than your pantry shelf, you will find some marvelous aids to the cause.

Ordinary starch comes first to mind. A cupful, dribbled into the water as the tub fills, does wonders to smooth the skin. A packet of instant milk has the same effect, and also whips into a luxurious foam. Both products do much to prevent or offset dry conditions.

For an oily, sallow or pallid skin, use uncooked oatmeal. Simply fill an old white cotton glove and knot the top. Squeeze out the glove in your bath water. Then, after you have sudsed and rinsed, give the skin a light massage with the glove.

Thus, in the bath, you get everything you deserve—stimuli to health, vitality and good looks!

Your Grooming—A to Z

Put aside your grooming doubts and worries! Send today for Your Grooming—A to Z, a booklet that covers every step in achieving smooth looks. It tells how to manicure and pedicure, use deodorants and depilatories, bathe for beauty, tend feet, hands, teeth and eyes, polish skin and hair, care for clothes, apply perfume, overcome personal posers. To obtain your copy, write Mary Sue Miller in care of this newspaper, enclosing a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20c in coin.

Personal Identity Search Discussed at First Seminar

"Change threatens the identity of the individual in his time and place in history," stated Dr. William Chaney, of the Lawrence College history department at the opening seminar of the "Challenge of Change" symposium Tuesday at the University of Wisconsin Fox Valley Center.

He cited examples of different ages' response to change indicating that Egypt chose to ignore change, trying to maintain knowledge and society "as much like their ancestors as possible", repeating the same formula over and over again.

The Persian Empire realized its transciency and accepted it. The Euphrates Valley was the center of the flow of ideas and people at that time and the Persian Empire existed in an age of constant change.

Only a Myth

"The myth of the Middle Ages is that it was static", he said. "It was not really the 'Dark Ages.' That term evolves out of the subjective judgment made by our age. There is no such thing as a static millenium or a static century."

The 20th Century is flattened out, he noted, requiring natural explanations. In contrast, the Middle Ages saw two worlds: the physical world based on nature and the "other world" beyond nature which they created through reason. The interrelationship of both worlds offered a stability amidst change. The Middle Age man saw the whole before the parts and, he said, could look at the parts and see the whole, creating cosmic stability

Identified With Past

The Middle Age man sought historical connections as this cushion of continuity helped to tell him where he was in relation to the age. It is the same feeling of continuity that causes the Greek to point to ancient times as Greece's greatest age, where we in the United States still look to the future for the great age of this nation, he said.

"Traditions carried them on through the Middle Ages, Dr. Chaney pointed out. "Change was prevalent but it was in the sense of reviving old customs, or what the ruler or lord thought were old customs. These were the customs in his grandfather's time, or so he thought, and for the first time he was writing them down."

Asked New Questions

Changes that led to the Renaissance were not new answers, but the introduction of new questions, Dr. Chaney emphasized. The map of the world had been spiritually oriented, fixing the seven heavens surrounding the universe and the infinite void beyond that was the realm of God. With the introduction of Gallileo's telescope, a new vista and age was forced upon them. Galileo discovered a quantity of astronomical spheres of which the earth was only a part. It left no room for the qualitative idea; ignored the moral ties; no longer asking "why?" but "how?" A new concept of truth beyond reason grew and man looked toward a dynamic world.

"Change in our time is more varied and profound," he said, "And probably the most important thing that has caused it is the birth of the machine; not in the development of the machine but in the psychological effect it has had on us."

Air of Impermanence

Machines have brought about a difference in the way we think that creates the greatest separation from our ancestors, he noted. Now the latest becomes the best, primitive becomes crude and inefficient, permanence becomes stagnation. We live in an age where everything is soon to be superceded by something else. Our milestones are measured in acquisition of goods we never had before, he pointed out.

Dr. Chaney cited the major changes we can see today from the past in the loss of belief in the eternity of the world; a loss of belief in constant human nature; a loss of belief of objective nature and in the disappearance in public life of individual deeds.

"In the days of Louis XIV, any man who was well dressed could go into the palace and watch the king dine," he said, illustrating the latter point "How many people get to see the President at dinner today?"

The next lecture will be presented by John Stanley, instructor in religion at Lawrence, at 1:30 p. m. Tuesday at the Center.

'Communication' Theme Of Secretaries' Workshop

The Fox Cities Chapter of National Secretaries Association (International) has announced plans for its Saturday Seminar for Business Women. The program will begin with 9 a.m. registration at 41 Bowl.

Horace H. Mann, senior training assistant at Marathon Division of American Can Co., will be the opening speaker, addressing representatives of NSA Chapters in Fond du Lac, Milwaukee, Madison, Racine, Beloit and LaCrosse. His topic will be "Communications," with his theme being, "Taking the Double Talk Out of Communications." Mr. Mann attended Northwestern University and the University of Pittsburgh. He was a writer and announced in the radio field for four years and headed his own advertising agency for eight years. He has been associated in industrial training with U. S. Steel, Crucible Steel and Marathon.

Continued Learning

"The Value of Continuing Education" will be the 11 a.m. topic of Charles W. Banta, supervisor of finance and office programs, Management Institute, University of Wisconsin. Mr. Banta received his M.S. degree in Business Administration from the University of Missouri. His academic experience includes several years of teaching and administrative work in colleges and universities.

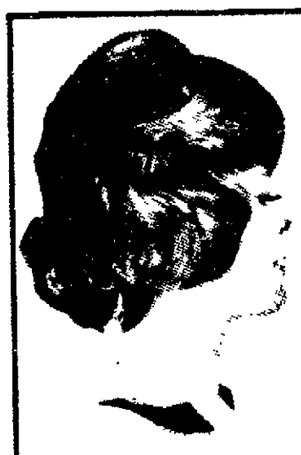

After the noon luncheon, delegates will see the film, "The Secret of Jane Gray," a program on office grooming. A discussion is scheduled after the showing.

Personalities Speak

The afternoon speaker will be Mrs. Ruby O. Ayer, lecturer and consultant at the Vocational and Adult School, Fond du Lac. "Communicating Through Personality" will be her topic. Mrs. Ayer's present work includes speech work with adult groups. She is a consultant on personal growth through improved communication skills and has worked with Fond du Lac industries on effective personal communications.

The one-day seminar is designed to help the modern business woman in the development of a self-improvement program. In addition to basic skills in her office, she must be able to communicate within and outside the office, assume new responsibilities and keep abreast of new and improved techniques.

Mrs. Florence Brewster, Kaukauna, is chairman of the workshop committee, assisted by Mrs. Roger Lyons, Appleton, as co-chairman.

Area Scout to Vie For Participation in Heritage Camping

Miss Cynthia Gleason, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gleason, 115 N. Clinton Ave., Clintonville, has been chosen to represent the Fox River Area Girl Scout Council in competition with other candidates in Region 7 to be one of the two girls to participate in the 1964 Canadian Heritage Camping project. Girls attending must have been born in 1949. The project will be held next summer in 12 Canadian provinces. Two girls from each region from the United States will be selected to attend. Miss Gleason will compete with other candidates in Chicago in the first part of the year. Most of the campers will be members of the Girl Guides in Canada. It will be an outdoor primitive camping experience.

Careful Selection

Miss Gleason was chosen to represent the Fox River Area Girl Scout Council on the basis of her experience in Girl Scouts, her answers to three essay questions, school and community activities and a personal interview. Red Cross first aid and life saving certificates are also considered. She was sponsored by her troop leader, Mrs. Clifford Rafoth, Clintonville, her parents, and the Fox River Area Council.

Cynthia, 14, is in ninth grade. She has earned the rating of First Class and Curved Bar, is active in her church choir and was editor of her seventh and eighth grade newspapers. She is a candidate for editor-and chief of her ninth grade newspaper.

Most English Speaking

There will be 26 girls in each of the 12 camps, of which 10 will be English speaking. Two French speaking camps will be located in Ontario and Quebec. Each camp will follow a theme which pertains to some historical highlight of the province in which it is located. The Newfoundland camp theme will be fishing.

The Canadian Heritage Camping project will take place from July 6 to July 20.

Art Festival To be Held in Stevens Point

A statewide exhibition of original pictures by young people and adults will be on display at the third annual Fall Art Festival of the Town and Country Art League at Stevens Point. The event will be held at the Stevens Point Youth Center, N. Michigan Ave., from 1 to 5 p.m. Saturday and 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Sunday.

Henry Runke, judge of the art show, will present awards and speak from 3 to 4 p.m. Sunday. Entries may be delivered to the Stevens Point Youth Center from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Thursday and Friday.

Fieldstone Base Can be Waterproof

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN

Q: I have a fieldstone foundation which I would like to even off and waterproof. Would a coating of mortar and a waterproof paint be sufficient for this?

A: Sorry to say, no. Instead of a waterproof paint—after repairing any cracks or faulty mortar between stones apply a portland cement paint, available in powder form to be mixed with water before applying; follow manufacturer's directions on the paint container carefully.

Q: How can I clean soiled, unpainted plaster walls? We have a very large closet area, under a flight of stairs, which my husband wants to use for a while as an office-work room.

A: If the walls are soiled from an accumulation of dust, after thorough vacuuming, they could be cleaned with a wallpaper cleaner. This is a doughlike substance, available at paint and wallpaper dealers, which is rolled, not rubbed, over soiled surfaces. If the plaster is stained and badly spotted, cleaning is not possible; painting or wallpaper is advisable.

Q: We covered our basement floor with asphalt tile. We neglected cleaning up several spots where some adhesive oozed out. Is there any way to remove these stains?

A: A quick stain remover for floor tile is now available at some tile dealers and large houseware and hardware stores; this is particularly recommended for removing stains from flooring adhesives or linoleum, vinyl and asphalt tile. Or rub the stained areas carefully with fine steel wool and turpentine.

Status of Women Report

Modern Homemaker Faces Special Problems, Needs

Second of Series

The Commission recognized the fundamental responsibility of mothers and homemakers, society's stake in a strong family life, and the striking changes that have occurred this century in American homes. It called on all American communities to provide modern homemakers with contemporary adaptations of some of the supportive services available to their grandmothers whose relatives lived nearby, as well as other services essential to alleviate tensions and complexities generated in crowded urban centers. Services recommended, the Commission noted, exist to a limited degree in many communities; they should be available throughout the country, under both public and private auspices.

Child care centers and after school and vacation activities are needed in every community for children of all kinds of families. Deductions from tax liability for working parents who pay for child care services should be increased, said the Commission, adding that present maximum salary limitations on such deductions are unrealistic.

Family Service

Needed family services include homemaker service to fill the gap left by a mother temporarily incapacitated or to assist the aged or ill, counseling to help families cope with situations disruptive of family life, and health services. Programs similar to the Department of Agriculture's Home Demonstration Service for rural areas should be available to all city dwellers now that most families live in an urban environment.

Stress Services

Reorganization of the marketing of private household services should be pressed, the Commission declared. Provision of specialized services, under conditions assuring both standards of wages and standards of performance would reorganize a low status, low-paid occupation.

Women with the potential to supply new services needed by homemakers would, with community encouragement, retrain or upgrade their skills. Development of subprofessional jobs in social work, education, home economics and helath would enlarge the potential pool of workers in those fields where mature women whose children are grown might provide many of the required skills. Not only paid employment, but voluntary activities, carefully coordinated with community needs and planned with cross-section participation, could modernize many communities.

In planning for urban renewal and metropolitan growth, social as well as economic and physical requirements should be considered, and planning bodies should be alerted to the need for information centers for newcomers and minority groups.

Child care facilities are essential for women whether they work outside the home or not, the Commission said and termed regrettable the fact that women are forced either by economic necessity or by welfare agency regulations to seek employment while their children are young. Licensed day care is now available to only 185,000 children in the United States. Yet at work out of the home are three million mothers, including half a million who are the sole family breadwinner, with children under six; in 117,000 families only a father is present; many mothers are temporarily ill and incapacitated; some have overwhelming responsbilities for problem children or older family members. Absence of adequate child care facilities forces many mothers to resort to unsuitable arrangements. In 1958, no less than 400,000 children under 12 were completely unsupervised while their mothers worked full-time.

Family Crisis

Among services advocated by the Commission were family counseling, homemaker and health programs. Every family faces crisis sooner or later. Trained counselors can help families retain or regain the stability which may be threatened or lost.

Availability of a trained and able homemaker could be the deciding factor in preventing the disintegration of a family. Such a person should be at hand to replace an incapacitated mother, to help teach an inexperienced or inadequate housewife to manage a household and children. The aged and ill, the disabled or convalescent, may be able to avoid life in an institution with the help of a part-time homemaker.

Infant mortality rates for underprivileged and minority groups are twice as high as those for the general population. Chronic illness or disability completely or partially prevents over five million women of working age from carrying on a major activity. These facts highlight the need for providing comprehensive health and rehabilitation services.

Mass Media

The urban homemaker's chief resource for household management is the mass media. Most consumer purchasing is done by women, much by young and inexperienced women setting up new homes. An educational job, similar to that done by Home Demonstration Agents in rural areas, is needed to help city dwellers develop judgment in budgeting, credit buying and selection. Low income families particularly need this help.

Household workers have traditionally been low paid and uncovered by protective legislation. Labor's flight from this important and necessary field is constant. Division of home maintenance tasks into specialties, establishment of standards for services, wages and working conditions would help worker and employer alike.

Labor shortages in social work, education, home economics and health have plagued the nation for years. The nursing profession, faced with a chronic shortage, analyzed nursing tasks and divided them into professional and subprofessional categories. By training unskilled women for subprofessional tasks, registered nurses are able to accomplish more.

Supply For Services

Women can supply many new services needed by women. Voluntary service organizations can provide the impetus and volunteer workers the womanpower for many vital projects. Young people, mature women whose home responsibilities have dwindled and members of minority groups should be encouraged to assist. Emphasis should be on planning with a group rather than for it; a project gains strength when those to be aided help plan the program.

Volunteer activity is valuable to the community and gratifying to the participants. It provides an introduction to possible career fields for the young, a way of retaining skills and widening horizons for housewives rearing families, a means of continued usefulness for mature retired citizens.

New communities being planned throughout the country can build in protection against many problems now plaguing urban centers by planning ahead for families' social needs. Highways and housing projects are not enough. In addition to services already recommended, the Commission suggested formation of well-coordinated information and education centers for the particular benefit of newcomers to urban life and for minority groups.

Don't Drown Over Play With Trump

According to the 1960 census, 100,000 men have drowned themselves in the Mississippi River because they failed to draw trumps. Nobody thought of examining the other rivers, which are favored by those who have drawn trumps too soon.

When this hand was played in a rubber bridge game recently, South ruffed the third round of clubs and drew three rounds of trumps as fast as he could get the cards out of his hand. It was thought for a while that he had shaved a second off the old trump-drawing record, but there was no way of being sure since nobody had thought of pulling out a stopwatch.

The rest of the hand took longer to play since South was a hard giver-up. Eventually, however, he surrendered a heart and a diamond. Down one.

Easy Analysis

Since South headed away from the Mississippi River, we can tell where he went wrong. he drew trumps too soon.

Declarer can make the contract if he draws only two rounds of trumps. Then he takes the three top hearts. As it happens, East has to follow suit, and West cannot ruff for the simple reason that he has no trump.

South then ruffs his last heart with dummy's last trump, thus earning game and rubber.

The actual declarer could make the contract only if the six missing hearts were divided 3-3. The correct play will make the contract not only if the hearts break evenly but also if the player with length in hearts also has the last trump.

Daily Question

Partner opens with 1 NT (16 to 18 points), and the next player passes. You hold: S Q 5 3 H K 6 2 D Q J 5 2 C J 6 3. What do you say?

Answer. Bid two NT. The combined count must be 25 to 27 points. Partner will accept the invitation to game unless he has a 16-point hand with a flaw, such as an unstopped suit.

Let's EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By Sylvanus M. Duvall, Ph.D. and Evelyn M. Duvall, Ph.D.

No, we regretfully admit that she would have a hard time being a good President today. A woman might be quite as capable as any man who could get elected. But she would not have the influence, prestige and power that a President needs both in this country and abroad. There are still many men who believe that woman's place is in the home, and who would not be willing to follow the lead of a woman in such a high public office. The day may come when women will be truly accepted as persons, and elected to office on the basis of merit, regardless of their sex.

Is our scientific education adequate?

Yes — No —

No, says the eminent psychiatrist, Dr. Lawrence Kubie — because it does not teach the student to understand himself. People are not machines. The most brilliant have deep emotional needs that profoundly affect an intellectual career. Every budding young scientist should have enough self-understanding to enable him to be safe for society and a joy to himself. This our present scientific training does not provide.

Is the "Organization Man" a myth?

Yes — No —

No, say some students of human behavior. He is very real. The military officer, the college professor, the business man, the journalist and the doctor may differ from each other. But they are alike in that they all conform or pretend to conform, to the standards of their group. The result, some feel, is a repression of personality and an ironing out of individuality.

UNKIND BROTHER

Dear Louise: My husband died ten years ago leaving me with three children. During these years I have been working to make ends meet. I have a well-to-do brother who came up the hard way. At his son's sixth birthday I sent a gift which cost me five dollars. The next day my brother telephoned to thank me for the cheap and chintzy present and said I could have done better than that. I was left numb and this has been rankling ever since. The brother and his wife are expecting another baby in a month and I don't know what to do. I want to send something within my means but I have a complex, not wanting to go through this again. What should I do? Do you think a contribution to some philanthropic organization in the baby's name would be appropriate?

Louise Davis Answers

Your brother was ungrateful, thoughtless and very unkind. Gifts aren't measured by their monetary value. To you, the birthday gift for the boy wasn't a matter of cost or you wouldn't have purchased it. Your brother should have realized it. What you do for the new baby isn't important for your brother's presence and I see no point in trying to appease him just so you won't get another raking over the coals for being penurious. You received the last scolding. You can do it again. I suggest that you go shopping without money, extravagant

Red China Feels Good Times Ahead

Optimistic Outlook Based in Part on Good Harvest in 1962

BY JOHN RODERICK

TOKYO (AP) — Communist China, which 12 months ago appeared mired in the deepest kind of pessimism, is expressing confidence in the wake of a good 1962 harvest and prospects for a better one this year.

The gloom has dissipated so much that Red Chinese chairman Mao Tze-tung may be willing—for the first time in three years — to release production figures at the national people's congress in mid-November.

Communes Decentralized

A year ago, on the People's Republic's 13th birthday, Premier Chou En-lai confessed there just wasn't enough food to go around. Two weeks ago, on the 14th anniversary, the Chinese leadership said it finally had halted the downward spiral which had begun in 1958 and that the economy was moving upward.

The country seems to be recovering from the "great leap forward" and rural commune projects of several years ago.

The communes have been decentralized almost past recognition. In the face of criticism from abroad and at home, the regime has devoted itself to the defense of the principle if not the performance of the communes. They remain one of Mao Tze - tung's most cherished dreams, one he is unwilling to exchange for Soviet Premier Khrushchev's rival one of economic togetherness in the Communist bloc.

Policy Clear

The attitude of the Chinese policymakers toward the communes has been made clear since Oct. 1. It is one which gives the fullest marks to them for agricultural advances without noting that these were achieved by the old-style agricultural producer cooperatives which now are the basic units of the decentralized programs.

In a Peking broadcast the New China News Agency says:

"After winning a grain harvest bigger than last year, the Chinese people's communes have started autumn sowing in high spirits, aiming for another good summer harvest next year."

It went on to say that government tractors are plowing more farmlands for the communes than last autumn, with thousands of them cutting furrows in the earth in remote Sinkiang province, reported by Moscow to be an area of considerable unrest.

It said the major wheat provinces are enlarging the area under winter grain by over five million acres compared with last year. This lacks for comparison since last year's figures have not been made public.

Winter Grain

Priority has been given to the supply of chemical fertilizers to communes in parts of Hopei and Honan which were stricken by downpours in August and early September, Peking says.

These almost glowing reports are accompanied by accounts of bumper fruit crops, greater use of electric and diesel pumps in the rice paddy fields of east China, and a growing sufficiency of big cities in industrial production.

All of this should add up to improvement in the Chinese economy and the low standard of living. But it has yet to be shown that the gains are dramatic enough to allow any immediate hops, steps or jumps, much less another great leap ahead.

Court Won't Review Suit on Lung Cancer

WASHINGTON (AP) A New Orleans widow was denied Monday a Supreme Court review of a suit, unsuccessful in lower courts, in which she contended two tobacco companies were liable for the death of her husband, a cigarette smoker who died of lung cancer.

Mrs. Victoria St. Pierre Lartigue sued in U.S. District Court in New Orleans after the death in 1955 of Frank J. Lartigue. Her suit named the R.J. Reynolds Tobacco Co. and Liggett & Myers Tboacco Co. A jury decided against her and the U.S. Circuit Court in New Orleans affirmed the result.

Pathet Lao Leader Invited Letters to Captured Airmen

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)— Pathet Lao leader Prince Souphanouvong Tuesday invited families to write to the surviving crewmen of an Air America cargo plane shot down in southern Laos by his pro-Communist forces Sept. 5. But he still withheld the number of survivors and their names.

Souphanouvong's invitation on the fate of the crew which included three Americans, three Thais and a Chinese.

Souphanouvong said his willingness to transmit letters to the survivors was based "on humanitarian grounds under which we have always treated our prisoners."

Pathet Lao radio has claimed that five prisoners are being held, but other reports have been conflicting.

Included among three Americans on he plane hich as shot down while carrving buffalo meat to Laotian refugees at government request is Eugene H. Debruin, from Kaukauna, Wis.

Pre-Surgery Saline Hikes Blood Pressure

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

(This is the second of a series of three articles.)

We'll continue to answer questions posed in yesterday's letter from Mrs. E. W. H., the woman who had such a worrisome time with anesthesia and her operation.

Molner

Q. Why is a "saline solution" given intravenously?

A. The salt water, injected into a vein, bolsters the blood pressure which tends to decline under anesthesia. An injection also is a convenient method of giving sugar (calories) and various medications to the patient while he is either unconscious, or needs rest, or may be too ill to take them by mouth.

Q. Pentothal brings unconsciousness very fast. Is it a hypnotic drug? Does the patient just sleep or does he respond to commands? Is he apt to be talkative?

A. Yes, pentothal brings unconsciousness rapidly. Depending on the amount given, the patient might be talkative (it is one of the drugs which is used in small quantities as a "truth serum"). Although it doesn't necessarily force the truth, it makes lying difficult. With increased quantity the patient responds to commands; a little more, and he "goes to sleep" entirely, in which case he won't respond.

A light dose often is used for short surgical procedures, such as opening a carbuncle or removing a cyst. The advantage is brevity of effect: the patient quickly regains consciousness, and the shorter the time one needs to remain under anesthesia, the better.

Why Fight It?

Q. Why do some people fight anesthesia — even those who are normally cooperative?

A. There are various phases of anesthesia. The first is excitement and overactivity. The patient may seem to resist the anesthesia. This is normal. If you used a stop watch, you would find this phase to be very brief. As the anesthesia takes hold, the patient yields and relaxes into sleep.

Q. What is the purpose of the tube in the throat? Should it be inserted while the patient is awake, even though some discomfort is involved?

A. It has two main purposes. One is to prevent the tongue from blocking the airway to the back of the throat.

The other is to permit "intratracheal anesthesia," which is used generally in some instances, but more particularly when surgery involves the throat, neck or mouth. There are times when the tube should be inserted before anesthesia; other times the reverse. I decline to stipulate which, any more than I would try to set down a rule for a quarterback to follow on an "option play," or else to advise a woman when she can handle her husband best by "blowing her top" or by using the "coax" technique.

Tomorrow, the rest of the questions from Mrs. E. W. H.

Sauerkraut Juice

Dear Dr. Molner: What good may be derived from drinking six ounces of sauerkraut juice before breakfast?

W. C.

I can't think of any — and will counter with my own question: Who said it would?

Sore from Fall

Dear Dr. Molner: Recently I had two sores on my lower legs from falling. They healed all right but left big brown spots. Is there any way to get rid of them except by plastic surgery?

MRS. N. C.

The spots are brownish because circulation is not as brisk in the lower legs. If you don't have varicose veins, or other impairment of circulation, then give the brown spots time to fade. Cover them with a light-colored cosmetic meanwhile. If you do have vaicose veins or other circulatory trouble, have treatment for that, instead of for brown spots. The discoloration may be permanent.

Fat! My leaflet, "The Lost Secret of Reducing," tells how to get rid of it the easy way. For your copy write to Dr. Molner in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 5 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Dr. Molner answers readers' questions in his column whenever possible.

Drugs and Psychology Used to Quit Smoking

Writer Reports Cure as Part of Program Being Conducted by Buffalo, N. Y., Institute

BY MICHAEL KEATING

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—After 15 years and 109,500 cigarettes, I have quit smoking.

So have 29 other men—all of us taking part in an experimental stop-smoking clinic that bolsters will power with drugs and psychology.

The clinic has been under way for a month and I have not had a cigarette since it began. Desire for one is almost negligible. A month ago it dominated me.

Although clinic doctors are withholding final judgment on their work until six months have passed, my mind is made up—Roswell Park Memorial Institute has a technique that helps a smoker stop without too much of a wrench.

Of the 60 men who started in the clinic a month ago, 30 no longer are smoking, 19 have reduced their smoking by at least half, one man has cut back less than half, and 10 others dropped out.

Will Power

When the clinic began, Dr. Charles A. Ross, the director, said that if 50 per cent quit smoking for six months he would consider the clinic a success.

Besides will power, the clinic employs the psychology of group action and two drugs—one to substitute for nicotine, the other to control appetite, which often increases sharply in the absence of smoking.

Drugs were given for the first two weeks to 30 of the men. Other 30 received imitations. Neither the doctors nor the participants know who received the drugs. This information is contained in a code that will not be broken until the six months have passed.

Ross thinks that at least some of the men quit without benefit of the drug—lobeline, which stimulates the nervous system as does nicotine.

Ross began a new clinic with another 60 men last week. He will start a new clinic every month for a year.

Easy to Dismiss

Participants in the experiment report varying reactions.

Arnold Winer, a 26-year-old teacher, says, "I haven't had a cigarette since the clinic began and I haven't missed them."

Marvin R. Pike, a 48-year-old newsman who sometimes smoked four packs a day, gets the urge about a dozen times a day but finds it easy to dismiss.

Donald R. Denk, 38, a lawyer who decided to quit smoking after suffering a perforated ulcer, reports "I stayed off about 10 days." Then came a cocktail party, and he flunked.

He is smoking about a pack a day, half of his previous consumption.

I have passed the cocktail test and the other tests — drinking coffee, facing tense situations, arguing politics, all without benefit of cigarettes.

I even bought a pack of cigarettes for a friend — and delivered it unopened.

PTA to Learn of Audio-Visual Education Aids

LITTLE CHUTE — David Lane, representative of Modern Business Machines, Appleton, will demonstrate audio - visual equipment for the Parent-Teacher Association of the State Graded School at 8 p. m. Thursday at the school.

Lane will speak on "More Effective Teaching With Tools of Our Times." Lunch will be served by parents of seventh and eighth graders and students taught by Mrs. Keith Eifler.

A wheel chair donated through the Easter Seal committee and used by a student at the school and a tape recorder donated by the Kiwanis Club will be displayed.

Youth for Christ Program Saturday

The Fox Cities Youth for Christ will sponsor a musical and quiz program at 7:30 p.m. Saturday at the Christian and Missionary Alliance Church, 303 N. Durkee St.

The guest vocalist and speaker will be Truman Robertson, director of Crusade Camp, Rhinelander. Also on the program will be a teen choir with brass accompaniment, group singing and a quiz on the first four chapters of Genesis with some Neenah-Menasha teams from Appleton and competing.

On the House

Wisconsin's Only Ghost Town Was Once a Mormon Community

BY CHARLES HOUSE
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

What is a "ghost town"? How many are there in Wisconsin? Where are they?

The only one I know of with certainty is little Voree which with luck and leadership — might have turned into a great city, but did not because it had neither.

House

Voree, chosen as a home site for the Mormon Church, was established three years before Brigham Young founded Salt Lake City, Utah, now the center of the Mormon religion with a population of about 185,000.

Voree might have become important, but it did not. Its peak population was 300 people plus James J. Strang who was to become the only bona fide "king" in Wisconsin.

Perhaps fate flipped a coin to determine which Mormon community — Voree or Salt Lake City — would grow.

What remains of Voree is about two miles west of Burlington. King Strang arrived there in 1843 and soon became ambitious to fill the shoes of the president of the Mormon church, Joseph Smith. After Smith's death (he was murdered), Strang announced that revelations had come to him telling him that he was to become the new leader of the church.

Mysterious Cache

To prove it, Strang announced that something mysterious would be found under the roots of an oak tree on the banks of the White River. Hundreds of overawed folks dug there and, sure enough, "proof" was found. There was uncovered some strange metallic plates covered with mysterious hieroglyphics. Strang said these hieroglyphics meant that he was to become the new leader. He was believed; he became president. And little Voree, chosen as the site of the community, grew and grew until it reached its population of 300 plus.

But Voree lived only three years for the farm folk of the region persecuted the Mormons. In 1848, President Strang announced that he had another vision — that the village should move to big Beaver Island on Lake Michigan; and it did. There, on July 8, 1850, Strang was crowned king. Six years later he was shot by one of his closest advisors.

On his death bed, Strang asked that his body be returned to Voree and buried there. It was; but years later his remains were reinterred in a Burlington cemetery.

What is left of Voree, the village which pre-dated and might have outgrown Salt Lake City?

A Grassy Plot

Its remains stand on the east bank of the White River on the borderline between Walworth and Racine counties. It is a grassy plot identified only by a historical marker which, in part, reads: "In Memory of James J. Strang, Our Beloved Prophet and King in God's Kingdom." There are a few picnic tables there and a few trees planted long ago by the villagers and that is all.

Ribicoff 'Almost Sure' Kennedy Intends to Debate GOP Nominee

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., said Sunday he is "almost sure" that President Kennedy will debate the Republican nominee for the presidency in next year's election battle.

Ribicoff declined to comment at a news conference on New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's challenge to Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater for a debate between Republicans.

Ribicoff, former secretary of health, education and welfare in the Kennedy cabinet, was in Los Angeles to address a dinner for Yavneh Hebrew Academy.

Goldwater Backers Draw New Support

Eisenhower Declares He Is Able to Accept All Hopefuls Mentioned for GOP Contest

BY RAYMOND J. CROWLEY

WASHINGTON (AP)— A declaration by Dwight D. Eisenhower that every man now being mentioned for the Republican presidential nomination is acceptable to him brought happy smiles today to the faces of Sen. Barry Goldwater's supporters.

The former president previously had expressed some puzzlement as to just where the Arizona senator, a leading contender for the GOP nomination, stood on some issues.

But, it was learned, Goldwater recently had a heart-to-heart talk with Eisenhower at Gettysburg, Pa.—a session which apparently went a considerable distance toward a meeting of minds.

Goldwater told a reporter that he informed Eisenhower that he would state his views fully on all issues if he formally enters the presidential nomination tourney.

Birthday Party

"Every man should do that, whether he's running for precinct chairman or some higher office," Goldwater said. "Otherwise, in my view, he couldn't get elected."

At a festive 73rd birthday party Tuesday night, Eisenhower did not tap anyone for the presidential nomination.

But he said "Let us not concern ourselves too much with differences of thinking among our natural leaders.

Things That Count

"I know of none of the party's presidential possibilities I could not support."

They are all in favor, he said, of strengthened alliances abroad and sound, pay-as-you-go policies at home. And those, he said are the things that count.

"With those qualities," he said "a man could be sure of my fervent support. And I believe, if we ring doorbells, visit the last apartment house, the victory in 1964 will not be one of those hairline things but overwhelming."

Eisenhower, who became 73 Monday, has had three birthday parties in the last four days. Tuesday night's affair was thrown by the Republican National Committee and other party big-wigs.

White Captures Mayor's Post In Albany, Ga.

Outcome Indicates Little Change in Negro Relations

ALBANY, Ga. (AP) — A 45-year-old white segregationist has won the Democratic nomination for mayor of this racially troubled Southwest Georgia city where a Negro sought the office for the first time.

Attorney James V. Davis received 7,220 votes Tuesday, well over a majority of those cast in a record turnout, making a runoff unnecessary. Nomination in the primary means election.

Slater King, a Negro integration leader, was second with 2,547 votes.

The second white man in the race, architect Edward V. Jones, was third with 1,879 votes. He also is a segregationist and opposed formation of any biracial committees.

Seeks Committee

The outcome indicated little, if any, change in race relations in this city where more than 1,200 arrests were made during intermittent demonstrations the past two years.

Davis said he thought that "what will be done for the colored people will have to be done within the framework of segregation."

King, acting president of the Antisegregation Albany Movement, called for creation of a biracial committee to discuss grievances. None has been established.

King said he hoped the campaign would help members of his race to think politically.

"I am really interested in freeing the minds of Negroes because many of them feel that no Negro should aspire for high office," he said.

King did very little active campaigning. He made only one television appearance. Davis and Jones concentrated on federal controls and taxes in appealing for votes.

The racial issue and clear, sunshiny weather brought a turnout of more than 11,500 voters.

Albany's 58,000 population includes about 24,000 Negroes. There are an estimated 4,600 Negroes among the 16,436 registered voters.

Two years ago a Negro candidate for a City Commission seat made it to the runoff and then was defeated.

Tito Flying to U.S. for Talks With Kennedy

Yugoslav Peddling Familiar Peaceful Coexistence Line

BY MORRIS W. ROSENBERG

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Yugoslav President Tito flies to the United States today to continue his campaign to find a workable formula for peaceful coexistence.

Tito will confer with President Kennedy at the White House Thursday after a month-long visit to Brazil, Chile, Bolivia and Mexico.

The first chief of a European Communist state to visit Latin America, Tito carefully avoided peddling his independent brand of communism, according to aides accompanying him.

Instead, the 71-year-old wartime guerrilla leader discussed with Latin-American presidents two issues on which they share common views.

The need to consolidate peaceful relations among nations with no intervention by big—or little—powers in domestic affairs of other nations, and the need to find additional means to speed the economic progress of developing countries in Latin America, Asia and Africa.

Peaceful Relations

Tito and Mexican President Adolfo Lopez Mateos signed a joint communique Tuesday night recommending that an international code be drafted to give legal strength to the policy of peaceful relations.

They asked the United Nations to take steps to reach a general agreement on the principles of non-intervention and international law relating to cooperation among nations.

This is expected to be a major point in Tito's address to the U.N. General Assembly next week.

Tito, who received Soviet Premier Khrushchev for a two-week visit in Yugoslavia earlier this year, said he has no pretensions of serving as an intermediary between Khrushchev and President Kennedy. He said he would discuss international problems with Kennedy just as he did with the Soviet premier.

In Acapulco Tuesday night, Lopez Mateos hailed Tito's visit as "proof that peoples on different continents love peace and desire friendship."

The Mexican president gave Tito, his wife Jovanka and their party a tremendous Mexican fiesta.

Several thousand Mexicans lined the streets with torches to cheer the two presidents.

Tito was scheduled to land at Langley Air Force Base, Va., at 4:30 p.m., EST.

He was to be driven to Colonial Williamsburg for a night of rest, and leave Thursday by helicopter for Washington.

Rockefeller to Invade New Hampshire in Bid For Party's Support

BY ROBERT S. ALLEN AND PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — The opening salvo in the Goldwater-Rockefeller battle in New Hampshire's March 10 primary will be fired this weekend.

Gov. Rockefeller will spend two days in this crucial state—Oct. 18-19. On Friday, he will speak at the University of New Hampshire after a press conference at the Concord Airport. Next day he will attend the Dartmouth-Holy Cross football game at Hanover.

Sen. Goldwater will make his entry into the state on Oct. 29 with a speech at Concord. He will address a fund-raising dinner for New England College and the Styles Bridges Foundation.

This sortie will be countered by Rockefeller with another trip to New Hampshire in mid-November.

This time the New Yorker will come as an avowed candidate for the Republican presidential nomination. He will either formally announce before then or while in New Hampshire.

French Evacuate Tunisian Base

TUNIS, Tunisia (AP)—France Tuesday evacuated the Bizerte base over which about 3,000 men died in a battle in July 1961.

The evacuation of the base was hailed by Tunisia as eliminating the last obstacle on the path of cooperation beween the two nations.

Flags were hoisted throughout the country and crowds celebrated the victory in the long and thorny struggle to force France from its last military base on Tunisian territory.

Birmingham Bombing Victim Fighting to Regain Her Sight

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)— Four weeks ago today Sarah Jean Collins, 12, was eagerly awaiting the start of school. Now she lies in darkness at a hospital.

Sarah Jean was injured in the blast that rocked the Sixteenth Street Baptist Church Sept. 15.

Four Negro girls were killed, including her sister, Addie Mae, 14. Sarah Jean's eyes were cut by flying glass.

Sarah Jean's daily existence now is through sounds. She can't do what she likes the most—to read.

Her right eye is covered by a patch; her left eye is uncovered, but swollen and she cannot see through it. Doctors say she will probably regain useful vision.

Nurses say Sarah Jean has moments of deep despondency, and at other times peps up. Never will she volunteer to talk about the bombing.

"Sometimes my eyes hurt," she told a visitor Tuesday, running her fingers back and forth across the bandages.

Sarah Jean says she heard about the deaths of the four other girls over the radio. With the others she was getting ready to sing in the choir when the blast went off.

Thinks of School

What does she think about while lying in the hospital bed?

"About school," she answered.

She has a special friend in University Hospital, C. S. Norton, a young Negro who works in the radiology department.

"She adopted me as her brother, and I've adopted her as my sister," he said. "She talks to me, but she's quiet with most everybody else."

Sarah Jean was asked how she feels about the church bomber now that a full month has passed. Her lips moved once but she said nothing.

Claims New Evidence Available

Author Will Seek to Prove That Bridey Murphy Was Real, Not Hoax

BY BOB LLOYD

PUEBLO, Colo. (AP) — Remember Bridey Murphy?

Many people do, although whether this particular Bridey Murphy ever lived outside the dreams of a Colorado housewife under hypnosis is a matter for considerable argument.

Morey Bernstein, Pueblo businessman, student of parapsychology and author, insists she did. He said Bridey will be reborn again next year—in print.

Bernstein, who wrote "Search for Bridey Murphy" nine years ago, said his new book will prove that Bridey was not a hoax and will supply new evidence for his contention that man's consciousness survives death.

Bernstein's long preoccupation with Bridey began in 1952 when a friend, Mrs. Hugh B. Tighe, agreed at a party to let him hypnotize her. Bernstein had been experimenting with hypnosis for 10 years before that.

Died in 1864

While in deep hypnosis, Mrs. Tighe began describing in detail episodes in the life of Bridey Kathleen Murphy, including that she was born in Cork in 1789 and died in Belfast in 1864. As she lay as though in sleep and talked, Mrs. Tighe's speech and mannerisms were those of an Irish girl of little education.

Bernstein wrote his book on the basis of this and later sessions with Mrs. Tighe, who appeared in the book as "Ruth Simmons." He said the book was published in 30 countries with 205,000 hard-cover copies and 775,000 paperbacks. It was made into a movie.

He gets more than 1,000 letters a year concerning Bridey and the subject of reincarnation.

Mrs. Tighe, who lives now in a Denver suburb with her husband and three daughters, made it clear she would just as soon forget all about Bridey Murphy. She said she's had nothing to do with hypnosis since the experiments with Bernstein during which, armed with a tape recorder, he hypnotized her six to eight times over a period of 11 months. Each time Mrs. Tighe assumed the role of Bridey Murphy.

She and her husband were appalled by the amount of publicity resulting from the book. "It was a real nightmare for a time," Mrs. Tighe said. She still gets indignant over reports she and Bernstein cooked up the Bridey Murphy thing as a means of making money.

She was paid a small royalty from the book sales, she said.

Asked if she believes that under hypnosis, her subconscious mirrored actual events in the life of an Irish girl named Bridey Murphy, Mrs. Tighe said, "I'm not unsold—I have an open mind about that."

Neither Mrs. Tighe nor Bernstein had been to Ireland.

Bernstein said his new book will be a counterattack at all levels—the hoax matter, the so-called scientific charges, the psychiatrists."

N. Y. Mirror Stilled and Assets Sold

Closing Traced To Rising Costs, Hearst Firm Says

NEW YORK (AP)—The financially distressed New York Mirror has ceased publication after 39 years and some of its assets have been sold to the New York Daily News.

"It takes everything I've got to keep from crying," said John Hearst Jr., grandson of the Mirror's founder, the late William Randolph Hearst, when the morning newspaper's demise was announced Tuesday night.

"If we could have economized," added Hearst, associate editor of the Mirror, "we would have done it. Most holes have a bottom, but this one did not seem to have any."

The Mirror's last edition rolled off the presses at 2:17 a.m. today.

The death knell had been rumored for months. The confirming announcement came at around 6 p.m.

Reads Announcement

Wilfred Alexander, president of the AFL-CIO American Newspaper Guild's New York local and shop steward of the union's Mirror unit, read the announcement to 75 editorial employes in the city room. He criticized what he termed the "callous and cold-blooded way this was kept from you."

About 1,400 employes lost their jobs. The Mirror said it will distribute in excess of $3½ million in severance pay to them and set up an employment office to help them find new jobs.

The Hearst Corp. said in announcing the Mirror's sale:

"The name, goodwill and other intangible and physical assets of the Mirror have been sold to the New York News."

No purchase price was disclosed.

"Costs have risen far in excess of revenues and have created substantial deficits over an extended period of time. The recent prolonged newspaper strike aggravated the already serious problems of the Mirror."

Last January, a month after the start of the city's 114-day newspaper blackout, Mirror publisher Charles B. McCabe had answered rumors of the paper's faltering condition by saying it "will be around for a long time." The blackout lasted until April 1.

Monty Says Chinese Would Attack Russia If Soviets Hit West

LONDON (AP) — "If Russia marched on the West," says Lord Montgomery," (Red) China would walk in at her back door."

In a speech at a banquet in his honor, the hero of the World War II Battle of El Alamein, said:

"There will be a billion Chinese, who in due course will be armed with nuclear weapons, at Russia's back door. Any idea that Russia would march west and have her country devastated by China, is just not on (with it)."

"I am convinced that in some way we have got to reach an accommodation with the Russians."

Highway Toll In State Now Totals 682

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The deaths of five persons in separate auto accidents have raised the 1963 Wisconsin highway toll to 682, compared with 736 on this date a year ago.

Jerry E. Gerzine, 20, of Milwaukee was injured fatally Tuesday night in a two-car collision on Milwaukee's South Side. A 17-year-old girl riding in Gerzine's car was injured slightly.

Michael E. Moore, 18, of Kenosha was killed Tuesday night when his car missed a curve, knocked over a large tree and crashed into a ditch on Highway 43 about five miles north of Kenosha.

Doris Severson, 24, of Eleva was killed Tuesday when her car overturned on Highway 10 a mile west of Strum in Trempealeau County. She was thrown from the auto and then pinned under it.

Eugene Thompson 22, of Racine died Tuesday from injuries suffered when the car in which he was riding struck a tree in Somers Township about five miles north of Kenosha Sept. 14.

Bert F. Seaman, 78, was killed shortly before noon Tuesday in a two-car collision a short distance from his home on Milwaukee's South Side.

Thilmany Announces Sales Staff Changes

R. B. Vogt Named Divisional Manager in Cleveland; Replaced by L. A. Schiedermeyer

Several transfers and job reassignments in the sales staff of Thilmany Pulp and Paper Co., Kaukauna, were announced today by H. O. Peters, sales vice president of the firm.

R. B. Vogt, who has been on the Thilmany sales staff for 23 years and most recently has managed the protective papers sales department was promoted to divisional sales manager, with headquarters in a sales office to be opened soon in Cleveland, Ohio. In addition to the Cleveland operation, he will also assume responsibility for the supervision of the company's Detroit and Cincinnati district offices.

In announcing Vogt's new assignment, Peters said: "His broad experience in all of our complex line, and particularly in the protective papers field makes him extremely well qualified to serve our customers in the highly industrialized areas to which he has been assigned, particularly in our important steel and automotive markets." Vogt will be assisted at Cleveland by Frank S. Koffend who is being transferred from the firm's eastern office in New York.

Replacement for Vogt

L. A. Schiedermayer will move into the managership of the protective papers sales department to replace Vogt and will be assisted by L. H. Rogers, J. F. Sanders, R. G. Wahlers, J. Russell and R. W. Wolf.

A. R. Miller will continue as manager of the plastics sales area, assisted by R. W. Douglas, W. F. Knapp, D. L. Kilgas and D. G. Jochman.

In addition to servicing merchant accounts in Minneapolis, T. H. Velte will return to the specialty papers division and will joint C. L. Newhouse as assistants to V. G. Haag, Sales Manager. Those accounts in the southern Wisconsin areas will be serviced by the mill sales staff from the company's Kaukauna headquarters.

Sales Staff Transfers

Two transfers from the Kaukauna sales headquarters to field office sales staffs include the assignment of T. N. Noie to the Chicago office and R. E. Cusic to New York.

K. S. Dickinson has been named manager of a newly-formed technical sales group and will be assisted by D. G. MacDonald and G. J. Patterson who has been transferred from industrial bag sales. This new selling "wing" of the product development staff was recently announced by J. T. Thomas, vice president for marketing, "to keep pace with new developments and accelerate their practical application as commercial products."

This group is responsible for the introduction of new products until it is established that the grade is ready for commercial marketing through Thilmany's regular line sales force.

K-C Employees To be Honored

Kimberly Mill Plans 'Quarter Century Dinner'

Kimberly Mill's 17th annual Quarter Century dinner gathering tonight will feature recognition of 113 long service employees with a combined work record of 1,935 years in Kimberly-Clark Corporation.

The new Quarter Century club members to be inducted during the program which follows the dinner at Van Abel's in Hollandtown, include Oswald Fjellerad, Eva L. Franz, Edward C. Krueger, Lawrence G. Marx, Henry J. Rooyakkers and John J. Stienen.

Eighty - four members will be awarded bonds and pins also for completing 30 years of service, 10 for 35 years of service, 10 for 40 years of service and three for 45 years of service. The three longest service employees are Joseph T. Bouressa, Treffley L. Courchane and Carl Krenkel.

Reception Hour

A reception hour will begin the gathering at 6 p.m. and dinner will be at 7 p.m., followed by group singing.

W. H. Fieweger, Kimberly-Clark vice president, will be the speaker, and will be introduced by H. W. Pierce, Kimberly mill manager, who is master of ceremonies.

V. C. Cook, personnel superintendent, will introduce the new Quarter Century members and present them with certificates of membership. Fieweger will present U.S. Savings Bonds of $100 to the 25-year members, $25 to the 30-year members, $50 to the 35-year employees, $75 to the 40-year members and $100 to the 45-year members.

Pierce, assisted by the wives of the guests, will present the new Kimberly-Clark emblem pins to be worn as a lapel pin or a brooch.

A dancing party is planned following the program.

Fox Valley Engineers To Meet at Manitowoc

Fox River Valley Chapter of the Wisconsin Society of Professional Engineers will hold its first meeting of the season in the Guest House Inn, Manitowoc, at 6:30 p.m. Thursday.

Merle Hutchins, staff metallurgist for Mirro Aluminum, will be the speaker.

The program preceding the dinner meeting will be a guided tour of the Mirro Aluminum Company's 12-million-dollar rolling mill. Tours of the mill will begin at 4:30, 4:45, and 5:00 p.m.

Shiocton Man Faces 2 Charges In Morals Case

WAUPACA—Robert D. Steede, 23, Shiocton, who is being held at Waupaca County jail on a charge of rape, has been ordered held for County Court on a charge of having relations with a minor.

He appeared Tuesday before Municipal Justice George Whalen who continued bail at $5,000, which Steede has been unable to pay.

He will be tried on both charges within 10 days.

He was arrested by the sheriff's department on a complaint of a 17-year-old New London girl. She said she was choked and assaulted by Steede in his car between 2 and 5 a.m. Sunday after they had been to several beer bars together, Sheriff Loran Frazier said.

Hortonville Kiddies Costume Parade, Halloween Event Set

HORTONVILLE — The annual Halloween party and parade for youngsters in the community and surrounding area will be Thursday, Oct. 31.

The kiddies costume parade begins at 7 p.m. on Mill Street across from the Ford garage. The parade will move east on Main street to SS. Peter & Paul Catholic Church, then north on Olk Street to the high school gym.

Costumes will be judged. Thirty cash prizes will be given to the winners. The children will see cartoons and receive gifts.

In charge will be Robert Schneider, general chairman, John Kringle, Norman Much, Ben Much, Donald Norenberg, Royce Reidl, Dick Schwan and Alvin Steinberg, food and refreshment committee; Paul Kreul, films and Robert Newhouse, publicity.

Milt Fannin heads the Police, fire department and Boy Scout committee; John Platts, gift committee; Milan Sousek, judges, and John Kringle, parade.

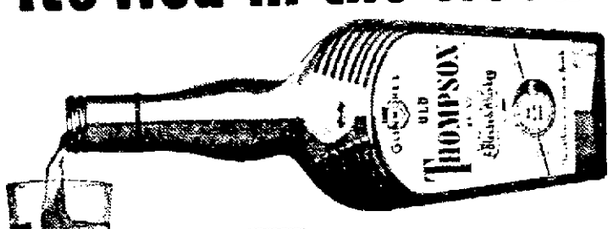

The Hortonville Commercial Club and Post 55 of the American Legion again are sponsors. Last year 535 youngsters attended.

Appleton Woman Fined $20 for Causing Mishap

KAUKAUNA — Mrs. Florence Nagreen, 2024 N. Appleton St., Appleton, was fined $20 by Oscar T. Jahns, municipal justice, Tuesday after pleading guilty to failure to yield right of way and causing an accident.

A car driven by Mrs. Nagreen stopped for a stop sign on County Trunk OO about 6:45 p.m. Monday and then pulled out onto Highway 55 and collided with a vehicle driven by Miss Mary McDaniel, 21, 120 Grant St., Kaukauna. Neither driver was injured, but both cars were extensively damaged, according to police.

Spice Takes Pay Requests to Board

Salaries Disgraceful, Sheriff Tells Outagamie Supervisors

Outagamie County Sheriff Calvin Spice took his salary problems to the top Tuesday and told members of the county board of supervisors the present pay alignment is disgraceful.

Spice has asked that 16 members of his department be given across-t h e-board $50 per month salary hikes. Included would be all sheriff department employees with the exception of the sheriff.

The board approved one sheriff department salary increase when it agreed to return the undersheriff's salary to an annual wage of $5,040. Undersheriff Norbert Marx, a retired City of Appleton police detective was receiving a monthly salary of $365 and had been placed on a five year step increase plan although the job is a two-year position in the department.

Would Hold Employees

Spice said he had been informed by Supv. John Schreiter, chairman of the county's civil service and salary committee that there would be no wage increases for the department for one more year at least. Spice said he was afraid in one year many of the present employees in the department would have left for other higher paying jobs. Six new employees in the department are receiving starting salaries of $295 per month, Spice said.

Spice received assurance from certain members of the county board that his salary request was not being overlooked and that there may be recommendations in the November budget sessions.

Defends Study

Schreiter defended his continuing study of the county wage scales and added it may be time to consider once again "new concepts of law enforcement in the county." Schreiter was referring to a consolidation of the police department and the sheriff's department. Consolidation proposals in the past have been defeated by the county board.

Schreiter also told board

Outagamie to Reconsider Pay Hikes Next Month

Supervisors Strike Actions for Raises to 2 County Officials

Salary hikes which had been approved for the county's corporation counsel, the highway commissioner and the superintendent of the Riverview Sanatorium will be reconsidered by Outagamie county board of supervisors when they meet in November.

The supervisors agreed unanimously to strike from the record their actions favoring the salary increases for Corporation Counsel A. W. Ponath and Highway Commissioner Clarence Brownson.

The supervisors then voted to reconsider the $2,000 hike granted Dr. John Russo and return the salary recommendation to the county's civil service and salary committee. That salary raise will also be discussed next month.

Common Sense

Supv. Russell DeLaHunt, Kaukauna Fifth Ward, began action to erase salary hikes approved for Ponath and Brownson from the county board records when he called for a move to "throw out the rule book" and begin using common sense. DeLaHunt said supervisors "were no longer in a frame of mind to discuss salaries."

Ponath had received a $1,000 salary increase Tuesday afternoon for an annual paycheck of $8,800. Brownson this morning received a pay hike of $500 for an annual salary of $7,700.

The supervisors voted to grant no salary increase to County Abstracter Wilbert C. Vandenberg and to leave his salary at $6,300.

Consider Separately

The three officials and two county nurses' pay raises were included in a resolution submitted Tuesday by the civil service and salary committee. The committee had recommended Ponath's $1,000 raise, Brownson's raise of $300, a raise for the abstracter from $6,300 to $7,000 per year, and raises of $300 per year for the county nurse and $240 per year for the assistant county nurse.

Tuesday Supv. Arthur Hoolihan, Appleton 11th Ward, moved the salary hikes be considered separately instead of in one resolution. The motion was approved and the supervisors began considering each raise beginning with Ponath.

Crystal Ball

Supervisors returned early this morning to continue work on the salary hikes. A motion was made to grant Brownson a pay increase of $600 instead of the $300.

Supv. Eugene Kloes, Appleton Fourth Ward, charged that the Valley Council Fetes Appleton, Neenah Men for Leadership

Dexter L. Wolfe and Donald W. Brown received Silver Beaver awards from the Valley Council.

Wolfe, an Appleton resident, is paper production superintendent at the Kimberly Mill, of Kimberly-Clark Corp. He holds the rank of Eagle Scout. Wolfe has served on the executive board of the Valley Council since 1955.

A-Bomb Development

A Lawrence College graduate, Wolfe attended the Institute of Paper Chemistry for a year. During military service, he did research work on the Manhattan Project for atomic bomb development. For this work he received a letter of commendation from Robert Oppenheimer, then at Los Alamos, N. M.

Brown, a Neenah resident, is employed by Marathon, a division of American Can Co., and is plant services supervisor at the River Street plant. He also is an Eagle Scout and has served as scoutmaster for Troop 8, First Congregational Church, Appleton.

Brown graduated cum laude in the class of 1950 at Lawrence College. He then earned a master's degree at Harvard Business School. He is presently active in Lawrence a l u m n i work.

Squad Car Bids Spark Debate At Kaukauna

Agree Specifications Unfair, Discriminate Against Dealer

KAUKAUNA -A 2-2 vote of the purchasing committee on whether to open bids on a new squad car caused considerable debate among aldermen Tuesday night.

Russell Dix, 4th, indicated he voted against opening bids as specifications were such that one dealer in the city was unable to bid on the car and this he felt was discriminatory.

Fred Reichel, 5th, indicated the city was possibly losing money by attempting to be too fair and not purchasing the proper equipment for a specific job. When Arnold Vanderloop, 1st, suggested readvertising for bids, Richard Helf, 3rd, objected saying the city could not advertise for bids until the other bids were rejected.

He indicated a notice was scheduled for Wednesday for new bids although the council had not gotten around to rejecting the first bids. This was promptly remedied on a motion from the floor and the advertising approved. New specifications are not to include wheel base length which prevented one dealer from bidding.

Compact Car

Helf questioned fellow aldermen for a definition of a "compact car" since new specifications exclude compa t models. None of the aldermen cared to answer, but advised Helf the purchasing committee c o u l d judge the car most advantageous to the city and police department when new bids were received.

In speaking of the police car, Helf questioned gasoline bills from various stations in the city. The squad car is serviced by local merchants. Helf indicated the city was in the habit of filing for the 4-cent federal tax allowance on municipality used gasoline, but had been neglecting the eight or nine cents state tax. He indicated such a claim could save the city about $1,200 per year.

The city clerk was instructed to begin tabulating gasoline usage by the police department and file regular claims with the state for tax credit.

The legislative committee was instructed to draw up an ordinance regulating door-to-door sales in the city and a public nuisance ordinance, both patterned after a Brookfield ordinance available through the League of Municipalities.

Three of 64 Teachers Quit For More Pay

Most Appleton Instructors Resign To Raise Family

Only three of 64 teachers who left the Appleton public schools after the 1962-1963 school year gave money as part of their reason for leaving.

A report on teacher resignations was presented to the board of education Monday. The board had requested a report on the reasons teachers left the system in order to determine the effect of higher salaries elsewhere on resignations.

One teacher, who has accepted a teaching position elsewhere in Wisconsin, said a boost in salary would have kept him in Appleton. Another accepted a $1,000 salary increase in a Milwaukee area school system. The third also plans to teach in the Milwaukee area and said he will receive more money there.

Marriage Plans

Plans for marriage and raising a family brought the highest number of resignations. Nine women teachers left to be married, and 15 others resigned to raise a family. Eight women teachers resigned because their husbands had accepted jobs in other cities.

Six teachers left to take teaching positions elsewhere, but did not give higher salaries as the reason. Three of these now are teaching in colleges. Four others have accepted teaching positions elsewhere, but did not give this as their main reason for leaving Appleton.

Two men teachers left the field of education. One of these said he was taking a job in industry.

Graduate Work

Four teachers resigned in order to do graduate work. Another plans to do graduate work, but is continuing to teach in the state.

Six retired from teaching. Two others resigned for health reasons, and a third because his wife's health required a move to a different climate.

Four teachers resigned because they wanted to work nearer their homes. A fifth gave this as a partial reason for leaving. One listed his reason as a move to a different city.

One teacher requested a half-time position. Two others had been employed as temporary teachers last year.

The Appleton public schools have 85 new teachers this fall, including 64 replacements and 21 additional teachers.

Note Mild Reaction To Airport Vote

Officials in Winnebago Not Surprised by Outagamie Action

OSHKOSH—Reaction by Winnebago County officials to Outagamie County's plans to begin new airport construction Thursday was mild.

Elmer G. Steinhilber, a member of the Winnebago County airport committee, said he "realized for some time that they (Outagamie) were going to go ahead.

"It might have been well for them to wait for the results of our survey, but then again I don't suppose there was any reason for them to wait. They were committed and they got very good bids.

Picture Unchanged

"I don't think this muddies the water any more than before." Steinhilber said, and "I don't think this changes the picture any. We have been reconciled for some time that they were going to build."

He added, "The CAB (Civil Aeronautics Board) will hand down its decision (on regional airport designation) in its own time. I don't think this will affect its decision."

Mild reaction also came from Joseph Drexler, Winnebago County Board chairman and secretary of the airport committee.

Drexler said he "expected they (Outagamie) would do this, but under the circumstances I thought they might wait until we got the result of our survey.

Determine Safety

"I told Fulcer (Alvin Fulcer, chairman of the Outagamie County Board) we would have results of the survey by Nov. 15." Drexler added, "I don't know if Fulcer gave this information to the board or not."

The survey referred to by Steinhilber and Drexler is an engineering study now in progress on the Winnebago County Airport to determine its safety and adequacy.

Fulcer did not relay Drexler's request to the Outagamie County Board before the vote to approve construction projects at Tuesday's session.

Now that the contracts have been approved, construction work on the new Outagamie County Airport in the Town of Greenville is expected to begin Thursday.

Menasha Man on Probation for Theft

OSHKOSH — County Judge James S i t t e r this morning placed David Stuck, 19, 105 Manitowoc St. Menasha, on probation to his employer for one year after Stuck pleaded guilty to five petty theft charges.

The thefts had occurred from December to July and involved such items as a $15 radio, seat covers worth $5, both taken from an auto wrecking company; $35 in cash, 20 gallons of gasoline worth $5.80 and $25 in tools. The thefts were from places in Neenah, Menasha and the Town of Menasha.

Airport Issue

Milwaukee Paper Erred, Catlin Says

A newspaper story which appeared in today's edition of the Milwaukee Sentinel stating that the Outagamie County board action Tuesday shut the door on a regional airport is highly inaccurate, members of the county's airport committee said today.

Mark Catlin, the airport committee chairman, told supervisors at today's continued session of the counnty board that "we do not bind our future actions at any time."

The article stated "the Outagamie County board Tuesday gave final approval to a multi-million dollar airport, thereby rejecting the federal government's proposal that consideration be given a regional site."

Kills Chance

Later in the same story, the article stated "Outagamie County resisted the suggestion in CAB hearings and action Tuesday by the county board kills any chance for a regional airport with Outagamie County participating."

Catlin said the statements are neither factual nor truthful. He said the airport which will be built in the Town of Greenville "conceivably could become the regional airport, but that is something that will be decided some time in the future with the approval of the county board."

Appleton Supv. Arthur Hoolihan, who identified himself as a reporter for the Milwaukee Sentinel, told board members he had called the story which appeared in the paper to the Milwaukee paper at 8 p.m. Tuesday.

Disclaims Error

Hoolihan said the information he gave the paper was not that which was contained in the news story. Hoolihan said the information "apparently was added from previous stories which appeared in the papers."

Tuesday the county board voted 44-11 to award contracts on the first phase of the new airport in the Town of Greenville. Catlin said the initial phase of the construction "will be a replacement for the present Outagamie County airport." Other phases of construction will follow which will gradually enlarge the airport to a modern-day jet travel airport.

P-C and TCNR Employees Give 100 Pct. to Drive

Employees of the Appleton Post-Crescent and the Twin City News-Record have attained a 100 per cent contribution record in the Appleton and Neenah - Menasha Red Feather drives.

Henry G. Starck, Post-Crescent production manager who served as the company's fund drive chairman, said the total contribution was up 25 per cent over last year.

V. I. Minahan, company president, spoke at a series of meetings held on company time to urge employees to contribute to the drives.

Woman Attacked, Purse Stolen

KIMBERLY—A Kimberly woman told police today that a man attacked her and took her purse as she was entering her home at 3:20 this morning.

She said she was about to enter the house when a man stepped from the shadows, hit her in the face, took her purse, ran to a car and then drove off.

The woman said she had been at a coffee shop and noticed a car following her as she drove home. She added that the car was parked a short way from her house when she got out of her car.

Appleton Man Pleads Guilty of Non-Support

OSHKOSH—Duane Hillsberg, 28, 1615 N. Meade St., Appleton, pleaded guilty this morning to a non-support charge and County Judge James Sitter ordered a pre-sentence investigation. Sentencing was set for Nov. 5 and bond was continued at $1,000. Hillsberg is formerly of route 1, Black Creek.

Union Seeks To Represent Home Workers

The Wisconsin C o u n c i l of County and Municipal Employees, AFL-CIO, has petitioned the Wisconsin Employment Relations Board (WERB) to conduct an election for employees at the Appleton City Home to desig-n a t e the official bargaining agent.

The union contends the majority of employees at the home are unionized and as a result it should be designated as their official bargaining a g e n t. A hearing on the petition for a representation determin a t i o n will be conducted by the WERB at 11:15 a. m. Tuesday at city hall. The union claims to represent a specific unit of employees, the number totaling 10.

The city has raised the question whether the union is the official bargaining representative for the employees.

Appleton High School Principal Appointed to Legion Education Unit

Herbert H. Helble, principal of Appleton High School, has been appointed chairman of the education and scholarship committee of the American Legion, Department of Wisconsin by James Mulder, department commander.

This committee promotes and publicizes scholarships available for Wisconsin high school and college students, especially children of veterans. It cooperates with schools and other state agencies in educational and other A m e r i c a n i s m activities through the auspices of local American Legion posts.

Bad Check Charges Filed Against Woman

OSHKOSH—Charges of issuing four worthless checks were filed this morning before County Judge James Sitter against Mrs. Kay O'Rourke, route 1, Neenah. Judge Sitter deferred proceedings until Monday so that she can obtain a court-appointed attorney. He set bond at $1,000.

The four checks, issued in June and July, totaled $54.60. They had been cashed at supermarkets.

Longer School Year In Appleton Suggested

The State Department of Public Instruction has suggested a longer school year for Appleton public schools.

The Appleton Board of Education received word Monday that the district has again been classified to receive state aids at the integrated level, which run about $10 to $13 more per pupil than basic aids.

Angus B. R o t h w e l l, state superintendent, said in a letter to the board, "We wish to commend your district for the new Johnston Elementary School and your sincere efforts to improve curricular and instructional effectiveness."

Rothwell suggested three aspects of the program for the board to consider:

1. A school year of sufficient length to permit at least 180 days actually taught.

2. Reduction of the number of teachers with daily loads exceeding 150 pupils. (Superintendent of Schools Royce E. Kurtz said in a few cases the teacher load exceeds 150)

3. Evaluation of the adequacy of the professional library staff. Kurtz explained the school system now has 190 contract days for teachers and about 177 actual teaching days. The system is required to have 180 "school days" in order to receive state aids, but certain holidays and teachers' convention days may be counted. Appleton has 183 to 185 "school days" per year.

1964-65 Calendar

Additional t e a c h i n g days would have to be added at the end of the year or through reduction of vacation time, Kurtz said, since it is difficult to start school before Labor Day. The 1964-65 official school calendar will be presented to the board in January.

The b o a r d did not discuss Rothwell's other recommendations.

To qualify for integrated aids, a school district must fill the basic statutory requirements and also provide a well-balanced and enriched program, including such aspects as library, testing and resource services, Kurtz explained.

Integrated aids are about $53 per pupil on the elementary level, while basic aids run about $40 for secondary and $30 for elementary pupils.

Rural Woman Fined For Being Disorderly

KAUKAUNA—Mrs. Lawrence Kauer, route 3, K a u k a u n a, pleaded guilty to a charge of disorderly conduct and was fined $100 when arraigned before Oscar T. Jahns, municipal justice, Tuesday.

Mrs. Kauer was arrested Monday after causing a disturbance in a local super market.

Firm Reminds City It Has Green Bay Distributor Too

The Morton Salt Co. has issued a reminder to the City of Appleton that it, too, is in the rock salt business and operates out of the Green Bay area.

Recently, the city awarded the year's contract for rock salt to Diamond Crystal Salt Co. on the basis that it was in a position to provide good service because of having a distributorship at Green Bay.

When bids were received by the city for the salt, used by the city on streets during the winter months, all were identical—$12.20 per ton in truckload lots.

A. A. Provencner, assistant division manager for Morton Salt, said in a letter to the city that his firm would like an opportunity to provide Appleton with salt and service in the future. He said the company's Green Bay distributor was most reliable.

Assault Charges on Neenah Man Deferred

OSHKOSH—Proceedings on an assault and battery charge brought against Vincent Storch, 42, 116 Lawe St., were deferred to Dec. 11 at the request of his wife who had been the complaining witness.

Storch's attorney told County Judge James Sitter that Mr. and Mrs. Storch were seeking pastoral counseling and would like the charge against him of striking his wife deferred.

Restrictions on Twin City Sewerage Commission Posed

Menasha Seeks To Limit Sewer Line Services

MENASHA — Members of council Tuesday night officially and unanimously approved a resolution calling for a study as to the proportionate usage of the Neenah - Menasha sewage treatment plant by the Twin Cities; objected to the sewerage commission granting contracts (service) to persons and firms outside the Twin City corporate limits; and threatened the sewerage commission with legislative action if the council wishes are not met.

Council directed the superintendent of the Neenah-Menasha Sewerage Commission and Menasha Public Works Director Robert Poss to make the study.

The city cannot tell the commission how and to whom it may extend services since it is an independent body set up by the state legislature and the only powers of the city are in appointments and budget. The council did not attempt that. Instead they "objected" to the practice and said if the commission persists in granting the contracts the council would seek an amendment from the state legislature to the powers of the commission.

"Resolution pertaining to the internal affairs of the Neenah-Menasha Sewerage Commission, introduced at the request of Ald. Donald Kemps:

"Whereas, the joint sewerage commission was created some 30 years ago on the basis that both cities of Neenah and Menasha were the same size and should both pay equally, and

Population Differences

"Whereas, as a matter of fact, Neenah has increased its population far out of proportion to that of Menasha so that according to the federal census of 1960 Neenah's population was 18,176 and that of Menasha 14,612 or a 22 per cent differential.

"Whereas, according to the Schellie reports, by next year Neenah's population will be 20,000 and Menasha's 15,800 and by the year 1970 Neenah's population will be 22,000 and Menasha's 17,100"

"Now therefore, be it resolved that the superintendent of the sewerage commission and the Menasha Director of Public Works conduct a study as to the proportionate usage of the plant by both cities either on a volume sewage treatment, or other basis which will adequately reflect such usage and report to this council no later than Dec. 15, 1963.

Hampers Annexation

"And whereas the sewerage commission has in the past by contract negotiated for the treatment of waste material with private homes, industries and areas of land outside the corporate limits of the Twin Cities, all to the detriment of annexation by the City of Menasha and its sister City of Neenah.

"Be it further resolved that the Menasha Common Council go on record as being opposed to such granting of municipal benefits to people or industry who are not part of our official families or to any further extension of existing contracts where same does not meet with the objections of the Public Service Commission.

"Be it further resolved in the event the said commission persists in this endeavor in violation of our wishes that we intend to seek an amendment from the state legislature which created the act and under which act governs today only Neenah and Menasha."

Vote Machine Fight Resumed in Menasha

MENASHA — City officials have resumed their fight to avoid compliance with a state ruling calling for purchase of voting machines by municipalities of more than 10,000 population.

The council voted Tuesday night to support the City of Two Rivers at a meeting of the Wisconsin League of Municipalities in Milwaukee next week in an attempt to get the rule repealed.

Police Chief Warns of Playing in Leaf Piles

KAUKAUNA — Harold V. Engerson, chief of police, has requested help from parents in keeping small children from playing in piles of leaves along curbings.

Several motorists have complained to police about nearly hitting youngsters as they jumped from piles of leaves at curbs and terraces, noted Engerson. He also warned motorists to avoid driving through leaf piles in an effort to scatter them, as a youngster, rake or some other object could be under a pile which could cause trouble.

$64,000 Bite Taken Out of Menasha Funds

Cuts Made in $1 Million Left In City Budget

MENASHA — A large bite was taken out of the $1 million left in the Menasha budget Tuesday night when council approved bills of allowance for construction totaling $64,482.

The bills were for payment of construction on Nathan Calder Stadium, the city garage, Shepard Park Shelter House and curb, gutter, sidewalk construction and sanitary sewer installation.

The largest single payment was $22,530.15 to the P. G. Miron Construction Co. for the stadium construction. A bill of $4,029 to Van Buskirk and Sons Nursery and one of $3,600 to McMahon Engineering Co. also were approved. Bills of $500.67; $89.54 and $80 also were approved paid to the McMahon Co.

The second largest bill was for city garage construction and to the Charles Gambsky Co. for $20,463.30. Other payments on the garage were to E. J. Rippl Co., $1,244.70; Langstadt's Inc., $4,596.30; and the McMahon Co. for a total of $438.41.

Bills of $495 were paid to Wiegand Builders for construction of Shepard Park Shelter house and $1,208.02 to Drucks Plumbing and Heating Co.

The John Skotzke Construction Co. was paid $4,574.99 for curb and gutter construction; Ed Zeininger Excavating Co. was paid $632.22 for sanitary sewer installation.

30 Day Limit to Join Reserves Before Draft

Enlistments Up, Since Exemption Of Married Men

MENASHA — Maj. Alexander Warshall, military adviser for the 274th regiment, U. S. Army Reserve, with headquarters in Menasha, this morning announced enlistees into the reserve who have less than 30 days before being drafted into regular military service will be rejected by the reserves.

Warshall said several persons in the past have sought to enlist in the reserve only a few days before receiving their draft notice in an attempt to escape active duty.

These will be rejected in the future, the major said.

He noted that enlistments in the reserve have increased to almost a record since a presidential directive exempting married personnel from the draft.

With married personnel exempted, more single men are being drafted and the rush to escape the draft has begun, the major pointed out.

He urged persons who wish to enter the reserve to do so before they are given an alert by the draft board. Alerts are usually given 60 days before the order to report for induction. No exact dates for induction are given.

Men ages 20 through 22 are currently being called up by the draft boards.

FBI-Local Police Work Key to Crime Solving, Agent Claims

NEENAH — The growing cooperation between local police departments and the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI), and its importance to crime solving, was explained Tuesday night by Edward E. Converse, FBI special agent, Green Bay, at the joint Neenah service club dinner in the Valley Inn.

Converse, who serves under the Milwaukee field division of the national FBI organization, also paid high tribute to Neenah for maintaining a fine police force, and detailed the dual function of the FBI as a federal law enforcer and public service agency.

Stating that the post World War II crime rate is 300 per cent over the pre-war era rate, Converse explained that local law enforcing agencies and the FBI are doing a great deal to combat the crime wave. He added that juvenile crime accounted for 40 per cent of all crimes since 1952.

The interchange of information, the closing of the gap between local policing and interstate criminal investigation and the serious attempts of local agencies to equip themselves to better handle local matters are important steps to combatting crime, he said.

"Our aim is at a network of cooperation between local law enforcement and the FBI and a comprehensive and cohesive operation here," he said.

Federal laws enacted in and around 1934, such as the Fleeing Fugitive Act and the National Stolen Property Act which extends FBI jurisdiction further into state and local matters, have likewise helped the FBI supplement local police agencies and thereby stem the mushrooming crime rate, Converse explained.

Federal Enforcement

"For the FBI to enter a case, a crime must violate a federal law," he said. "We enforce federal laws that have penal provisions."

The Green Bay agent cited Neenah's police force as an example of conscientious and efficient police work. "I have a high regard for the type of law enforcement you people of Neenah have insisted on," he said.

Neenah's interworkings with the FBI in apprehending the criminals in a jewelry robbery of a few years ago was a classic example of results from cooperation between the local agencies and the FBI, Converse explained.

He described how the information supplied by the Neenah police department aided his agency in eventually apprehending the robbers.

Citizen Help

"Criminal investigation takes more than local agencies and the FBI operating independently," he said, "it takes cohesive cooperation between the local police forces, the FBI and you citizens."

"Law enforcement has undergone grave change," he explained, "not only have we passed out of the horse and buggy era, but there no longer is competition between local and federal police forces to get there first."

Another work of the FBI, Converse said, was their public service function such as the maintenance of the personal identification department through finger printing.

"We were able to identify through fingerprints all 3 of the badly disfigured bodies in the California bus-train accident in September," he said.

Converse added that the FBI has a missing persons bureau, disaster squad and criminal laboratory which are open to state use.

He also explained that the FBI was under the jurisdiction of the Department of Justice but distinct from other federal police agencies such as the secret service and the narcotics bureau.

Household Type Bills Are 'King Size' at Schools

—$383.92 for cleaning supplies.
—$99 for detergent.
—$119 for modeling clay.
—$103.50 for corn brooms.
—$30.60 for liquid hand soap.
—$96.30 for shades.
—$95.50 for door locks.
—$261.50 for furniture wax, wringers and mop buckets.
—$113.58 for wet mops.
—$174.16 for sheet music.

The general bill list also included average-household-size items like $1.45 for paint or 3.97 for repair parts for jeep. But, the total reached $88,806.

Committee Chairman Supports Changes in Civil Rights Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of the House Judiciary Committee gave full support today to administration efforts to cut some provisions from the sweeping civil rights bill.

Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., told the committee he would do all in his power to get bipartisan support for the milder proposal recommended by the administration in June.

A judiciary subcommittee added several highly controversial provisions to the administration program, however, to produce the bill before the committee.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy urged the committee Tuesday to restore the measure substantially to administration's recommendation, to increase its chances of passage.

Twin City Cooperation Advocated by Jaycees

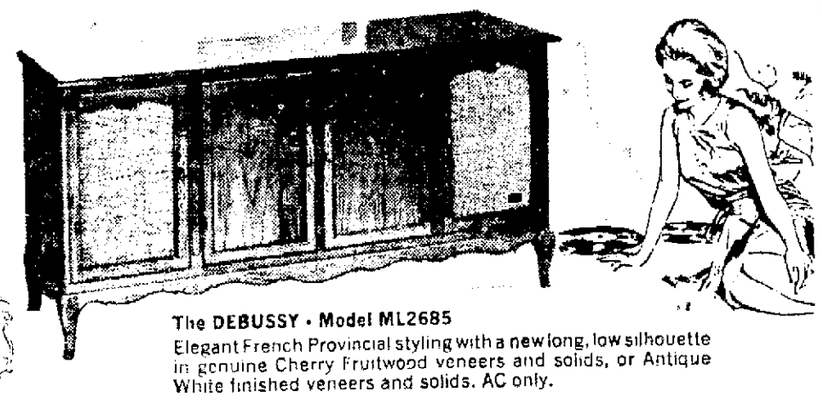

NEENAH — A resolution favoring a study by officials of Neenah and Menasha jointly to ascertain all possible areas of cooperation leading to efficiency and economy for both governments was adopted by the Neenah-Menasha Junior Chamber of Commerce at its meeting Monday night at Whiting Boathouse.

A statement from the Jaycees today declared, "The Neenah-Menasha Jaycees feel there are areas where the two governments can cooperate, such as in the exchange in use of equipment belonging to the street and sanitation departments, joint repair of Nicolet Boulevard, joint purchasing, joint planning, joint post office and joint city hall.

The Neenah-Menasha Jaycees desire a study into these areas to see if the two cities can find areas of cooperation and whether or not it would be feasible to combine their efforts.

"The present talks between Mayor Klein and Mayor Loehning concerning a joint city hall are good and possibly a special agency could be established or members from the planning commissions of the two cities could get together and compile a thorough study as to the feasibility of such an endeavor as well as the other projects mentioned."

Adult School at Kaukauna Sets 2 New Classes

Registrations Being Accepted for November Courses

KAUKAUNA—Two new classes are scheduled to get underway early in November in the School of Vocational and Adult Education and registrations are being accepted now.

A limited number can be accommodated in each class. Students will be accepted on a first registered basis.

A class in the selecting, buying and preparation of meats will get underway Nov. 6 with sessions from 7 to 9 p.m.

The class will be conducted by Earl Jensen, circuit instructor for the State Board of Vocational and Adult Schools. He has had 30 years experience in food merchandising and served as an instructor for apprentice meat cutters.

A class in holiday ideas will get underway Nov 11 with times of the evening classes to vary according to the workshop or demonstration presented.

Mrs. Willis Baer will conduct a workshop on "Driftwood and Woods Wood," at the Nov. 11 and 18 meetings. Persons are to begin collecting wood from lake and river shores or wooded areas and have it cleaned, washed and dried before bringing it to class. Mrs. Baer will demonstrate how to prepare the wood, apply various finishes and adapt the wood to holiday decoration use

Mrs. Argo Simon will conduct a Christmas decoration workshop Nov. 25. Students in class will make one decoration and be given ideas and directions for making others. On Dec. 2 Mrs. Bernard Hupperts will present a demonstration on gift wrapping which will include stenciling, printing and painting of wrappings.

Mrs. William Mittelstaedt and Mrs Alois Bachhuber Jr will conduct a class on "Holiday Foods and Entertaining Tips" Dec. 9 They will demonstrate the making of holiday cookies, salads and desserts. Recipes will be provided. The class will end with a coffee hour and sampling of foods.

Society Members Plan Yearly Event

DARBOY — Members of the Holy Name Society last week completed plans for its annual banquet. It is scheduled for 8 p.m., Oct. 27 at Holy Angels School hall. Group chairmen will be selling tickets after the 8 and 10 a.m. masses Sunday. The St Anne Altar Society will serve the banquet. An after-dinner speaker will be featured.

The Society is continuing its efforts to improve the traffic situation at Holy Angels School. More correspondence has been written by the president, Paul Uitenbroek. William Rogers, assemblyman, has promised to intercede at Madison when the assembly reconvenes. A Halloween party will be sponsored by the society for all the children of Darboy.

A vote of appreciation was given the Leo Van Roy Post 265, American Legion, for its donation of basketballs and hoops to Holy Angels School. The society is now building a basketball court. Other equipment will be purchased including baseballs, bats and volleyball equipment

Fire Prevention Event

DARBOY — The Rev. William Rickert, pastor, announced a change in the Sunday mass schedule at Holy Angels. Beginning Oct. 27, masses will be at 8, 9:30 and 11 a.m. High mass will be sung at the 8 a.m. mass on the first two Sundays of the month and at 9:30 the remaining Sundays

Mrs Clarence Trentlage has been added to the teaching staff.

Lunch Price Reduced For Kimberly Schools

Board Hopes Cut Will Spark More Buying, Stem Losses

KIMBERLY — In an effort to solve the loss of money in the school hot lunch program, the board of education has authorized reduction of charges for meals effective Nov. 5.

On the recommendation of Wayne Hull, in charge of the lunch program, prices of lunches were cut in an effort to stimulate more persons to eat hot lunch thus utilizing cooks to their full potential. The rate for grade school and junior high school students was held at 30 cents per day for individual meals but cut from $1.50 to $1 25 for weekly meal tickets.

Lunches for high school students will remain $1.50 per week, but the daily lunch charge would be 35 cents. The hot lunch program will be open to all youngsters of the district whereas formerly youngsters living near school were encouraged to go home for lunch.

Many Bag Lunches

Hull pointed out, about 260 hot lunches were being sold this year compared to 400 per day last year. Students carrying bag lunches far outnumber those buying the hot lunch. If 450 to 500 students would eat hot lunch daily, the program would be self supporting even with reduced rates, Hull noted. He estimated loss for the first full month of operation at about $1,305.

Board members approved a request of a group from Darboy for use of the Ryan School gym for basketball games and the Junior High School gym for a Slim Gym class sponsored by the Kimberly Recreation Association A request for a meeting of about 350 adults interested in the Cub Scout program was referred to the superintendent of schools for study.

The group requested use of a gym for display purposes and another area for eating, but board members did not feel the new high school should be opened to this large a group at this time Hamann will work with the Cub Scout group in an effort to make other school buildings available.

Senior High Open

Board members authorized the superintendent to keep the senior high school open during teachers' convention to permit area teachers, not attending the convention, to visit the school. Approval was given to sending James Koehn to the national meeting of junior high school administrators at Chicago and Wayne Hull to the national convention of elementary supervisors at Minneapolis.

Low bid of $1,331 from Valley School Supplies for three small portable gates and one large gate was approved Three bids were received ranging from the low bid to a high of $1,450 All gates bid were identical. The gates will be used to block off various sections of the high school to traffic during night functions at the school

PTA Schedules Stage Play For Appleton Grade Pupils

A performance of "Dick Whittington and His Cat," by the National Children's Theater Association will be sponsored by the Appleton Public School Music Parents Association for Appleton school children Tuesday, Oct. 22.

Third through sixth grade children in Appleton's public schools and three Lutheran grade schools will see the play at 9 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. Oct. 22, at the Appleton High School auditorium. A limited number of seats are available at the afternoon performance for kindergarten and pre-school children accompanied by adults.

Proceeds of the project will be used to send music students to district and state music festivals Mrs. Melvin Ruth is chairman.

The story is of Dick Whittington, a London orphan who dreams he will be Lord Mayor of London. After a series of experiences with his rat-catching cat, Mathilda, he does just that. The play is set about 500 years ago.

The National Children's Theatre Association was organized in 1958 by Mr. and Mrs. Fiske Miles of Dallas, Tex., as the successor to the Clare Tree Majors children's theater. Its annual tour will cover 15 states.

Korean Girl Has Appleton Woman as School Sponsor

Miss Mari Taniguchi, 220 S. Morrison, is helping an 11-year-old Korean girl gain an education by sponsorship through the Save The Children Federation, non-sectarian organization at Norwalk, Conn.

Choon Shil Yoo lives in one small room in Seoul with her mother, a brother and a sister. The mother works as a kitchen maid, and the sister is a nursemaid.

Schooling for Choon Shil and her brother is a burden as the mother and sister earn barely enough for the family's basic needs.

Miss Taniguchi contributes $12.50 monthly as the child's sponsor. In return the federation sends reports on the little girl's progress in school, along with notes and photographs.

Lawrence Says

Modification of Civil Rights Bill Urged

Bob Kennedy Now Realizes Measure May be Defeated

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—Attorney General Kennedy has just made a remarkable statement to the the measure reported out by the subcommittee, while de- House Judiciary Committee on the whole subject of "civil rights" legislation. In a nuishell, he Lawrence recognizes that sirable in its objectives, goes too far and might even imperil the ultimate enactment of the entire program.

In the course of his testimony, the attorney general suggested some ways to diminish opposition to the bill. He said, for instance, that it would be unwise for the federal government to interfere in state, county and city elections and that it should confine itself to federal elections. But Mr. Kennedy's main objection was to the wide sweep of authority which the pending bill would give to the federal government to regulate customer relations in "public accommodations." He said that the principle behind the bill—namely, that all forms of racial discrimination are equally objectionable—is a moral one, but that he believes the original anti-discrimination proposal, which did not attempt to extend federal law to cover every form of "public accommodations," was a much better approach. Mr. Kennedy feels that many of the problems can be solved by voluntary means. He declared:

"We were reluctant to extend federal power beyond those areas where it was clearly needed to meet existing problems. The subcommittee has added to this coverage a catchall which prohibits discrimination in any business operating under state or local "authorization, permission, or license." This addition meets none of the criteria we thought important.

"What businesses are covered by this provision are unclear. It would seem to extend federal regulation to law firms, medical partnerships and clinics, private schools, apartment houses, insurance companies, banks, and, potentially, to all businesses which a state does not affirmatively ban. And its application, if a narrower interpretation is proper, is in any event uneven to the extent that it depends upon widely divergent state licensing practices to determine its coverage."

New Problems

Mr. Kennedy pointed out that, while excesses by the police have occurred, the proposed use of broad injunctive power might create new problems for the federal government. He said that before the proposed section of the pending bill could be used, it would have to be clear "that a federally protected right has been or is about to be violated." He continued:

"It would be a mistake to assume that all demonstrations are protected because their aims are consistent with national policy and are supported by the vast majority of the American people—like peaceful protests against racial discrimination. Limitations may be constitutionally imposed upon the time of demonstrations, their duration, their place and the number of people. Not all demonstrations are protected by the first and fourteenth amendments. Thus, no matter how bitterly they may be resented, not all offensive police conduct in connection with civic rights demonstrations would be within the reach of Title III."

The Attorney General spoke of the basic danger of relying on injunctions to control in advance the actions of local police. He said:

Basic Danger

"One result might be that state and local authorities would abdicate their law enforcement responsibilities, thereby creating a vacuum in authority which could be filled only by federal force. This, in turn—if it is to be faced squarely—would require creation of a national police force. This is a step which is historically, and with good reason, abhorrent to our federal system. I am sure all members of the committee would be opposed to such a drastic development unless all means of dealing with the underlying injustices fail."

The subcommittee has also proposed the establishment of a Fair Employment Practices Commission and would give wide authority to such a body. But inasmuch as a measure of this kind would have to regulate the operations of labor unions, it is apparent that the administration sees trouble ahead. The Attorney General said:

"At the same time, I recognize that there are some experienced members of Congress who feel that the inclusion of this provision in the amnibus bill could make it more difficult to secure a rule from the rules committee and could even jeopardize ultimate passage of the omnibus bill."

Unquestionably Mr. Kennedy is aware that opposition to the bill has been mounting and that this might mean its defeat. As a practical step, therefore, he has been urging that the provisions which have raised most of the protest should be eliminated or modified. This is the customary tactic in Congress in trying to get legislation enacted on a compromise basis. But all the proponents of the legislation, particularly those who have been leading street demonstrations, may not understand the niceties of legislative procedure. That's what sets up a real dilemma for the administration.

Holy Angels Mass Schedule Announced

DARBOY — Posters along school hallways and discussions in individual classrooms composed the Holy Angels School Fire Prevention Week program.

Leo Berg, Town of Buchanan volunteer fireman, conducted a fire drill Friday.

Berg also spoke to children about fire prevention. He talked on the use of new fire numbers recently assigned to town residents. The children also had an opportunity to inspect a fire department truck.

English Farmer Will Put Clothes on His Sheep for Winter

CASTLE CARROCK, England (AP) — Farmer William Wilstn is putting his 3,000 sheep in sheep's clothing for the winter.

The sheep are being clad in special coats of jute sacking, made to Wilson's design at 70 cents each at an Edinburgh factory.

He whipped up such coats to protect the best sheep of his flock during last winter's severe weather and liked the results.

"They not only keep the sheep snug and warm," he said, "but they make the fleece thicker and softer."

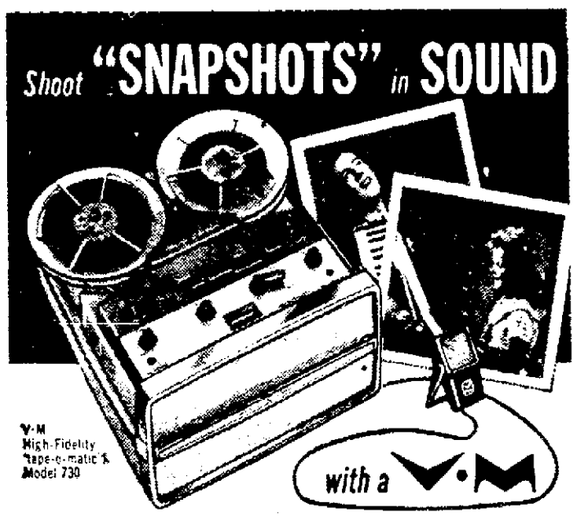

Wrightstown Teachers Speak at Greenleaf

GREENLEAF — Four Wrightstown teachers recently addressed the Greenleaf Mothers Club.

Speakers were Leo Bronkalla, administrator; Jerry Kaehr, director of music; George Mee, art instructor, and Clifford Hinkens, physical education instructor.

All talked on their own educational fields and told of educational plans in their departments for the current school year. A luncheon followed the meeting.

Union Officer Suggested for School Post

Robert Schlieve Would Replace W. A. MacFarlane

Robert Schlieve, secretary-treasurer and business representative of Teamsters Local 563, Appleton, has been suggested to the Appleton Board of Education as a possible employee member of the Board of Vocational and Adult Education.

The four-year term of William A. MacFarlane on the vocational school board expires in December. New members are appointed by the Board of Education.

State law requires the vocational school board include two employers and two representative employees who do not have the power to hire and fire The superintendent of schools is an ex-officio member. MacFarland, one of the employee members, is retired from his job.

Asked by Unions

The Appleton Building and Construction Trades Council and its affiliated unions asked, in a letter, that the board of education appoint Schlieve to the vocational school board. "We are certain that Mr. Schlieve could effectively represent the views of the working people in our community," the letter said.

The board also received a letter from Schlieve, who said he has been urged by several labor organizations and individuals to seek appointment to the board of vocational and adult education.

"I would like an opportunity to serve on the vocational school board as I believe that I could effectively represent the view of the working people. In my position I am ever conscious of the need for expanded vocational education and can also see how great an asset it has been to those who have availed themselves of it," he said.

The board of education Monday took no action on the appointment. Mrs. George Munro, board president, said other suggestions also would be welcomed.

Recommend Centralized Purchasing

The first step in establishing a central purchasing system for municipal departments was taken Tuesday by the board of public works.

It recommended the common council approve a policy wherein department heads would be prohibited from making individual office supply purchases and entering into contracts for maintenance of office equipment. The board felt that finance Director Donald Hassler could handle purchases and maintenance contracts.

Hassler informed the board he thought there was "a lot of duplication in various departments on office supplies." He eventually wants to establish a centralized purchasing program.

"Instead of everybody going out and ordering their own supplies, I think purchases should be centralized," commented Ald. R. P. Groh (8th).

It is expected the city departments will operate under a modified centralized purchasing system in 1964, with a complete changeover in 1965. No mention was made to include the board of education, park board or other separate governmental entities.

Light Showers Little Relief From Drought

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A forecast of scattered showers and thundershowers in many portions of Wisconsin today promises added relief from the drought which has troubled the area in recent weeks.

Thundershowers developed in many portions of the state Tuesday evening and continued intermittently during the night. Skies were mostly cloudy over the state Tuesday and Tuesday night.

The heaviest amounts of rainfall reported in the state overnight were .50 inch at Mequon and .25 at Madison.

Temperatures continued unseasonably warm over the entire state. The highest temperature Tuesday was 86 in the Beloit-Rockford area. Other highs were Lone Rock, 84; Madison, La Crosse and Burlington, 81; Eau Claire and Park Falls, 79; Green Bay, 77; Wausau, 76; Milwaukee, 74; Racine, 73, and 72 in the Superior - Duluth area.

The low temperature recorded overnight was 43 at Eau Claire. Other lows were the Duluth-Superior area, 48; Madison, 49; Wausau, 51; Green Bay, 52; Lone Rock, 58; Racine and the Beloit-Rockford area, 59.

Miss Sharon Witt, route 3, Appleton took third place in the "Miss Credit Union of Wisconsin" contest held in conjunction with the 29th annual convention of the Wisconsin Credit Union League. She represented the credit union of the Aid Association for Lutherans. Crowning her is Arthur C. Gilberts, Menominee, Mich., who was re-elected president of the 400,000-member statewide organization.

County Units Salute Credit Union Day

42 Credit Unions, Outagamie Chapter, to Hear Sen. Lorge

International Credit Union Day will be observed Thursday by the Outagamie Chapter of Credit Unions with a dinner and program.

State Sen. Gerald Lorge, Bear Creek, will be featured speaker at the dinner and the program will be a special salute to Credit Union Day.

Tuttle Press Credit Union, Appleton, will be host to the 6:15 p. m. event in the Catholic Club, 3900 W. Spencer, Appleton.

Peter DeLain, president of the host union, explains credit unions are "organizations of people saving togethe rand lending to each other at a low rate of interest."

17 Million Members

He said there are 29,500 credit unions in the world with more than 17 million members. Shares and deposits total $8 million, he added.

DeLain said credit unions date back to 1849. He explained that in the United States they are chartered and supervised by the federal government.

As an additional part of its observance of the international day, the Outagamie Chapter has reserved the Appleton Theater Saturday for a special children's matinee.

Tickets will be available from credit union members. One feature-length children's film and several cartoons are scheduled for 1 and 3:15 p. m. showings. The title of the film will be announced later.

Hot Wheel Bearing

Appleton fire equipment was sent at 4:29 p.m. Tuesday to Michigan and Erb streets where a truck was smoking. Firemen reported only an overheated wheel bearing on a truck driven by Paul Noffke Sr., 2218 N. Meade St.

Generally Fair Weather is forecast for Wednesday night in the Atlantic states. Scattered showers and thundershowers are forecast for the western portions of the Great Lakes region, the western sections of the Ohio valley, eastern Kansas and eastern Oklahoma. Clear to partly cloudy skies will prevail over the western half of the nation with a few showers along the Sierra range and the southern portion of the Great Basin. There will be little change in temperatures elsewhere. (AP Wirephoto Map)

Tipsy Driver Fined $150

Arthur J. Krueger, 58, Scandinavia, Has License Revoked

WAUPACA — Arthur J Krueger, 58, Scandinavia, pleaded guilty of drunken driving Tuesday and was fined $150 and his driver's license was revoked for one year by Municipal Justice George Whalen.

Krueger was arrested Monday night in Scandinavia. Undersheriff William Mork said Krueger backed his car up and came forward and ran into another parked car causing damages over $250 to each car. The other car is owned by Elroy Mork, Iola.

Krueger was committed to the county jail for 45 days or until the fine is paid.

Arthur McBain, 63, Seymour Businessman, Resort Owner, Dies

SEYMOUR — Arthur McBain, 63, Seymour businessman, died Tuesday after a five-month illness. He lived in Seymour 48 years and operated a bulk oil business and restaurant He also ran a resort in Forest County

He was a member of the Odd Fellows Lodge and St Paul Methodist Church, Seymour. Survivors are his wife, one daughter, one son, a sister and five grandchildren

Recommend Appleton Hire Assistant to Building Inspector

Creation of the position of full-time assistant building inspector was recommended Tuesday by the board of public works

The matter will come before the common council for consideration tonight

The board took action after Building Inspector Charles Magnette said he needed help

Magnette said due to the large volume of building being done in Appleton, it was necessary to have an assistant.

Ald. R. P Groh, (8th) moved the post of assistant inspector be established, and the hiring of parttime help in the summer be discontinued.

Tax Breaks on Life Insurance Face Cuts

BY SYLVIA PORTER

Two important tax breaks connected with life insurance should be substantially cut down by the 1963 tax bill as passed by the House.

Porter

First, here is what would happen to the type of ordinary life insurance coverage which taxpayers across the country have bought or are considering buying under such names ar "minimum deposit," "financed" or "bank loan" insurance.

The key sales appeal of this insurance has been that the buyer could get much higher coverage for his money than through a regular insurance purchase. This is possible because under the "financed" and simi- lar purchase plans, the insured borrows the cash to cover his premium costs either from the insurance company or a bank. The policy is collateral for the loan. The only money he actually pays out of his pocket is the interest on the loan and he gets part of that back by deducting the interest on his income tax return.

Disliked Plan

The way this has worked out is that the higher an insured person's tax bracket is, the more he saves with his interest deduction and the less comes out of his own pocket to pay for the insurance which is being bought with borrowed money.

The Treasury has disliked this plan for years and it finally persuaded the House to add a provision to the 1963 tax bill which would end the practice. Generally speaking, the bill would bar interest deduction for loans used to buy or carry life insurance under a plan which contemplates systematic borrowing of the increasing cash surrender value of the policy.

Certain exceptions would allow the interest to remain deductible—for instance, if the interest didn't exceed $100 a year or if the policy was taken out in connection with a trade or business—but the objective is clearly to knock out the tax deduction which makes the plan a money saving way of buying more insurance for less money And this change would apply to insurance contracts bought after Aug. 6, 1963.

Don't Buy Now

What should you do in anticipation of this change? The Research Institute of America suggests that if you have been thinking about buying "minimum deposit" or "financed" or "bank loan" life insurance, hold off on your purchase, if possible, until it becomes clear whether this provision will become law. Otherwise, if you buy now on the basis of being able to deduct your interest payments, you may wind up with the insurance but without the right to deduct the interest next year.

The second life insurance tax break which would be cut back by the House-passed bill involves group life insurance. As of today, this insurance enjoys complete tax exemption. Millions of employees are covered by group life insurance for which their employers pay, but under present rules the employer's payment of the premiums is not counted as income to the employees

The 1963 tax bill would limit this tax advantage to $30,000 of group life insurance coverage for each employee. Premiums paid by an employer for coverage over $30,000 for an employee would be considered taxable income to that employee.

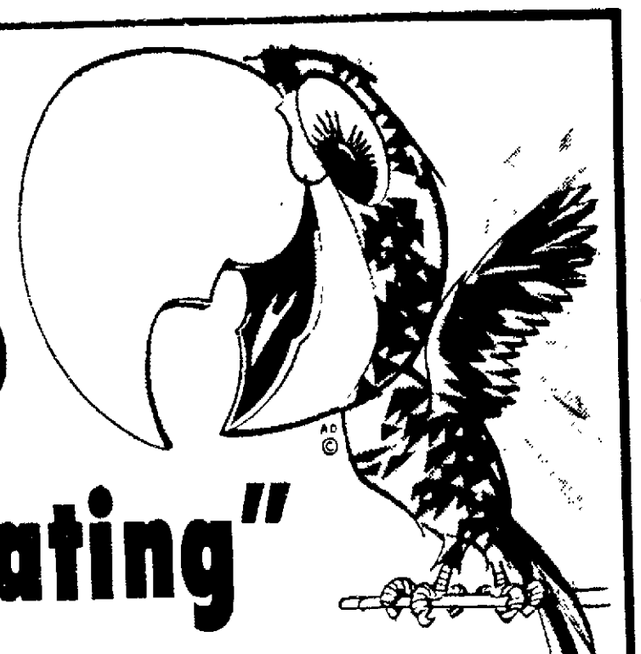

Most Not Affected

Most employees wouldn't be affected by this change, because most of the millions covered by group life insurance aren't given that much protection.

But there are plenty of key executives and plenty of owner-employees who get more than $30,000 group life insurance coverage. If you are among these, the premiums paid by your employer for your coverage over $30,000 would become taxable income to you as of next year.

What can you do in anticipation of this change if the 1963 bill becomes law? Outside of cutting back to $30,000 of coverage or making a charity the beneficiary of your coverage over $30,000, there is nothing you can do to avoid or reduce the added tax cost.

DON'T SHUN HOSPITAL GIFT SHOPS AS GIFT INDUSTRY TYCOONS DO

DEAR CY:

You sure amazed me with your reference to the potential which selling to hospital gift shops has. This is a sleeper, all right. How much do hospitals shell out for products and services each year? How many hospitals have gift shops? What is the hospital gift shop business total?

FRED WALLER

DEAR MR. WALLER:

Don't be led down the rose petalled path by figures of what hospitals spend on goods and services. These figures don't signify giftware volume. But . . . since you asked . . . hospitals, qualifying for study by the American Hospital association, spent 10 billion dollars last year with $6 billion going for payroll. To that you can rivet another billion-dollar expenditure by the survey untouchables. Hospital gift shops are the gray area of gift merchandising. Even the gift industry big bangs have no figures on their volume. I estimate there are 4,133 hospitals (including specialized hospitals and voluntary general hospitals) which have gift counters. According to Harry Yeates, editor of "Gift and Art Buyer" magazine, "Most hospital gift shops don't carry normal gift items. Decorative things, specialized for get-well greetings or mental uplift, generally keynote the market which is small." You'll find most hospital gift shops non - profit and located where the people are. Don't let the gift industry's disinterest in you. Though small, there's good business there for those who will chase it.

CY

DEAR CY:

My house is getting rundown. My garage is falling apart. As an elderly widow, I need your help. I hear senior citizens can borrow money at 3½ per cent. How can I get some of this money to fix up my place?

TOO-OLD-FOR-CREDIT

DEAR TOO-OLD:

Through the Farmers Home administration, the U. S. government is sponsoring loans at 4 per cent to farm owners and owners of other real estate in areas not over 2,500 population and not in an urban area. Also to senior citizens 62 years of age and over. An upper-aged person may use the loan funds to buy, build, or rehabilitate a home on land he owns. For more specific information, contact your county supervisor or write the Farmers Home Administration at the Dept. of Agriculture, Washington 25, D. C.

DEAR CY:

My uncle who was going to buy a co-op apartment wrote me, "They are changing it over to a condominium and we are analyzing the deal. This might be something tailor - made for you and Mabel." Mabel and I are looking for an apartment to buy but never heard of a condominium. What is a condominium?

SIDLEY GRANT

DEAR SIDLEY:

During the glory that was Rome, multiple dwelling units flourished and were possessed on the condominium basis. A condominium buyer may purchase part of property honeycombed with other tenants but with them. Should any other owner fail to pay taxe or mortgage payments, a condominium owner is not affected financially. Property in the complex enjoyed by all in the condominium such as the entrance areas is maintained by apportioning its cost to owners. Should a condominiumite fail to pony up with his share for keeping the common ground, other owners can nail a lien to his apartment.

Baby Should be Taken With Mother on Journey

BY DR. EVE JONES

Dear Eve Jones: I want to take a six-day trip with my husband next month and leave my seven - month - old son with my mother. But he hasn't been around other people very much, and I want to know how to make it easy for him. He was sick when he was born and still is rather nervous and timid. Of course, we'll take his toys and playpen and crib over there so he'll have familiar things around him. Will it help, do you think, if I stay with him there for a few nights before we leave? MRS. B. C.

Jones

You'll be wise to give up your trip or else to alter your plans so you take your son with you. That way, you won't have to cope with the disturbances in eating or sleeping or the moping that usually result when a child of this age is separated from his mother for longer than a day.

If you still insist on leaving him, though, at least let him stay in his own house, either with your mother or with someone else you can trust. And during the next month, help him learn a little tolerance for separation from you by having his future caretaker come over frequently to stay with him while you leave for several hours.

Dear Eve Jones: My three-year-old niece visited us recently and didn't know how to ride a two-wheel bicycle. She has one of her own, but apparently she's afraid to try it. She said her mother asks her if she'd like to learn to ride it and she says she doesn't want to, so her mother doesn't say anything more.

This little girl will be coming to visit us next weekend and we're sure it would increase her self-confidence if we encouraged her to try to learn to ride. In view of her past experience, how should we go about this: MRS. A. P.

This little girl is unlikely to become anything except more insecure if you make a fuss about the bicycle. If she visits you frequently in the future, she may develop enough closeness to you to want to learn to ride to win your approval. Until then, though, don't say any more about the bike.

2 Manawa Women at Red Cross Meeting

MANAWA — Mrs. Alvin Ferg and Mrs. Leonard Marcy attended the 13th annual meeting of the Badger Red Cross Blood Regional at Holiday Inn, Madison, last week.

Dr. Wm. Young, head of the heart surgery team at University Hospital, Madison, demonstrated the mechanical heart-lung machine and explained techniques used in the heart surgery.

Vernon Ostenby, adminietrative director of the blood program for the mid-western area, talked on new developments in the blood program.

Soviets Expected to Begin Probes Of Moon Ahead of This Country

American Scientist Blames Russian Lead On Lack of U. S. Powerful Rocket Booster

BY ALTON BLAKESLEE

NEW YORK (AP) — Soviet spaceships soon will begin exploring the moon, perhaps within a few months, some space scientists predict.

Carrying automatic instruments, they could turn the moon into a Soviet scientific garden.

Long before American astronauts land on the moon, Soviet scientists could reap answers to major mysteries about the moon's surface, its craters, its interior, and perhaps its probable origin.

The Soviets already have a rocket—used to hurl their cosmonauts around the earth—powerful enough to land sensitive automatic instruments softly on the moon one U S expert says But it will be two years or more before the United States has a moon rocket capable of doing the same thing, he claims.

"It is only logical to expect the Russians to begin intensive exploration of the moon by remote control—which we would do right now if we could " said this scientist, who asked not to be quoted by name

Matter of Months

Sir Bernard Lovell, British radio astronomer, has predicted the Soviets would be making "soft" landings of instruments on the moon, possibly within a matter of months

After a recent visit to the Soviet Union, Sir Bernard said he thought the Soviets had dropped plans at least for the time being, to land men on the moon.

The American space scientist says there are no clear signs yet that the Soviets are developing the kind of superbooster, like the gigantic Saturn rocket, needed to carry men to the moon.

As usual, the Soviets are mum

The Soviet scientist Dr Alexander Lebedinsky of the University of Moscow, speaking to newsmen at the recent International Union Of Geodesy and Geophysics in Berkeley, Calif disavowed knowing "what the plans are — I only know what has been done "

Landings Near

"The signs seem to point to imminent Soviet landings on the moon with highly sophisticated instruments," the American scientist said "We presume the Russians will want to do the same type of exploration we plan to do before sending men to an unknown place "

The U S plans call for orbiting a television-equipped spacecraft around the moon and for landing automatic instruments, in the program known as Surveyor.

The rocket for the Surveyor landings is the Centaur using liquid hydrogen fuel The timetable for Centaur has slipped nearly two years, the scientist said

"We're simply stymied for lack of a rocket booster With their head start on powerful boosters, the Russians could skim the cream in scientific exploration of the moon I think we have to expect it "

The television eye of an orbiting spacecraft could pick level areas for landing automatic laboratories or manned spaceships It could determine the size and distribution of craters help answer the question whether most craters were formed by meteo, impact or by volcanic action From the way the moon pulled at the orbiting craft, scientists could learn some facts about the composition of the moon's interior and the distribution of its mass

Moon Dust

The moon safely (or soft) landed laboratories could tell whether the surface is thick with moon dust is pretty solid, or resembles a kind of peanut brittle Chemical analyses could be made of the moon's soil Automatic vehicles might be sent crawling or leaping over the moon's surface

Seismometers could record any moonquakes or explosive shock waves could be created to probe the moon's interior makeup Magnetometers could seek any magnetism on the moon Through these and other means scientists could gather pretty good ideas whether the moon was created in similar fashion to the earth, or had a different origin

Shiocton Village Board Sheriff to Discuss Law Enforcement Problems

Calvin Spice Will Give Advice On Establishing Police Service

A meeting with Outagamie County Sheriff Calvin Spice and members of the Shiocton Village Board has tentatively been set for Oct. 31.

Village President Martin Groth met with Spice Tuesday to set up the meeting. The board is expected to ask Spice's advice on establishing more law enforcement in the village of Shiocton.

Board members agreed one week ago to approach Spice and ask his opinion on a possible solution to what has been termed a "growing law enforcement problem" within the village limits.

The village's regular part-time constable, Lawrence Roberts, quit his job last spring. The village has been without a policeman since. A village resident, Richard Nelson, has been hired by the board to act as a parttime "nightwatchman" but he is not entrusted with police duties.

Merchants became critical of the situation several weeks ago when at least eight break-ins occurred in the village, but only one was reported to the sheriff's department. The other break-ins were uncovered in an investigation of the one break-in.

Last Friday the owner and operator of a teen-age beer bar located near the village limits asked the sheriff's department for protection. He said he had heard rumors that a "brawl" was scheduled to take place at his tavern. He said the previous Tuesday a patron had been beaten up in his tavern by a group of "outsiders" from Appleton and Menasha. The man was hospitalized.

A deputy was assigned to the tavern by Spice and three sheriff department investigators were assigned to the Shiocton area. There was no trouble reported in the village Friday night.

Spice said he will discuss possible plans of providing the village with law enforcement, either through a lend-lease system with the sheriff's department, or in the establishment of a village police unit.

State to Probe Pollution of Oconto River

Scott Paper Co. May be Asked to End Waste Discharge

MADISON (AP)—State officials agreed today to investigate pollution of the Oconto River to see if emergency measures are necessary to stop the Scott Paper Co. of Oconto Falls from releasing sulphite wastes into the stream.

State Sen. Reuben La Fave, R-Oconto, led a delegation of Oconto residents which met in Madison with representatives of the State Water Pollution Committee, the State Board of Health and the governor's office.

It was agreed that the pollution committee would meet Nov. 19 in Oconto to discuss possible interim steps to prevent recurrence of a sulphite saturated fog which settled in Oconto last week, discoloring about 250 houses.

Leak Blamed

The brown fog last week was attributed to a leak in the paper company's sulphite storage lagoon, but La Fave said the condition has existed for 13 years "and the public is demanding definite action."

Ralph Hovind of the State Department of Resource Development visited the area Monday and said he viewed discolored houses "that looked like somebody has taken a blowtorch to the paint job."

Tesst of the Oconto River last week showed that oxygen in the water was depleted by the sulphite and that the condition still exists although company officials found the leak Thursday and repaired it.

John Wiebusch, Oconto City attorney, said that while pollution from the paper company had been a problem since 1950, "This is the first time the city has suffered property damage."

Under present conditions, it's absolutely intolerable," he added.

Pay Requests Go to Board

members "major changes" take time under the committee system of government. He said the civil service and salary committee makes the wage studies.

Other county board members agreed with Spice who said the county is a low paying employer. Supv. Norman Austin, Town of Oneida, urged the county board to quit treating its employees "like slaves" and allow them to earn livings "like human beings."

Inefficiency Costs

Supvs. Russell DeLaHunt, Kaukauna Fifth Ward, and George Greisch, Appleton Third Ward, agreed changes were in order in the county law enforcement setup. DeLaHunt told other board members "a few salary increases will not run the county into the red. What does, however," he said, "was continued inefficiency." He did not elaborate.

Greisch said a re-evaluation of county law enforcement operations was needed and "some deadwood should be taken out, and some wood should be made to produce."

Supv. Mark Catlin, Appleton Seventh Ward, said Spice's request for salary increases to the general board was "improper." Catlin said he was not being critical of Spice's appearance at the county board, but, he said, he had been under the impression that committees were supposed to study salary hikes "as far back as last April" and make recommendations to the board.

Salary Hikes To be Studied Next Month

civil service and salary committee used a crystal ball in arriving at wage increases. Kloes had voiced strong protest against Ponath's $1,000 increase the day before.

Hoolihan then argued that Brownson's pay should be increased by $1,000 to coincide with Ponath's raise, but the motion was declared out of order.

The increase of $600 for Brownson was defeated and the supervisors then heard a motion to increase the salary by $500. The motion was approved.

"Popularity Contest"

County Board Chairman Alvin Fulcer voted against the pay raises and explained his vote by saying he was opposed to the way the supervisors were handling the salary resolution. He said the issue was becoming a "popularity contest."

Supv. Sylvester Esler, Appleton 18th Ward, moved that the abstracter salary increase be $500 also "to keep in line with what the others are making." The civil service and salary committee had recommended a $700 increase. The supervisors voted against Esler's motion and the salary was to remain at $6,300 with no raise this year.

It was at this point that DeLaHunt attempted to have the county board's action on the salaries stricken from the records and the entire salary question be brought up in November.

The county board was enmeshed in a tangle of red tape over parliamentary procedures before the action could be brought for consideration from the board.

Milwaukee Newsman Dead at 65

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Elmer H. Schroeder, who joined the Milwaukee Journal as a carrier boy in 1912 and rose to become circulation manager and a vice president, died today at Columbia Hospital.

He entered the hospital Aug. 26 and recently underwent surgery for a stomach ulcer and a diaphragmatic hernia.

Schroeder, a friendly, hearty man and one of the best-liked persons on the Journal, supervised all Journal Co. newspaper sales and the operation of its truck fleet.

He was a director of the International Circulation Managers' Association for more than 10 years and was a former president and director of the Central States Circulation Managers' Association.

Survivors includes his widow, a sister, Miss Ella Schroeder of Milwaukee; and a brother, Henry, of Los Angeles.

Special Powers Given To Premier of Laos

VIETIANE, Laos (AP)—The Laotian national assembly extended Premier Souvanna Phouma's extraordinary powers for another year in a brief assembly session today.

Under the special powers, first granted to Souvanna Oct. 7, 1962, he is permitted to rule by decree.

Kaukauna, Neenah To Clash Saturday

Kimberly to Meet 'Jays In M-E Tilt

MID-EASTERN CONFERENCE

	W	L	T	TP	OP
Kimberly	3	1	0	72	50
Neenah	3	1	0	82	33
Shawano	3	1	0	84	34
Kaukauna	2	1	1	43	18
Clintonville	2	2	0	63	49
Menasha	1	2	1	27	52
New London	1	3	0	24	86
Two Rivers	0	4	4	20	103

Friday's Games:
Clintonville at Shawano.
Two Rivers at New London.

Saturday's Games:
Neenah at Kaukauna.
Kimberly at Menasha.

Two of the four once-beaten teams in the Mid-Eastern Conference will clash at Kaukauna Saturday afternoon when the Ghosts entertain the Neenah Rockets.

Kimberly will be at Menasha in another Saturday afternoon tilt while Clintonville travels to Shawano and New London hosts Two Rivers in Friday night games.

Kaukauna and Shawano are currently the two hottest teams in the loop with the Ghosts making steady improvement since that opening loss to New London (12-6).

Two in Row

Coach Harry Wilson's gridders have won two in a row, trimming Clintonville (18-6) and upsetting Kimberly (17-0) the last two weeks. The Ghosts still have their work cut out for them as far as title hopes are concerned as they have to follow Saturday's Neenah game with contests with Two Rivers and the redhot Indians from Shawano.

After losing a 23-13 decision to the Papermakers in the opening game, Shawano has reeled off victories over Two Rivers (13-7), New London (42-6), and Neenah (19-0).

Kimberly is hoping to bounce back against the Bluejays. The Papermakers looked like they were going all the way in the first three games, then faltered against the rival Ghosts. Coach Jim Nirschl's "11" must face Neenah and New London in the last two weeks.

Neenah, likewise is looking for recovery. The Rockets rolled well against Menasha the week previous but had its long victory string broken by Shawano last Saturday.

Two Former Appleton High School football players have become sophomore regulars for Lawrence College. Jim Salter (88) plays defensive end, while Pat Keane (33) plays offensive halfback. Both will play in their first Lawrence-Ripon game Saturday on the Redmen's gridiron. (Post-Crescent Photos)

Brandt and Riddle In Feature Roles As UW, Iowa Meet

Bruhn Concentrating Badger Drills on Combatting Aerials

MADISON (AP) — Wisconsin, the nation's second ranking team, will be out to grab the Big Ten Conference lead from Iowa Saturday in an Iowa City football battle featuring a pair of the league's fine young quarterbacks.

Iowa and Wisconsin became early co-leaders in the title race by winning opening conference games Saturday while Ohio State and Illinois fought to a 20-20 tie.

The defending champion Badgers ran their season's record to 3-0 by blasting Purdue 38-20 behind the brilliant passing and play calling of junior quarterback Harold Brandt.

The Hawkeyes' Fred Riddle, another junior quarterback, set a Big Ten record by firing five touchdown passes in Iowa's 37-26 victory over Indiana. Iowa has two victories and a tie in season play.

Great Respect

Wisconsin coach Milt Bruhn has great respect for Iowa and is concentrating this week on combatting Riddle's aerial thrusts and improving the quality of Badger tackling.

Safetyman Ron Frain injured a shoulder against Purdue and won't be in the Badger defensive secondary Saturday. He will be replaced by Dave Fronek, a handy sophomore quarterback who also kicks extra points and field goals.

Pointing for Wisconsin, Iowa coach Jerry Burns calls the meeting "the big game and one we must win if we are to make a strong showing in the conference race."

Burns said Iowa is working hard to strengthen its running attack to make it "strong enough as a threat to help our passing game."

Riddle, better known as a basketball player until he won the quarterback job in football, has had a hand in all of Iowa's touchdowns this year. He has passed for seven and run for the other two.

Brandt, Wisconsin's lefthanded passer, was impressive against Purdue, completing 14 of 22 passes for 196 yards and a touchdown before retiring from the game.

Burns indicated his Hawkeyes are looking forward to the Wisconsin game with a little revenge in mind.

"The veterans want to make up for that 42-14 loss at Madison last fall," Burns said.

When the Badgers drubbed Iowa last season it evened the score for a 47-15 beating the Hawkeyes gave Wisconsin in 1961.

Frain and veteran end Larry Howard, who reinjured his knee against Purdue, were the only absentees Tuesday as the Badgers stressed passing both on offense and defense.

Bruhn admitted frankly that he is concerned with his pass defense.

"Iowa doesn't live or die by the pass, but if it's going to hurt us it will be that way," the Wisconsin coach said.

"Actually, Iowa does quite a bit of Northwestern thinking," he added. "Their attack and many plays are very, very similar. They hit you with speed outside and cut you up with passing.

William Clay Ford Offers $6 Million For Detroit Lions

Creates Sensation at Meeting Of Team's Board of Directors

DETROIT (AP) — The Ford automobile family's William Clay Ford is laying $6 million on the line to buy the Detroit Lions.

Bill Ford, a scion of the famed auto world's Fords and who is president of the National Football League club, created a sensation at the Lions' directors meeting Tuesday with the surprise offer.

The $6 million probably is the largest single offer for any sports franchise.

Sports Transaction

Not since a syndicate of Detroit businessmen bought the Detroit Tigers baseball team for $5.5 million in 1957 has money of that size been on a table in a sports transaction here of this sort.

In fact, it may not have happened anywhere else, either.

A syndicate headed by Dan Reeves reputedly paid $7.1 million for the NHL's Los Angeles Rams earlier this year. There was doubt whether this was a single piece of money, however. Reeves reportedly gave a price of $4.8 million pro-rated on a stockholders' share basis this was said to work out to $7.1.

Baseball's New York Yankees were sold for $3.5 million but this included a stadium and other property. The Milwaukee Braves were sold for $5 million and the Cleveland Browns for $4 million. There has been an offer of $4.5 million for the Philadelphia football Eagles.

The 38-year-old Ford Motor Co. official—he is a company vice president—is the first member of his family to be a sportsman on a major scale.

President Since 1961

Bill Ford has been president of the Lions since 1961 when, as a member of the board, he stepped into a management breech and became president in a stockholders' proxy fight.

Ford's offer to buy came with the Lions struggling to get back on the winning track. The Lions, considered title contenders at the start of the season, have dropped three of their five games.

In recent years the Lions, near-champions in 1961 and 1962, have been a paying proposition. Last year they netted $220,000 on a gross of $440,000.

Two board members, William D. Downey, vice president and secretary, and Ray Whyte, spoke respectfully of Ford's offer. Downey called it "very fair," Whyte "wonderfully generous."

Amado Samuel Sold to Mets By Milwaukee

Pair Sent to Minors; 4 Others Added to Roster

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Milwaukee Braves did a little housecleaing by dumping three 1963 disappointments Tuesday while adding four young prospects in moves which brought the club roster to the 40-player winter limit.

Added to the parent roster to protect them from the draft were first baseman George Kopacz, 22; shortstop Wesley Bales, 18; right-handed pitcher Dick Smith, 20, and southpaw hurler Dick Kelley.

Kopacz, who bats and throws left, hit .321 for Austin in the Texas League with 180 safeties in 140 games last season. Bales, a switchhitter, batted .268 in 39 games for Boise after being signed out of junior college by the Braves in July.

14-6 At Yakima

Smith appeared in two games for Austin and then was sent to Yakima where he posted a 14-6 record in the Northwest League. Kelley won only 6 of 15 decisions for Denver of the Pacific Coast League, but struck out 108 in 105 innings.

Samuel, a 24-year-old good field, no hit infielder, failed in several trials with the Braves. In 1963, he batted .176 in 14 games for Milwaukee and .240 with Toronto in the International League. He is expected to battle Al Moran for the Mets' shortstop job.

Dillard, acquired with Frank Funk and Ty Cline in the deal which sent Joe Adcock to Cleveland, batted a weak .235 in 65 games for the Braves. He was sent to Milwaukee's farm at Toronto.

Klimchock was returned to Denver, where he was one of the Pacific Coast League's top hitters before being called up by Milwaukee last July. He hit only .196 in 23 games with the Braves.

The Braves also announced that the Boise farm has surrendered its franchise to the Class A Pioneer League and will not operate in 1964.

Five Is 'Unlucky' Number for SNC Football Teams

DE PERE — For some, thirteen is an unlucky number. For the St. Norbert College football team, the number is five.

For the past two seasons, the Knights have gone unbeaten in their first four games, only to be defeated in the fifth outing. St. Norbert has once again won its first four games this season, and will be out for that elusive fifth in a row at the Minahan Stadium Saturday afternoon against Augustana College of Sout Dakota.

The Saturday game will be the Knights' homecoming, which will provide an extra incentive to win. They'll also be out to make amends for the 20-13 loss handed them by the Vikings at Sioux Falls, South Dakota, last fall, one of only two defeats St. Norbert had in '62.

Packers Lead League in Most Recoveries of Opponent Fumbles

Wally Lemm Won't Admit to Being Surprised at Cards, but Is Pleased

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The champion Green Bay Packers and the once lowly St. Louis Cardinals clash Sunday in a National Football League game that promises to be a lot closer than anyone expected at the start of the season.

The Packers, a heavy preseason favorite to win their third straight league championship, surprisingly are only second best in the Western Division, although they have lost only to Chicago. However, the Bears are 5-0 and head the division.

On the other hand, the Cardinals are running second in the Eastern Division, a spot surprisingly high for them. Annually among the also rans, St. Louis has used a high-powered offense to race to a 4-1 record, only a game behind unbeaten Cleveland.

Obviously Pleased

Cardinal Coach Wally Lemm, although not willing to admit that his team has surprised him, is obviously pleased. But he knows that the Cardinals will have their hands full Sunday.

"The Packers are a tough, powerful team, as strong as last year," he said. "I don't know why they wouldn't be."

At least three of those strong points are end Boyd Dowler, middle linebacker Ray Nitschke and fullback Jim Taylor.

Pat Fisher, 5-foot-10, will have the job of covering Dowler, who is seven inches taller, and that worries Lemm.

"Fisher has been doing a fine job since (Billy) Stacy was injured," Lemm said, "but we have to put Stacy in if Fisher can't handle Dowler."

Nitschke and the Cardinals' Dale Meinert, will offer a battle of "the best linebackers in each division," Lemm said.

"Nitschke is strong as a bull. He knocks men out of the way. Meinert has great quickness and agility and he doesn't know what it is to quit. And he rarely makes a mistake."

The Packers also will have Taylor, their outstanding fullback ready to play after being out with a groin injury. But the Cardinals can counter with their own great runner, John David Crow, who returned to limited action last week and, while he won't start, should see plenty of duty Sunday.

But even without Crow for the first four games, the Cardinals worked up an offense that is the best in the league.

Nitschke and Co. will have the job of stopping Charley Johnson, who has thrown for 1,279 yards and nine touchdowns; Bobby Joe Conrad, the leading pass catcher with 29, and Joe Childress, the second leading rusher with 333 yards gained.

All three played a big part in the Cardinals' final minute 24-23 victory over Pittsburgh last week.

"The people were waiting to buy tickets Monday morning after that game," Lemm said. He's hoping they'll be back next Monday.

NEW YORK (AP) — Detroit leads the National Football League in total defense and pass defense and the Chicago Bears are first in defense against a ground game. But the Green Bay Packers are tops in one most important statistic—most opponent fumbles recovered.

The Packers, winners of four in a row since dropping the opener to the Bears, have recovered 12 of 13 fumbles by the opposition. In addition, the Packers have intercepted nine passes for a total of 22 scoring opportunities over and above the normal quota.

Henry Jordan, defensive tackle who has recovered three of the fumbles, insists it is not luck.

Pride in Work

"We take pride in our work," said Jordan. "The first man through doesn't go for the ball. He shoots for the tackle on the ball carrier. The next man trys to hit hard enough to loosen the ball."

St. Louis shows the way in total offense with 2,056 yards, including a pacesetting 1,214 yards on passing. Cleveland's running game is the best, thanks to Jimmy Brown, who accounts for 787 of their 1,042 yards rushing, according to league statistics released today.

No Immediate Changes Seen for Horicon Hunting

MADISON (AP)—No immediate changes are planned in shooting rules for the Horicon Marsh goose hunt, Conservation Department officials said Monday night. There are provisions for changing regulations if the kill runs too high or drops below average.

The current kill was fixed at 2,332 birds of the quota of 12,000. Shooting last year ended after 8½ days when the quota of 7,200 was reached. The present kill is for an eight day period, indicating the present season will continue longer than last.

Department spokesmen added that any rule changes will hinge on the weather and how it affects the kill.

Name Lemon to Manage Hawaii

HONOLULU (AP)—Bob Lemon, once an outstanding pitcher with the Cleveland Indians, was named manager of the Hawaii Islanders of the Pacific Coast League Monday.

He succeeds Irv Noren, who was given his outright release after two years at the helm of the Los Angeles Angels' farm club.

Pass, Punt, Kick Contest Set Saturday

Appleton's Pass and Kick Contest will be held Saturday at Goodland Field according to co-sponsors Sherry Motors and the Appleton Recreation Department.

All 8-year old boys are to report to Goodland Field at 8:45 a.m. The 9-year olds start competition at 9:45. Ten-year olds are to report at 1 p.m. and 11-year old boys at 2:30.

Boxer Is Dead After Battling For $250 Purse

Blood Clot on Brain Was Cause of Death According to Doctors

BALTIMORE (AP) — Heavyweight boxer Ernie Knox died in a Baltimore hospital today, a day and a half after he battled for a $250 purse.

Doctors said a blood clot on the brain killed him, and even had he lived he would have been partly crippled. Knox died at Provident Hospital at 6 a.m.

He was knocked out in the ninth round of his fight with Wayne Bethea of New York Monday night.

Knox, floored for a nine-count earlier in the round, lay stretched out on the ring canvas for nearly 10 minutes after a volley of Bethea punches sent him there at 1:15 of the round.

The 26-year-old Baltimorean was carried from the ring on a stretcher after a preliminary examination by Maryland Athletic Commission doctors Charles Tommassello and Evan Gilkes.

Dressing Room

Later, in the dressing room, the doctors checked for signs of brain damage and said they found none. But they ordered Knox sent to the hospital as a precaution.

At the hospital Knox seemed all right. But early Tuesday morning he lost consciousness. An emergency operation removed a blood clot from his brain.

Jack Cohen, athletic commission secretary, said Knox was coherent in the dressing room. "In fact he was moaning over having lost the fight."

The loss was the fighter's sixth in 19 bouts. He won 10 and drew three.

He didn't fight for a living. His last one, before the Bethea fight, was nine months ago when he licked slim Jim Robinson in Reading, Pa.

In between his scattered bouts he sometimes worked as a hod carrier. He was collecting unemployment insurance when he stepped into the ring at the Coliseum to face Bethea.

It wasn't much of a fight, as fights go. Bethea — bigger, stronger, more canny — overwhelmed his younger opponent.

AHS Harriers Beat Ghosts And Preble

Appleton High School's cross country team won both ends of a split-squad doubleheader from Kaukauna and Preble Tuesday afternoon at Pierce Park.

AHS edged Kaukauna, 26-29, though the Ghosts' Dick Stegeman finished first in 12:08 for the 2.2 mile course. The Terrors' Dennis Brinkman placed second, with Kaukauna's George Pebbles third.

Appleton's Jeff Garrett, Tom Maves and Gary Ahrens took the next three places. Kaukauna's Bill Niesen and Jack Capen were seventh and eighth, respectively. AHS' Paul Schumaker placed ninth, and Kaukauna's Jim Reinke 10th.

AHS beat Preble, 25-32, despite 1-2 finishes by the Hornets' Jon Fordyce (12:29) and Bob Rymer. Appleton took the next five places, with Dennis Schubring, Les Bowers, Dick Popp, Terry Krueger and Dave Lee—in that order.

Two Recent Appointments

Conservation Unit Will Have Eight Claimants to Six Seats

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — When the state conservation commission holds its next regular meeting at Sheboygan Oct. 25, there will be eight claimants to six seats on the body which guides the affairs of the state conservation department and exercises legislative powers in the field of fish and game regulation.

Gov. Reynolds' two recent appointees to the commission to replace two Republican holdover members have been instructed to appear at the meeting and to take part in the deliberations on the basis of their swearing in last week.

But the two holdover members, Chairman Guido Rahr of Manitowoc and Charles Smith of Wausau, both veterans of many terms, have shown no disposition to give up their posts to Martin Hanson of Mellen and Harold Jankowski of Milwaukee, who were named by the governor to succeed them.

Statehouse speculation is that the new and the old commissioners will take part in the meeting, following the precedent in other disputed appointments in the capitol during the last week, and that they will continue to serve until their respective rights are adjudicated.

Atty. Gen. George Thompson has asked the supreme court for leave to bring action to clarify the right of Gov. Reynolds to put his appointees in office without a confirming vote of the state senate.

The conservation commission seats do not involve a salary. Members are paid expenses for their travels on commission work.

But they carry with them considerable prestige, and all recent governors have found the conservation appointments among the most difficult of the patronage problems they have had to resolve.

Hanson and Jankowski are active Democrats. Smith and Rahr are identified Republicans. If they are replaced, the commission will consist entirely of Democratic appointees for the first time in its history of nearly 40 years.

Giants, Browns Hit Hard

Brettschneider Newest Addition To Lions' Growing Injury List

BY MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

William Clay Ford has offered to buy the Detroit Lions of the National Football League for $6 million.

That should just about cover the bill for bandages.

The Lions, given serious consideration as Western Conference title threats, are bogged down with a 2-3 record. And the biggest single factor probably is the ever-growing bandage brigade that has depleted the Lions outstanding defensive corps.

The latest addition to the injury list is Cal Brettschneider, veteran linebacker declared out for the season with torn ligaments in his left knee. The Lions previously had lost defensive halfback Gary Lowe for the season because of a leg injury.

Add to that, Alex Karras, the big tackle sitting out a suspension, and linebacker Wayne Walker, who has a pulled muscle in his leg and reduced to kicking duties in Sunday's 17-14 loss to Dallas. He still may see only limited service this week against Baltimore.

Browns, Giants Hurt

The pro football story is much the same elsewhere. The Cleveland Browns, leading the NFL's Eastern Division with a 5-0 record, and the New York Giants came up with a host of injuries after their clash.

The Browns obtained waivers on linebacker Mike Lucci and put him on the disabled list. He will miss at least four games with cartilage damage in his right knee. As a replacement, the Browns signed former Purdue star Stan Sczurek.

Also listed as doubtful for Sunday's game against Philadelphia are linebacker Galen Fiss, with a pulled muscle in his left leg, and defensive halfback Jim Shorter, with a pulled muscle in his right thigh. The Eagles will be without tackle Frank Fuller, out for the year with a broken leg.

New York back Frank Gifford, who has a strained back, and tackle Jack Stroud, who has a bad knee, may be lost for Sunday's game with Dallas. One of the Cowboys' ace running backs, Don Perkins, likely will see only limited action because of knee trouble.

Among the American League clubs, the Houston Oilers and Denver Broncos are the hardest hit. The Broncos, in fact, are looking to the San Diego taxi squad for a replacement for injured quarterback John McCormick. They hope to get Don Breaux, who played college ball at McNeese State, to back up their only available signal-caller, rookie Mickey Slaughter.

Oilers' Coach Pop Ivy said three players may miss Sunday's game with Buffalo—defensive lineman Johnny Baker, who probably will go on the injury deferred list, fullback Dave Smith and end Willard Dewveall. Billy Cannon already has been placed on the deferred list.

Buffalo received good news when reserve quarterback Daryle LaMonica suffered only a nose cut when his automobile and another car collided. The rookie from Notre Dame required nine stitches.

At the same time, San Francisco halfback Bill Kilmer, who suffered a more serious automobile accident last Dec. 6, took his first workout with the NFL club.

Kilmer suffered a fractured right leg when he drove his car off a freeway, and still limped noticeably as he ran with the team during a punt coverage drill.

"He'll probably start running plays with us tomorrow," said Coach Jack Christiansen. "What his limp will look like after a few days, we can't say.

"But it's good to see him back with us."

Iowa's Krause Takes Over Lead In Big 10 Scoring

CHICAGO (AP)—Senior halfback Paul Krause of Iowa, scoring two touchdowns in the 37-26 victory over Indiana Saturday, has taken over the Big Ten all-games football scoring lead.

Krause has 4 touchdowns for 24 points and holds a slim 4-point lead over Dick Van Raaphorst, Ohio State's great field goal booter.

Van Raaphorst, whose record Big Ten field goal of 49 yards enabled Ohio State to tie Illinois 20-20, has five field goals and five extra points for 20 points. Seven others are tied with 18 points each.

AL 'Manager of Year' Choice To Ralph Houk

White Sox' Al Lopez Is Runnerup in Baseball Writer's Poll

NEW YORK (AP) — Ralph Houk, who guided the New York Yankees to the American League pennant in 1963 despite injuries to star outfielders Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris, was an overwhelming choice as the American League Manager-of-the-Year today.

In the balloting by 71 baseball writers in the annual Associated Press poll, Houk received 58 votes. Al Lopez, pilot of the second-place Chicago White Sox, was the runner-up with six votes. The voting was based on the regular season performances.

Sam Mele of the third-place Minnesota Twins and Chuck Dressen, who took over as Detroit Tiger on June 18 and led them into a fifth-place tie with Cleveland, each collected two votes.

Bill Rigney of the Los Angeles Angels, the AL Manager-of-the-Year in 1962, Johnny Pesky of Boston and Gil Hodges of Washington, had one each.

Since 1961

Houk, the Yanks' leader since 1961 when he replaced Casey Stengel, had his most difficult assignment the past season after Mantle suffered a broken bone in his left foot while chasing a fly ball in Baltimore June 5.

At the time of Mantle's injury the Yanks were tied for first place with the Orioles and White Sox. However, Houk moved Tom Tresh from left field to Mantle's position in center and also got considerable mileage out of John Blanchard, Maris' replacement in right field.

Mantle, who was out of the regular line-up for almost three months, played in only 65 games. Maris, hampered by back and hand injuries, appeared in only 90 games. Despite this, the Yanks won the pennant by 10½ games.

Among Houk's other notable moves was shifting right-hander Jim Bouton into the starting rotation. A reliever in 1962 and during the first month of 1963, Bouton won 21 games.

Lopez, a perennial runner-up, led the White Sox to a 2½-game margin over Minnesota. The performances of rookie third baseman Pete Ward and pitcher Gary Peters, another first year player, were among the noteworthy developments for the Sox.

Willie Pep Added to Ring Hall of Fame

Former Holder Of Featherweight Crown 'Surprised'

NEW YORK (AP) — Willie Pep, a dapper, dandy dancer whose flying hands and feet earned him the world featherweight title and the nickname "Will o' the Wisp," is the latest addition to Boxing's Hall of Fame.

"It is nice news," said Pep when advised of his selection. "I was surprised that I got it now."

Now a sales representative for a radio company in Brockton, Mass., Pep said "I miss boxing very much. It was an exciting life and it gave you a chance to meet a lot of very nice people."

Light-footed Willie, now 41, was one of the fastest, most clever boxers in modern history.

Defeated Wright

He won the featherweight title in 1942 with a 15-round decision over Chalky Wright, in New York, was in military service for two years and retained the crown until the first of his four classic fights with Sandy Saddler.

The lanky Saddler won the first one on a fourth-round knockout in 1948, but Pep regained the title in 1949 with a decision over Saddler. Sandy won the next two on knockouts in 1950 and 1951.

Pep turned pro in 1940 and piled up the amazing record of 62 victories in a row before losing to Sammy Angott in an overweight match. He then won 72 of his next 73 bouts, marred only by a draw.

He was active until 1959 and had an over-all record of 220 victories, one draw and nine losses.

Pep is the 77th member to be named to the Hall since it was formed in 1954. Announcement of his election was made Tuesday by Nat Fleischer, publisher of Ring Magazine and custodian of the Hall.

Friday's Games:
Denmark at Winneconne.
Wrightstown at Omro.
Shiocton at Hilbert.
Reedsville at Hortonville.

Denmark and Winneconne will fight for survival Friday in the Little Nine Conference's "game of the week." In addition to the game at Winneconne, Omro hosts Wrightstown. Shiocton is at Hilbert and Reedsville is at Hortonville.

The team that survives the Denmark-Winneconne duel will either be the lone frontrunner or will take the lone challenging position to Omro's title hopes. The latter is more likely.

Omro winner of five straight since losing its opener to Winneconne, 20-19, and Hilbert will be solid favorites to dump Wrightstown and Shiocton. The Denmark-Winneconne game can be rated a tossup.

Winneconne may have the edge in momentum against Denmark. Following a 20-19 win over Omro in the opener, the Wolves whipped Sevastopool in a non-loop affair, and trimmed Hortonville (36-13). Wrightstown (47-0), and Reedsville (26-6) in that order.

The Leon Rasmussen-led Denmark unit has been sputtering for the last two weeks. After three straight wins (Reedsville, 19-6; Freedom, 27-19; and Shiocton, 31-12), was walloped by Omro, 41-13, and recovered against Hilbert, 13-6.

NBA to Open 18th Campaign Tonight

Same Old Question, Who Will Manage to Defeat Boston '5'

BY BOB GREEN

"Damn right we'll miss him," storms Red Auerbach. "How could we not miss him? How do you lose No. 1 and not feel it?"

Auerbach, fiery coach of the Boston Celtics, was replying to the oft-asked question about how the Celtics are going to do without the services of Bob Cousy, the backcourt ace and team leader of the National Basketball Association champions.

Cousy, the Celtics' "Mr. Basketball" and sparkplug of the team that won a record five straight league championships, has retired after 13 seasons.

Old Question

The absence of the 13-time league all-star, two franchise shifts and a new league commissioner provide a new look to the NBA as the league opens its 18th season.

New look or no, the old question remains: Who's going to beat the Celtics?

They won the Eastern title by 10 games last year and are favored to repeat. Cousy is gone, but the champs still have the great Bill Russell and such standouts as the Jones boys, Same and K. C., Tommy Heinsohn and Tom Sanders. And they've added backcourt ace Willie Naulls.

Cincinnati is expected to give them the most trouble in the East. Los Angeles, defending division champion and loser to Boston in the final round of the playoffs, is favored in the West.

J. Walter Kennedy, who succeeded Maurice Podoloff as league commissioner, has indicated he will run his nine-team circuit with a strong hand. The first game has yet to be played and he already has assessed Auerbach a $500 fine for a flare-up during an exhibition game.

The new franchises are at Philadelphia and Baltimore. Baltimore, out of the league since the 1953-54 season, took over the franchise of the Chicago Zephyrs, while Philadelphia returns to the league after an absence of one year, taking over the Syracuse franchise.

Wisconsin Picked to Win

Longhorns to Fall to Arkansas, Says Writer

BY HAROLD CLAASEN

NEW YORK (AP)—A normal football season usually is made up of an equal number of hills and valleys The Texas University eleven was at the top of the hill last week when it defeated Oklahoma and took over the honor of being rated the nation s No 1 college team

Arkansas was down in the valley, dropping its second of the season The defeat this time was by Baylor and the two setbacks were by a total of five points

This Saturday Arkansas gets revenge just as it did a year ago when the Razorback downed the Longhorns 7-3

That s this week s blue-plate special Last week s menu almost was devoid of attractions with 34 correct picks and 15 losers for 694 That dropped the season's totals to 143-57 for 715

Other selections for the coming weekend

Wisconsin over Iowa Hal Brandt of the Badgers may not outpitch Fred Riddle of Iowa but the Wisconsin star will get the greater help from his teammates

Pittsburgh over West Virginia The West Virginians too big for their own good

Mississippi over Tulane Tulane has been shut out in three of four games this season while Mississippi's potent defense has held three opponents to only 13 points

Illinois over Minnesota The surprising Illini display their talents at homecoming But the Gopher defense, led by Carl Eller, will force Illinois to the limit

A Demonstration

Georgia Tech over Auburn Billy Lothridge of the Engineers can run, pass and kick He'll give Auburn a demonstration in each

Alabama over Tennessee. Both teams were disappointed last weekend but Alabama will recover the more quickly

Navy over Virginia Tech This game features the Oyster Bowl at Norfolk and Roger Staubach the prize pearl of the Middies

Northwestern over Miami of Ohio Tommy Myers finds the range

Air Force over Maryland Terry Isaacson is the difference in an aerial battle

Baylor over Texas Tech Coach John Bridgers has his pro-style offense clicking

Duke over Clemson Duke has to go with all its other riches

Syracuse over Penn State They ll need a mile of bandages after this bruiser A hesitant nod to the home team with its power backfield

FRIDAY

Miami over Georgia

SATURDAY

East Army over Wake Forest Brown over Pennsylvania Buffalo over Boston University Cornell over Yale Dartmouth over Holy Cross Harvard over Columbia Princeton over Colgate, Rutgers over Lehigh

Staubach Gains Yardage at Record Pace

Auburn's Jim Sidle Leads Rushing Offense Statistics

NEW YORK (AP)—Jolly Roger Staubach, Navy s standout junior quarterback, is rambling along at a record pace in two major statistical categories, according to official figures released today by the NCAA Service Bureau

The 190-pounder picked up 235 yards rushing and passing in the loss to Southern Methodist last week and now has a total offense mark of 1 024 for four games for an average of 261 a game It's the first time in history a major college player has gone over 1,000 yards in four games

And his 55 completions in 77 attempts puts him at the top of the passers His completions percentage of 714 is the best ever after four games

Staubach's total offense lead in 264 yards over runner-up Tommy Myers of Northwestern, but his passing mark is less secure. Defending champion Don Trull of Baylor hit 21 of 34 against Arkansas last week and took over the No 2 spot with 51 completions

With 815

Myers leads in passing yardage with 815 Staubach has 742

Jimmy Sidle of Auburn moved into the rushing lead with 434 yards on 64 carries Tom Vaughn of Iowa State is second with 364 yards while last week s leader, Pete Pedro of West Texas State, was out of action with an injury and dropped to third

Preacher Pilot of New Mexico State, who led the nation the last two seasons, made the top 10 for the first time, taking over eighth with 335 yards in four games

Auburn's Jon Kilgore replaced Danny Thomas of SMU as the top punter with an average of 47 3 yards to 45 5

Ernie Green Takes Pressure Off Cleveland's Jim Brown

CLEVELAND (AP) — Ernie Green, one of the men playing the halfback spot the Cleveland Browns had hoped the late Ernie Davis would fill, has proved to be worth a seventh draft choice for which he was acquired from the Green Bay Packers

In fact, off his performance in the Browns' 35-24 triumph over the New York Giants Sunday, he has established himself as a breakaway threat and has taken some of the heat off the great Jim Brown

Green, 25, is 6-foot-2 and weighs 205 pounds He used those pounds to good advantage against the Giants, gaining 66 yards, on 11 carries He also caught a pass for a seven-yard gain

A Threat

But it was the type of running rather than the yardage that impressed the Browns. Green hasn't been a slasher, but he made yards against the Giants even when the Browns' line couldn't make a hole for him

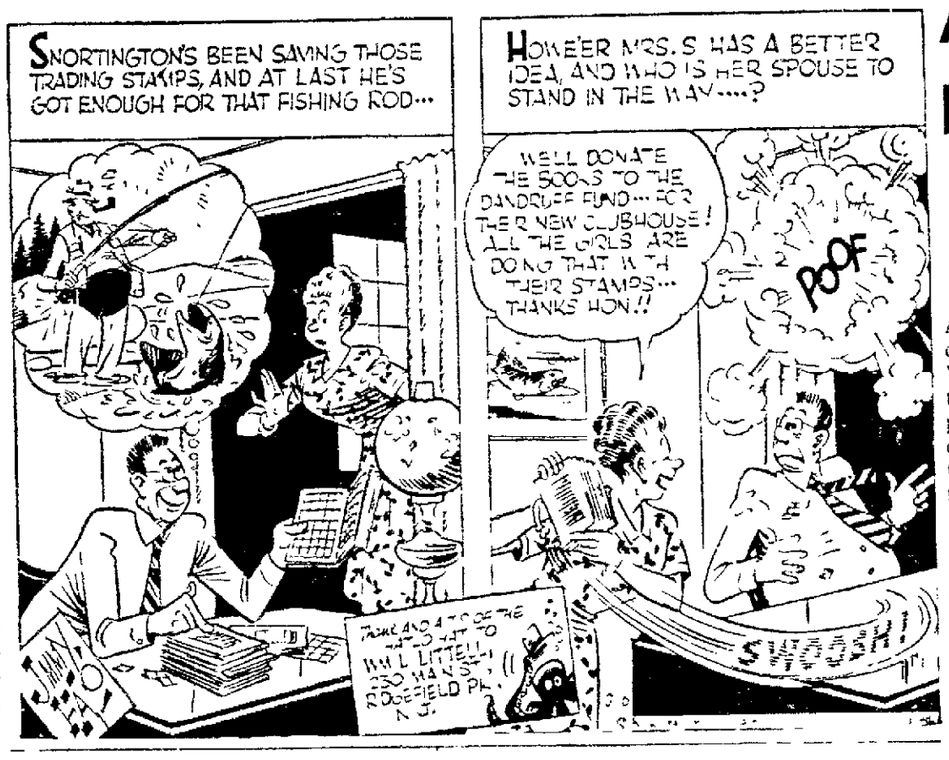

"We felt that we had to establish Ernie as a threat right away against New York," Coach Blanton Collier said Tuesday.

Green came to the Browns in the summer of 1962 when it was learned Davis had leukemia and wouldn't be playing pro football In the regular season that year, he saw only intermittent service, rushing for 139 yards and grabbing passes for 194.

Unsure of Green's potential, the Browns traded tackle Floyd Peters to the Detroit Lions for veteran halfback Ken Webb. Webb did a good job for Cleveland this season until he severely bruised some ribs in the second game against Dallas

Green started the next game against Los Angeles He will be in the starting line-up when the Browns play Philadelphia here Sunday, trying to make their record 6-0.

Aaron Edges Mays For NL Slugging Crown

Harmon Killebrew Captures His First American Loop Title

NEW YORK (AP) — Hank Aaron of the Milwaukee Braves edged San Francisco s Willie Mays in winning his second National League slugging championship and Harmon Killebrew of the Minnesota Twins captured his first American League title

Aaron the 1959 slugging king collected 370 total bases in 631 times at bat for a 586 mark according to figures compiled by The Associated Press He had 201 hits including 29 doubles 4 triples and 44 homers the latter total tying him for the NL lead with Willie McCovey of the Giants

Mays had a 582 slugging mark on 347 total bases in 596 at bats counting 32 doubles 7 triples and 38 homers among 187 hits Mays is a three-time slugging champion in 1954, 1955 and 1957

286 Total Bases

Killebrew piled up 286 total bases in 515 times at bat for a 555 average The Twins outfielder led the AL with 45 homers

Bob Allison, another Minnesota outfielder, was the American League runner up with 517 He was followed by Elston Howard New York Yankees 528 Dick Stuart, Boston 521 rookie Jim Hall Minnesota 520 and Al Kaline, Detroit 514

Following Mays in the National League were two other Giants

McCovey the big first baseman was third with 19 doubles 5 triples and 44 homers among 158 hits in 564 tries for a 566 slugging average

Orlando Cepeda was fourth with 563 Then came Frank Howard Los Angeles Dodgers 516 Vada Pinson Cincinnati 514 and Johnny Callison Philadelphia 500

Stan Musial of St Louis who announced his retirement during the final month of the season collected 136 total bases in 1963 and extended his major league career record to 6 471 His slugging average the past season was 404

Slugging records are compiled by dividing total bases accumulated on all hits by the number of times at bat

Thursday s Games
Kaukauna at Roosevelt
Kimberly at Menasha
Wilson at Neenah

Kaukauna and Roosevelt will open here Thursday afternoon in a game likely to be the championship game of the season in the Fox Valley Freshman Football League

Both teams will enter the tilt with Kaukauna having the clearest path to the title if the Cardinals can defeat Roosevelt Thursday on the Roosevelt gridiron

The junior Ghosts are slated to face Menasha and Madison both with three losses this fall in the final two weeks of play Roosevelt has to play arch rival Wilson and once beaten Neenah

The Kaukauna attack features the hard running of Joe Schouten Jr while the versatile Roosevelt II combines the running of Jim Kloes and Alvin Hall and the passing of Steve Englert

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

20 Baffling Magic Tricks Go to Color Contest Winner

BY CAPPY DICK

Twenty baffling magic tricks—enough to stage a complete magic show — will be awarded to each boy or girl who wins a national prize in today's easy count-and-color contest.

Five Hocus Pocus Magic sets manufactured by the S. S. Adams company, one of the nation's oldest makers of magical equipment, will be awarded. Included among the 20 tricks are such famous masterpieces as the linking rings and the mysterious rice bowls which change rice to water. All are bafflers but easy to perform if you follow the directions.

In addition, a separate magic trick will be awarded as the local prize in this contest. This is the mystifying pop bottle trick and five will be given away, one to each boy or girl who sends in one of the five most neatly prepared, original, correct entries from the Fox Valley area. Entries winning local prizes will be entered automatically in the national judging where they will compete with local winners from all other cities where this column is published. The five neatest and most original of all will win the big Hocus Pocus Magic Sets.

The pop bottle trick itself is a wonderful piece of magic. The equipment and directions will enable a prize winner to fill a soft drink bottle with water, turn it upside down and, without spilling any of the water, insert a match stick into the mouth of the bottle and cause it to float upward. Think of the fun you could have with this trick alone!

To take part in today's contest, do these things: Count all the birds in the picture above. Clip out the picture. Paste it on paper or a postal card. Print the number of birds beneath it, together with your name, age and address. Decorate your entry with your paints, crayons or cutouts in any neat, original way. Address it to Cappy Dick's Midweek Contest at this paper and mail it before midnight of day after tomorrow.

Names of the winners will be published here. They will receive their prizes by mail. Judges' decisions will be final. All entries become Cappy Dick's property; none can be returned.

Four Preps Launched In School Talent Show

Lawrence College Students Bringing Popular Singing Foursome to Appleton

When the Four Preps step out onto Lawrence Memorial Chapel stage at 8:15 p.m. Thursday night, Oct. 24, they'll perform a lot differently that when they made their appearance a short eight years ago at a Hollywood High School student talent show.

The popular recording and stage artists are being sponsored in Appleton by the Lawrence College student executive committee. Tickets for the community program are available at Belling Pharmacy.

They were the only boys on the program back in 1955 and the foursome had to be persuaded to appear on the high school show. Thirty-five girls, but not one boy had tried out for the talent show. The four were the only boys in the school the faculty could persuade to take part. Glenn Larson, spokesman for The Preps, admits they "were terrible, but a smash hit anyway because they were the only boys on the program."

From then on they were in demand for every free entertainment and they improved so much with the constant practice that they became nationally famous. In 1957, when they began recording for Capitol Records, they were the youngest vocal group on a major record label.

Early Record Hits

Contrary to what seems to be the rule for teen-age songsters, their careers didn't end with one big hit. Their first recording, "Dreamy Eyes," was a success in 1957, but their million-selling "26 Miles" made them national celebrities in 1958.

Soon "Big Man" followed, almost overtaking "26 Miles" and definitely nudging their acclaim and recognition as the most promising vocal group of 1958 in a national magazine poll.

There have been other hits—"Down by the Station", "Big Surprise", "Lazy Summer Night", "Got A Girl" and "Cinderella" (which they sang in the motion picture "Gidget") proving that The Preps are popular with the jukebox crowd.

Transition Smooth

But what has made The Preps a phenomenon is that they've grown up in show business—without passing through "that awkward stage."

By mid-summer of 1961, when their smash album, "The Four Preps on Campus," became a national best-seller, it was apparent that The Preps had smoothly matriculated to college and adult audiences.

Important Boosts

In their brief career they've appeared on Ed Sullivan's show four times. Ernie Ford six times, Ozzie and Harriet, another six, and Dick Clark's show 14 times—perhaps a record. In addition, they've played almost every major state fair in the country and all of the top night clubs including Los Angeles' Cocoanut Grove, Hollywood's Crescendo, Reno's Riverside Hotel, San Francisco's Facks II, The Dunes Hotel, Las Vegas and Harrah's Club, Lake Tahoe.

Their college appearances have taken them to every state of the union, leaving broken attendance records in their wake. Recently at the University of Minnesota, University of British Columbia, University of Illinois and University of South Dakota they broke all existing attendance records.

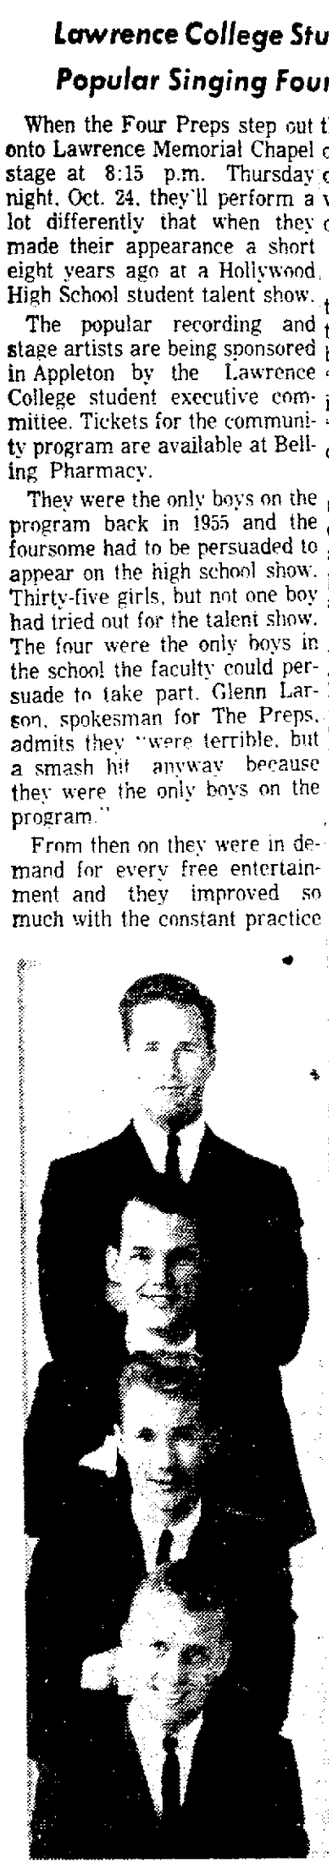

Bruce Belland, Glen Larson, Marvin Ingram and Ed Cobb were primarily interested in athletics, and sundry things other than singing during their Hollywood High days.

Hollywood Athletes

Ed was an All-City football player, Marvin won letters in basketball (and crew later at UCLA), and Glen and Bruce were track stars. Their records in the 440 and 100-yard dash, respectively, still stand at Hollywood High.

Glen and Ed attended Los Angeles City College until their career monopolized their time. Marvin and Bruce attended UCLA, Marvin long enough to nail down a bachelor's degree.

Of the four, only Ed is a native of Hollywood. Glen was born in Long Beach, Marv in Shreveport, La., and Bruce in Chicago.

The Four Preps will appear at Lawrence Memorial Chapel at 8:15 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 24, under the sponsorship of the Lawrence College student executive committee.

Harve Presnell, Who Hails from a Modesto, Calif., ranch, goes through a wagon scene with Debbie Reynolds for the new film musical "The Unsinkable Molly Brown." Presnell is making his movie debut in a leading role. He is a successful opera baritone who switched to Broadway for the stage version of "Molly," then got the same part in the movie. (AP Wirephoto)

Columbus, Spy Top TV Today

BY TV SCOUT

8-9 (Channel 4-5) — A drama and a documentary are both worth staying home to watch. Espionage's "The Incurable One" will hold you from start to finish. It is beautifully acted by Steven Hill and Ingrid Thulin with story and photography to match. Hill plays an American espionage agent who is following — and eventually catches — Miss Thulin.

9-10 (Channel 11) — The Saga of Western Man is probably ABC's most ambitious undertaking in the documentary area. There will be four programs in the set, each focusing on a key year in Western man's advance. The first of these is "1492." As it details how 1492 brought changes in art, politics and geography, scene after scene will captivate you. It was filmed on location in Italy, Spain and the high seas. Much time, of course, is devoted to Columbus' saga, with Fredric March as Columbus' voice. (Color)

6:30-7:30 (Channel 2) — The historic live trans - Atlantic discussion of The Christian Revolution, telecast via Telstar yesterday morning, will be repeated. This international town meeting involved church dignitaries in Rome, London and Princeton, N.J.

8-8:30 (Channel 2) — The Beverly Hillbillies has an episode which even anti - Beverly Hillbillies people may enjoy. Elly May (Donna Douglas) is enrolled in a finishing school, a fate even she doesn't deserve.

8-9 (Channel 11) — Ben Casey begins a two-parter, which is like buying two bars of soap for the price of one. This is pure soap opera, with a bit of medicine tossed in. Beau Bridges (Lloyd's son) needs an operation or he'll die. His father, Barry Sullivan, is a health nut and refuses to grant permission. In another room in the hospital, Beau's estranged wife is having a baby.

8:30-9 (Channel 2) — The Dick Van Dyke Show, which hasn't been as inspired so far this season as last, has one funny scene in this tale of the second marriage of Rob and Laura (Mary Tyler Moore). They find a minister (Russell Collins) and demand a ceremony.

9-10 (Channel 2) — Mary Tyler Moore pops up again on The Danny Kaye Show, adding a nice touch to an already pleasant hour. Highlights: Danny singing "S'posin'", Danny and Mary Tyler in a series of skits showing how the same situation comedy would be played around the world, and Eddie Foy Jr. and some skillful soft shoe work.

9-10 (Channel 4-5) — The Eleventh Hour has a fine study of senile psychosis, which will hit home in every household where there is the problem of an aged relative. Ann Harding plays the grandmother here, with Robert Lansing and Jacqueline Scott the younger generation.

Senior Commended For Scholarship Test

KAUKAUNA — Thomas Kiffe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Kiffe, 702 Blackwell St., a senior at Kaukauna High School, has been commended for his high performance in the National Merit Scholarship qualifying test given last March.

Semi-finalists and commended students constitute about two per cent of all high school seniors in the county. Names of commended students are sent to the two colleges they indicated as their preferred choices at the time they took the qualifying tests.

Drugs Pace Mixed Market

Dow Jones Average Up 1.07 at Noon, Now Reads 743.26

NEW YORK (AP) — Drugs were strong in a mixed stock market early this afternoon. Trading was moderately active.

Gains and losses of most key stocks were fractional but some blue chips were off more sharply.

Goodrich was down 2 and Du Pont more than a point.

Gains of a point or better were made by a number of drugs.

Aside from the drugs, however, there was no apparent leadership to the market which analysts believed still to be undergoing consolidation near its recent highs.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .4 at 278.4 with industrials up .5, rails up .1 and utilities up .3.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 1.07 at 743.26.

Losses of some pivotal stocks after the averages were compiled, however, indicated a mixed rather than a higher market.

Among the drugs, Parke, Davis gained about 2. Pfizer rose more than 2. Gains exceeding a point were scored by Merck, Schering and Upjohn.

Chrysler was up a fraction. Ford was steady. General Motors and American Motors eased.

Despite soaring prices for sugar commodity futures, the sugar stocks were mixed as profits were taken on their recent strength.

Radio Corp. touched a new high as it spurted more than 2. Zenith advanced more than a point. IB and U.S. Smelting added about a point each. Xerox 2. Polaroid fell 1 point. Prices were higher on the American Stock Exchange.

Corporate bonds were mixed. U.S. government bonds were unchanged to slightly lower.

Bonduel Livestock

Calves — Steady. Choice to prime 30.00 to 32.00; good to choice 25.00 to 29.00; standard to good 18.00 to 21.00; throw-outs 17.00 and down.

Cattle — Steady. Canners and cutters 11.50 to 14.00; utility cows 14.00 to 15.50.

Dairy Heifers — Steady. Utility to commercial 17.00 to 18.00; canners and cutters 15.00 to 16.50.

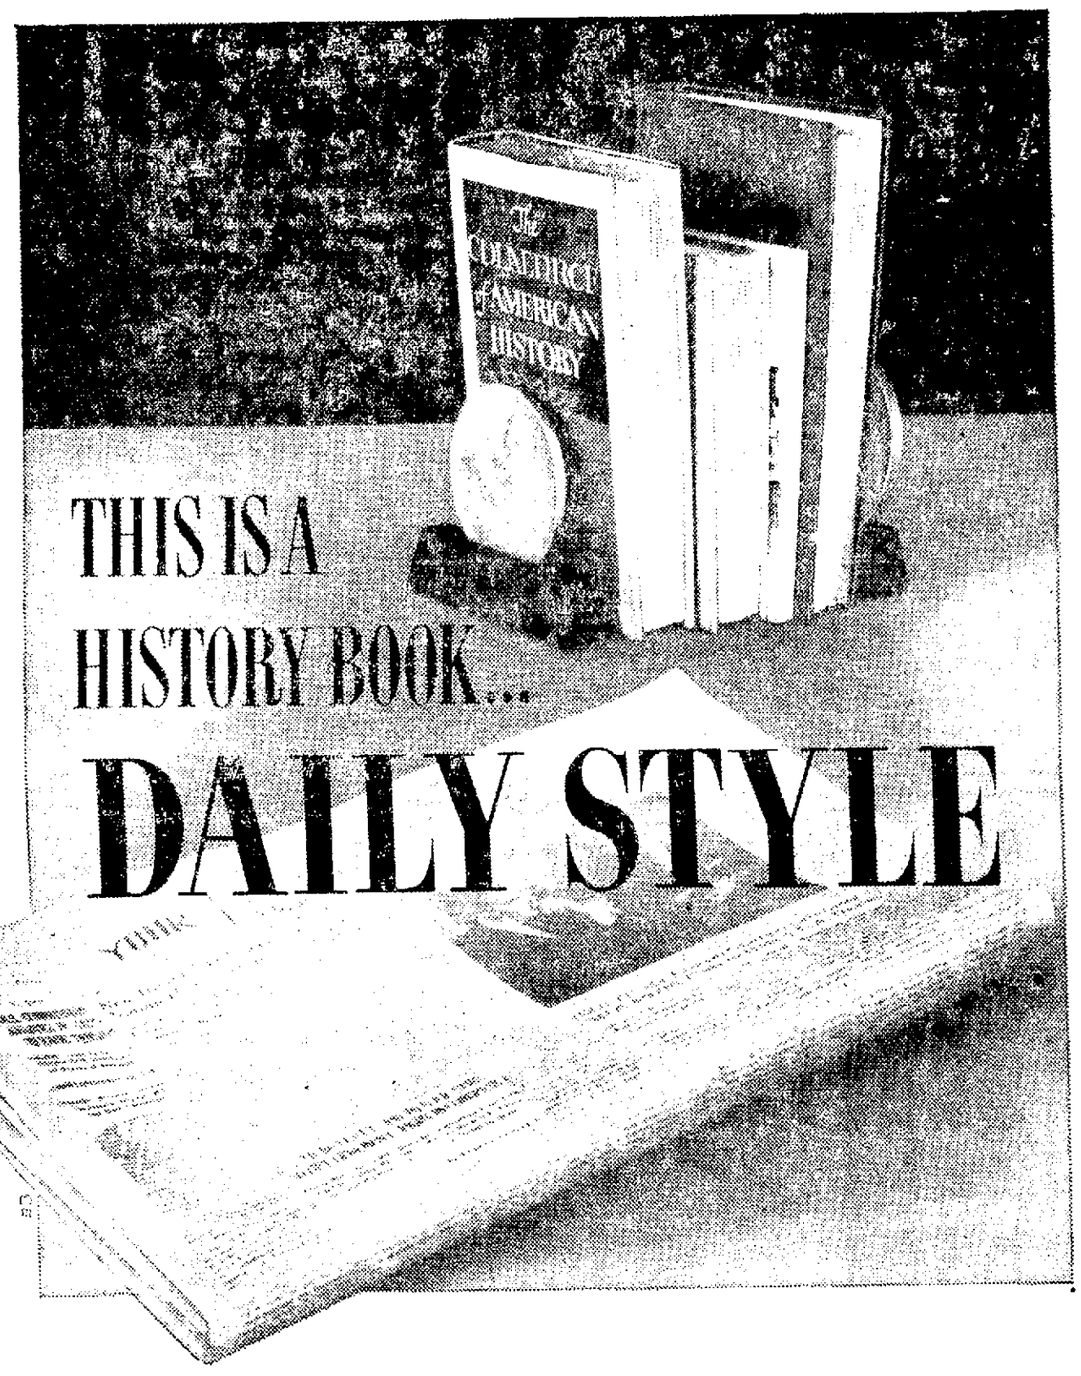

Bulls — Weak. Cuters and utility 15.00 to 17.50; commercials 18.00 to 18.50.

Hogs — Steady. Butchers, 190-240 lbs., 14.75 to 16.00 15.75; sows 12.00 to 14.50; Boars 10.50 to 11.00; stags 10.50 to 13.00.

The living record of history as it happens is at your finger tips every day — in your daily newspaper. It tells you in words what is going on, and it shows you who makes news — and how they do it — in pictures.

WORLD EVENTS

World happenings, as well as national, state and local events are recorded in depth and detail, for your hasty scanning or leisurely study. And, like other history books, all is permanently recorded for future reference.

Thousands of trained, alert journalists throughout America and around the world search out the news that it is your right to know. They dig out the facts to keep you informed. And your newspaper, through its wire services and its own editorial staff, produces your daily history book.

There is one thing that everyone, everywhere has in common, and that is the constant hunger for news. It is a hunger which must be satisfied every day — a hunger which is expressed in this one absorbing question — What's happening today?.

LOCAL NEWS

You must know what is happening in your own town. You must know what is happening in politics, sports and society. You must know what is happening in your city hall, in Washington, in the capitals of Europe.

You can depend on your newspaper for complete, objective news reporting. It's the best way to keep abreast of all the news, every day.

Russians Detain British Convoy for Nine Hours

Algerians Flock to Barracks After Call For Mobilization

BY MICHAEL GOLDSMITH

ALGIERS (AP) — Thousands of Algerians streamed into army barracks today in answer to President Ahmed Ben Bella's general mobilization decree to meet the threat of war with Morocco.

The mobilization decree was issued Tuesday night after more fighting in the disputed outposts after two days of bloody skirmishes.

Ben Bella ordered all former soldiers — estimated to total 30,000 — to report for army service. At the same time efforts continued to negotiate a settlement of the dispute

Those who answered the mobilization call included numerous young volunteers carried away by the officially whipped-up war fever. Many were clearly too young ever to have fought against the French.

Algerian sources said Ben Bell's call to arms was answered "with spontaneous enthusiasm" Several thousand men reported at the former French Orleans barracks in Algiers

War Not Likely

Despite the atmosphere of crisis, it seemed unlikely that the governments would allow the dispute to degenerate into war.

Mohammed Yazid, former Algerian information minister, and Slimane Hoffman, an aide of Defense Minister Col. Houari Boumedienne, flew back to Algiers Tuesday night after a day of talks in Marrakech with King Hassan II of Morocco and other Moroccan leaders.

The two emissaries immediately went into conference with Ben Bella. They took off again at dawn to resume their talks in Marrakech.

There was no official word on the negotiations, but informed sources said little real progress had been made.

Reports from the Sahara said fighting had subsided.

Republicans Hit Kennedy Deals With Russians

National Chairman Sees Possibility Of 'Connivery'

BY JACK BELL

WOSHINGTON —(AP)— With the election still 13 months off, the political guns already are zeroing in on their targets. President Kennedy's dealings with Russia are in the center of the crossfire.

Republican National Chairman William E. Miller rolled up the GOP artillery Tuesday night at a fund-raising birthday party for former President Dwight D. Eisenhower. There may be "connivery" in Kennedy's moves, Miller said

Defended By Johnson

Manning the defenses for the administration earlier in the day was Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson "It is possible," Johnson told a Liberal party rally in New York "to lower world tensions without lowering our guard."

A frequently applauding array of Republican notables heard Miller say that many people are wondering "what really lies behind these moves to conciliate and cohabit with the Soviets in nuclear affairs, commercial transactions and space exploration"

When Eisenhower was in office, Miller said, the people were never "worried over the possibility of secret deals, private understandings and connu-

Park Elected President of South Korea

Spokesman for Rival Party Virtually Concedes His Victory

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — Gen. Chung Hee Park, who seized control of South Korea in a military coup two years ago, has won the presidency through a general election, unofficial returns showed today.

Hour before, a spokesman of ex-President Yun Po-sun's Civil Rule Party had virtually conceded victory to the strongman, who resigned his commission to campaign, but remained chief of the ruling junta.

The party's spokesman, Kim Yung-sam, saidiin an informal statement: "We apologize to the people who fought to the end despite various bad laws and other obstacles in this election."

Urges Unity

Meanwhile, a spokesman of Park's Democratic Republic party issued a brief statement saying: "The presidential election battle is over. We all should let bygones be bygones and be united in our work at building the Third Republic."

While neither party made any flat statement of concession or victory, unofficial counts gave Park nearly a 100,000-vote lead.

Tabulations by South Korea's government-run radio network gave Park 4,471,300 votes to 4,379,084 for Yun.

But votes for three minor anti-government candidates totaled 780,201, demonstrating that a majority of South Korea's voters oppose Park's military-dominated regime.

In earlier returns, the lead shifted back and forth between Park and Yun.

Yun, 67, candidate of the Civil Rule party and slashing critic of Park's military regime, went into hiding as the ballots were counted. He obviously feared Park's military backers would arrest him.

It seemed apparent that the final tabulation would not end the fierce struggle between the military leaders who have ruled Korea for 29 months and the civilian politicians they displaced in the May 16, 1961, coup.

Royce, Ex-President Of Platteville College, Dies in Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Asa M. Royce, president of Platteville State Teachers College for more than a quarter century, died Tuesday in Deaconess Hospital. He was 86.

A native of Oconto, Royce was graduated from Oshkosh State Teachers College and the University of Wisconsin. He was principal of Oconto public schools from 1897 until 1907, when he became head of the normal school at Superior.

Royce was named president of the Platteville college in 1916 and held the post until his retirement in 1942. He was prominent in civic affairs and was a past governor of the Wisconsin and Upper Michigan Kiwanis district.

Gen. Harkins Unhurt During Crash Landing

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—A transport plane carrying Gen. Paul D. Harkins, commander of U.S. forces in South Viet Nam, made a wheels-up crash landing today. U.S. officials said Harkins and others aboard the plane were not hurt.

Authorities said the pilot neglected to lower the retracted landing gear.

Probe Charges Of Ticket-Fixng

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The police and sheriff's departments began investigations Tuesday into a judge's reports that the way had been left open for officers to fix moving traffic violation tickets.

Sheriff Michael Wolke said, "The way names were flying around, it could take quite a while for us to finish. So far we corroborated some of the information on one of our deputies"

Wolke said four deputies were questioned Tuesday when the names of "several deputies and four police officers" came up He said three more deputies and two civilians were called for interviews today.

The sheriff ordered the investigation after he received information about ticket fixing from Circuit Judge John L. Coffey, who is conducting a John Doe investigation.

Stauffer, Monticello Assemblyman, Dies

MONTICELLO (AP)—C. M Stauffer, 67, Republican Assemblyman from Monticello, died in a Monroe hospital Tuesday after suffering an apparent stroke in his home.

Stauffer became ill shortly after the 1963 Legislature convened in January and did not take an active role in the session. He was the second Republican assemblyman to die since the Legislature recessed in August. Hugh Harper, R-Lancaster, died Aug. 8.

Illinois Town in Fear of Arsonist

Man Telephones Threats to Set Off 4 Additional Fires

MONMOUTH, Ill. (AP) — An arsonist believed responsible for setting three fires in this college town Monday, has threatened to set off four additional fires unless his demands are met

Authorities seeking the arsonist, apparently a man with a grudge, said the man telephoned Mrs. Allan Walters, wife of Monmouth's mayor, Tuesday night with his latest threat to burn down the town.

"There will be no more fires set tonight," Mrs. Walters quoted the mysterious caller.

City Patrolled

"But if the pottery works tomorrow you can expect that four fires will be set tomorrow night."

Tuesday night passed without any fires as arm guards, including National Guardsmen and state troopers, Monmouth police and college students, patrolled the city to prevent a repetition of Monday's fires

The three big fires Monday destroyed two lumber yards and half of a block-long factory building with losses estimated from $280,000 to $400,000.

Hospital Guarded

Closely guarded throughout the night were the Monmouth hospital and a nursing home for the aged

Authorities said the pottery to which the mysterious caller referred in his call to Mrs Walters is the Western Stoneware Company, against which the arsonist apparently has a grudge.

Earlier Tuesday, Mrs. Vincent Romano, wife of Mon-

BY CARL HARFTMAN

BONN, Germany (AP)—Ludwig Erhard, who directed West Germany's miraculous postwar economic recovery, was elected chancellor today to succeed Konrad Adenauer

West Germany's lower house, the Bundestag, voted 279-180 to elevate the 66-year-old Erhard to the top government spot left vacant by Adenauer's reluctant retirement Tuesday There were 24 abstentions and one invalid vote

250 Votes Needed

Erhard needed 250 votes to win His Christian Democrats were joined by their partners in the coalition government, the Free Democrats The Socialists voted against him

The chancellor will go before the Bundestag later today to take the oath of office. He will present his new Cabinet to President Heinrich Luebke Thursday.

Erhard has been economics minister throughout Adenauer's tenure as West Germany's only chancellor since the Federal Republic was created in 1949 Adenauer made no secret that he felt Erhard incapable of filling his shoes. He retired at 87 only under extreme pressure from other leaders of his party

Wants Tensions Needed

Erhard has promised to follow Adenauer's basic foreign policies of support for the Western Alliance, demand for German reunification and reconciliation with France.

But he is expected to show less resistance to U.S. efforts to ease cold war tensions and to open up the European Common Market to trade with the rest of the free world. That will be the big difference.

Barring the unexpected, Erhard will serve the two years until the 1965 general election.

Space Ban Due on Nuclear Weapons

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Full support from the United States and the Soviet Union assured overwhelming U N. approval today of a ban on orbiting nuclear weapons in space.

The 111-nation political committee called a special meeting to rush through a resolution sponsored by the United States, the Soviet Union and 15 other countries, outlawing nuclear-armed satellites. Committee adoption makes General Assembly passage a formality.

Vehicles Proceed After Commander Stands Firm In Resisting Demand

BERLIN (AP) — A British convoy held up on the Berlin Autobahn by the Russians today moved westward, a British spokesman announced

The British spokesman said the convoy continued its interrupted journey "on our terms"

That meant the British refused the Soviet demand for the British soldiers to dismount to be counted.

The convoy of nine vehicles, carrying 28 men, was stopped by the Soviets at Babelsberg, their checkpoint just outside Berlin where a U S convoy was blockaded last week

It was kept waiting nine hours until the Russians gave up their insistence on men dismounting and lifted the barriers for it to proceed

Second Checkpoint

The convoy still had to go, through a second Soviet checkpoint at Marienborn, at the border of West Germany on the western end of the superhighway.

It was still a question whether the Russians would repeat their delaying tactics at Marienborn.

The British said the Soviet blockade was deliberate and protested vigorously The U S State Department had suggested the American convoy was held up by confusion at the local level

Traffic Continues

The scene was the same for both incidents, the checkpoint at Babelsberg within sight of Berlin

The halting of the convoy did not interfere with civilian traffic on the 110-mile autobahn between Berlin and West Germany

It was understood that the Soviets demanded that the British soldiers get out of their vehicles and line up to be counted The British convoy commander refused.

Similar Demand on U.S.

The Russians made the same demand of a U.S. convoy last week on the autobahn and the American commander similarly refused. A serious crisis resulted, but the Russians finally lifted their blockade.

The Western allies allow the Russians to count the troops aboard large convoys but refuse to permit head checks of small convoys, contending that the convoys' travel papers are sufficient.

British authorities in Berlin appeared convinced that the stopping of the convoy today was part of a Soviet plan. Informants said the British au-

Private Income Up $1.5 Billion In September

Reaches Annual Record Rate of $466.5 Billion

WASHINGTON (AP) — Personal income jumped by almost a record annual rate of $466.5 billion, the government reported today

The Commerce Department's Office of Business Economics said the September figure was $21 billion, or 4 5 per cent, higher than for the same month last year.

Nearly all of the August-to-September increase was in wages and salaries. Part of it reflected increased payrolls under the new federal minimum wage law effective Sept. 3

The bureau said that since February, when there was a slight dip, personal income has advanced by an average of $2 billion a month The increase during the third quarter averaged $1 25 billion a month

The third - quarter increase was just half the $2.5 billion average monthly gain reported during the second quarter

Factory payrolls hit an annual rate of $99 billion in September, about one-third of a billion higher than in August.

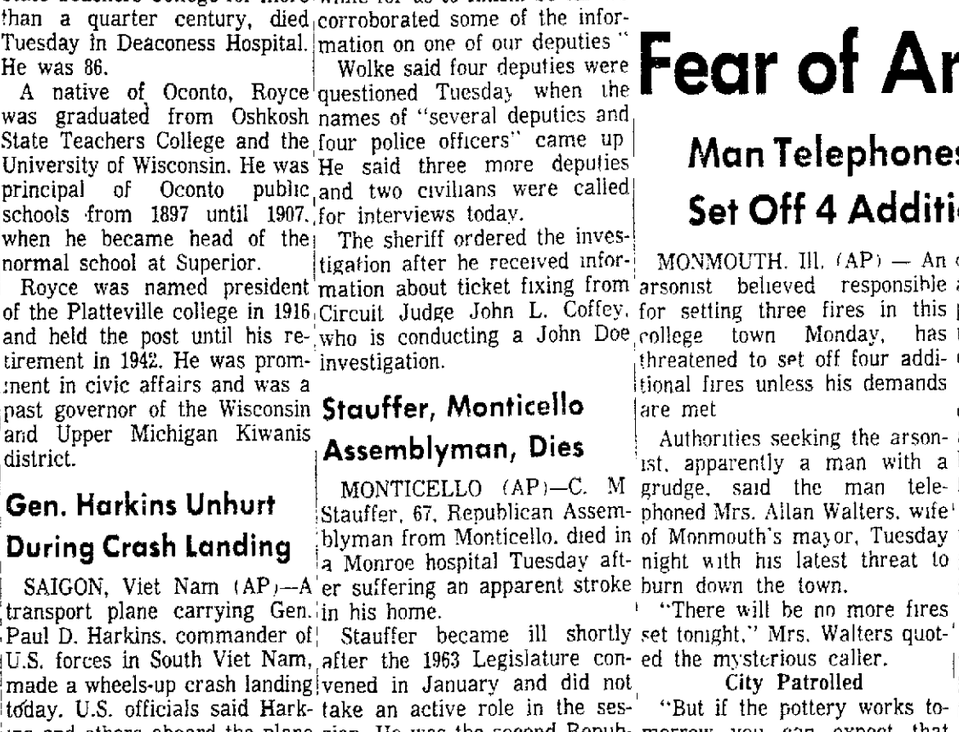

Guard Arrested On Arson Charge

NEW YORK (AP)—A guard at a children's home on Staten Island was arrested on an arson charge today several hours after a fire forced about 350 boys to flee

The guard ran into a blazing unoccupied building with a fire extinguisher and was carried out unconscious from smoke inhalation

The guard, who recovered quickly, was quoted by officials as saying he had 'problems at home" but did not know why he set fire to the four-story building

None of the boys was reported injured. They fled from three dormitories at Mount Loretto, run by the New York City Catholic Charities. The fire, which for a time threatened the dormitories, was in the boys' section of the campus-like grounds. The home has about 850 children

BY BEN FUNK

The day: Thursday, Sept. 26, 1963. The exact time: Unknown The place: The tropical Atlantic, 3,000 miles southeast of the Florida coast

The day is hot, sultry, oppressive. The wind blows in fitful gusts. The heaving sea is gray and sluggish as molten lead.

A whiff of warm, damp air rises from the sea, like smoke drifting up a chimney. Other air takes its place and is caught in the updraft. Very, very slowly, an air column grows.

Rising, the warm air expands and cools. The water in it condenses and falls. Heat is released, adding energy to the thing that has formed.

Affected by the spinning of the earth, the air begins to revolve around a hollow center.

Erratically, the darkening column begins to drift westward with the trade winds.

Orbiting over the South Atlantic on Sept. 26, the Tiros 7 weather satellite photographed a poorly organized circular motion in a cloud mass.

A tropical disturbance formed and started spinning westward over the Atlantic 3,000 miles southeast of Florida. It developed into hurricane Flora, the most devastating storm recorded in the Caribbean area The following article traces its birth, growth and effects.

Forecasters mark this down as an "area of suspicion" and plan to keep an eye on it.

FRIDAY, SEPT. 27

1:30 p.m. Tiros sends another picture of the same cloud mass. It has moved 400 miles westward.

For two days, there are no further reports. There is little ship traffic in that area

SUNDAY, SEPT. 29

6 p m. The captain of a ship 350 miles east of Trinidad reports he is encountering light squalls and rising seas. His barometer is falling.

MONDAY, SEPT. 30

10 a.m The hurricane hunter thrusts his plane through the "wall of the eye" of a small but tightly wound and "very dangerous" hurricane. It is moving fast toward the island of Tobago.

Tobago has two hours to prepare. The eye of the hurricane reaches the coast at noon.

Houses collapse under the 100-mile-an-hour winds. Torrential rain triggers floods. Towering tides bury the beaches. Seventeen islanders die.

'Wait Until Airport Study Is Complete,' Steinhilber Urges

Winnebago Attorney Says Port Ought to Stay in Operation

NEENAH — Winnebago County Dist. Atty. Jack Steinhilber, Monday defended before a Neenah club luncheon the permanency of the Winnebago airport, the rejection of the Leigh Fisher report findings and urged Outagamie county officials to hold off action on bids on their proposed airport until they see the results of a Winnebago airport study.

Conceding that the economic future of the Fox Valley depends upon having an up to date airport with adequate facilities, he cited statistics and study reports covering the safety, usage and size of the Winnebago airport which would indicate that it should stay in operation

Heavy Use

According to statistics compiled by the Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) Steinhilber said that the Oshkosh terminal ranks eighth in passenger total of 73 airports served by North Central Airlines, fifth of all Wisconsin passenger originating terminals, second in state mail and cargo generating total service and third in passenger total of 48 ports served only by North Central.

The Winnebago airport "generates more passengers to points beyond North Central's systems than do Appleton, Clintonville or Green Bay," he said.

He said that 90 per cent of the Oshkosh passenger traffic is to Milwaukee or Chicago, but quoted statistics which indicated that their east-west, and north traffic compares favorably with the Green Bay airport and other local terminals.

Discounting the possibility of moving Winnebago air service farther north so as to hook up with the area covered by the Outagamie terminal, Steinhilber said. "Fifty per cent of our passengers come from above Oshkosh and 50 per cent come from the city and areas south."

More Flights

However, he did say that the consolidation of Outagamie airport flights with the Oshkosh terminal would give more flights and a better schedule to Winnebago and enable the use of more Convairs (North Central's fastest craft).

He added that the Winnebago airport has two runways over 5,000 feet long, facilities for plane maintenance and housing, facilities for passenger convenience, and up to date control tower and an all weather instrument landing system almost ready for service, to meet with CAB requirements.

Winnebago county turned down the findings of the 1960 Leigh Fischer report, of Outagamie county, because "we were in the midst of an extensive state and federal aid improvement program for which the county's share had been committed in 1958 and 1959," he said.

Fischer's report indicated that a regional airport serving both Winnebago and Outagamie counties should be located west of Neenah.

"The aviation committee carefully reviewed the Fischer report," Steinhilber said, "and set forth the reasons why Winnebago County could not pursue the suggested course of action.

He said that he understood that Outagamie was to open bids for the construction of their proposed new airport, today.

"I would hope that they would hold off on awarding bids until the results of our long range airport planning report are completed," he said.

This study, according to Steinhilber, will cost $12,500 and will report on the needs for the Fox Valley area in long-range airport service.

$1.5 Million Investment

Further emphasizing the impractability of switching airports or abandoning the present Winnebago facilities, he noted the cost of the present terminal.

"County, state, federal and private investors have put $1,573,000 into the airport since 1958 and a total of $2,413,049," he said.

Steinhilber however, did stress that Winnebago County officials would be more than willing to meet with officials of Outagamie or any neighboring county to discuss mutual problems concerning an airport or other matter.

Illinois Man to Face Charges in Chicago

WAUPACA—William R. Tregler, 25, Chicago, who has been in the county jail since Aug. 23, was ordered released to Illinois authorities Monday afternoon by Judge Wendell McHenry in County Court.

Retreat House Master Will Deliver Talk For Marion Dinner

CLINTONVILLE — The Rev. James Keller, OFM Cap, of the Monte Alverno Retreat House, Appleton, will speak at the Landing Day banquet of the Msgr. John J. Loerke Knights of Columbus Council No. 1922 at 7 p.m. Sunday at St. Mary Church, Marion.

The Rev. Mr. Keller is the retreat master at the house. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Keller, route 2, Marion.

Mrs. Keller is the banquet chairman. Dr. William McInnis and Murray Meyer, Marion, are co-chairmen of arrangements.

Supervisors Told Port Bids Are $473,000 Saving

$1,143,648 Greenville Facility Let at Favorable Building Time

Bids totaling $1,143,648 for the Outagamie County Airport to be constructed in the Town of Greenville represent $473,000 saving, Mark Catlin, chairman of the airport committee, told the county board Tuesday.

The board approved 44 to 11 bids for general contract work. Construction was slated to begin in 48 hours.

Save $473,000

Catlin, while appealing for the votes which allows construction to begin, said the bids represent a savings of $472,000 on the original estimates by Ralph H. Burke, Inc., Park Ridge, Ill. consulting engineers, who prepared the airport plans.

Catlin stressed that, by approving the contracts, the construction work will allow the county to build a replacement airport for the present facility at Ballard Road and Northland Avenue.

He said the county has approval from every public authority to go ahead with this stage of construction.

Catlin made a reference to the long-standing feud between Winnebago and Outagamie counties as to which airport should be declared the regional "feeder" airport for North Central Airlines service.

"It is my firm opinion," he

Issue Permit For Waupaca Apartment

WAUPACA—Plans have been announced for a 12-unit, $64,000 apartment building here.

Building Inspector Vernon Johnson said the building permit was issued to Arthur Hardy, 620 River St., for proposed construction on the 300 block of S. Main Street.

The one-story building will consist of three two-bedroom units and nine one-bedroom units in addition to a full basement housing offie and storage space.

Johnson said the building will occupy much of the block from Main to Washington streets. The U-shaped building will face south with the center area designated for parking.

"Puff," a Tamed Otter at the Crystal River Ranch, is the envy of many young girls in the Waupaca area. She and her owner, Rex Oatman, county conservation warden, turned down a movie contract to appear in a Walt Disney movie. Puff, according to Oatman, is more affectionate than a dog and makes a wonderful house pet. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Warden's Pet Otter

Puff Gives Up Hollywood Offer To Stay With Waupaca Friends

BY DICK McDANIEL
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

WAUPACA — Giving up a Hollywood movie contract to remain at home with friends may be hard to believe, but it happened here at the Crystal River Ranch.

The promising young actress, in this case, is "Puff," a pet otter owned by Rex Oatman, county conservation warden.

Although it is very rare and difficult to raise an otter in captivity, Oatman has succeeded. As for the movie contract, Puff actually had a bid to appear in a Walt Disney movie, but it seems Oatman would find it difficult to take off three months from his duties for the filming.

Puff does not mind, because her sister got the job. The movies will be made at Phillipps.

Oatman bought a pair of untamed otters, who turned out four kits. Oatman promptly set about taming the kits. Oatman claims Puff was easier to "house-break" than a dog, and she is just as affectionate.

Puff is kept in a pen when Oatman and Allan Pope are not at their house trailer. But when they arrive, Puff "puts up such a fuss to get out to play," she is immediately released.

When she returns, Oatman places a blanket on the ground and Puff dries herself by crawling on her belly and on her back.

Smallest of Kits

Puff was the smallest of the kits, but she is growing fast, Oatman reports. When they were about six weeks old, they were taken from their mother because otters inherit the wild traits of their elders if they remain, Oatman said.

Oatman said it is impossible to tame the older otters. While "Joe" is impossible to get close to, the female is a little more friendly, but not enough to tame.

When they were taken from their mother while six weeks old, the Kits had to be cared for like humans. Oatman said they had to be fed up to five times a day, both day and night.

They eat a mink-type food with fish, meat and cereal. Puff also likes scrambled eggs.

Bites Too Hard

Puff likes to be jostled, but sometimes she doesn't know her own strength. On occasions when she playfully snaps at Oatman, she bites a little too hard.

When she goes into the trailer house, she runs for the davenport and runs from end to end and then in a flash disappears beneath it.

She has a lot of company at the ranch, including 15 rabbits, five bantam hens and roosters, some tame mallards, many squirrels and other wildlife.

Oatman said the price of a tamed otter is about $500. He told a would-be buyer he wanted $750 for Puff. "You don't want to sell it very badly at that price," the would-be buyer replied.

"That's right I don't," Oatman added.

Chilton Residents Deplore Plant Odor

Property Owners Ask Council To Act on Conditions Resulting From Operations at Malting Firm

CHILTON — Alleged offensive odors being emitted by the Chilton Malting Company was the target of a petition to the city council Tuesday night.

A delegation of property owners living in the vicinity of the malting plant appeared at the council meeting to voice their objections to periodic malting odors and residue which results from the malting process.

A formal petition, which the delegation indicated held more than 100 signatures of persons living within two blocks of the firm, was presented. It called for the mayor and council to take steps to bring the condition to an end. The condition was described as "obnoxious odor and residue caused by roasting malt."

Residents' Spokesman

Emanuel Nadler, 235 Commerce St., served as spokesman for area residents. He said that when the condition is at its worst, it causes illness and nausea to residents of the immediate area. "It got so bad one night I had to pile the family in the car and drive out of town," he said.

The issue was turned over to the health and sanitation committee. The committee was instructed by Mayor Elmer Daun to meet with officials of the malting firm to determine corrective measures.

Fourth Ward Ald. William Hertel assured his constituents he had been in contact with company officials even before the petition was circulated.

The firm regrets the condition. It has called in technicians from the manufacturer of the malting equipment in an effort to eliminate the odors. A report is forthcoming, he said.

Crossing Guards

Women as crossing guards at busy intersections seem likely for the city soon.

The aldermen bowed to a request by Parent Teachers association spokesman Mrs. John Sievertson to employ women to lead young school children across busy streets when the youngsters are enroute to and from school.

Employment of adult crossing guards and elimination of the school patrol became a PTA project a month ago. Police Chief Harry Thompson estimated five women should be stationed at busy points indicated by the PTA study. He estimated the cost of the program at $4,200 a year.

Mayor Daun designated the public property committee, headed by Emil Jodar, and Thompson to meet with a PTA delegation to work out details.

A street committee recommendation to accept the Hingiss Implement Company's $4,900 bid for a new truck was approved by the council. The three - ton International truck will replace a badly worn unit in the Street department fleet.

Lowest of Three Bids

The bid was low of three submitted, according to Emil Schaff.

The fire Tuesday at Quality Manufacturing Co. gave rise to three separate actions. The fire department's efficient handling of the blaze drew a letter of commendation from the council.

Police Chief Harry Thompson called for "teeth" in local ordinances governing the conduct of spectators at fires. Many onlookers, he said, showed complete disregard for police instructions to move back from the scene of the blaze.

Although the hydrant system provided sufficient water, Ald. Miles Agee suggested that the council give consideration to the possibility of providing river water for fire fighting in the downtown business area by a series of check dams on the lower Manitowoc River.

Widening of the driveway leading to Horst Engineering Co., N. Madison Street, was authorized by the council.

Waupaca Man Sentenced to State Prison

Roger W. LaMay Guilty of Two Burglary Charges

WAUPACA — Roger W. LaMay, 38, route 1, Waupaca Tuesday was sentenced by Judge Wendell McHenry to two concurrent terms of indeterminate stay at the state prison in Waupun on two charges of burglary.

Judge McHenry fined LaMay $10 for failure to stop for an arterial, $50 for leaving the scene of an accident and $100 for shining deer. The alternate jail sentences with each fine is to run concurrent with his prison sentences.

Judge McHenry told LaMay, who pleaded guilty to all five charges last week, that his presentence investigation by the State Department of Public Welfare was favorable, especially while he was under state jurisdiction as a parolee from the state prison where he served one year of a sentence for arson.

Arterial Violation

LaMay was arrested Sept. 18 in Waupaca after he crashed his car into a city squad car which was attempting to stop him for an arterial violation. After a wild chase in the city, police captured LaMay after firing five warning shots into the ground.

Police found loot in LaMay's car from the former Boob's Bar, King, which was taken Sept. 17. LaMay also admitted burglarizing Boob's Bar on June 11.

He was sentenced to the state prison in 1959 for setting fire to the H. F. Dushek Trucking firm garage.

Manawa PTA Will Hold Open House

MANAWA — The Manawa PTA will hold open house Oct. 21 from 8 to 9 p.m. at the graded school. Parents will be given the opportunity to meet their childs' teacher and to visit his class room.

A skit "The Case of the Missing Subscriber," will be presented after the business meeting. Mrs. Gerald Stern, PTA magazine chairman and her committee, will be in charge.

Car Crashes Into Cows

Scandinavia Man Claims He Was Forced Off Road

WAUPACA—Four cows were injured about 1:30 a.m. Saturday when a car operated by Jerry H. Rogan, 30, route 1, Scandinavia, left State 49, 2½ miles south of Scandinavia, the sheriff's department reported.

Rogan was going north, he said, and met an oncoming car on his side of the road. He was forced to the shoulder where the car went out of control, crossed the road and crashed through a fence into a herd of cows. His car struck one of the cows and the others were injured when they were struck by the fence.

Damages were estimated at $450 in a two-car accident about 2:40 p.m. Monday on State 49 in Iola. Police said a car driven by Gerald Berg, 27, Wausau, was struck in the rear by a car driven by Ronald Thompson Jr., 17 route 2, Iola, after the Berg car was forced to make a sudden stop because a car in front of him made a sudden stop. Both were going north.

Shiocton Village Board Sheriff to Discuss Law Enforcement Problems

Calvin Spice Will Give Advice On Establishing Police Service

A meeting with Outagamie County Sheriff Calvin Spice and members of the Shiocton Village Board has tentatively been set for Oct. 31.

Village President Martin Groth met with Spice Tuesday to set up the meeting. The board is expected to ask Spice's advice on establishing more law enforcement in the village of Shiocton.

Board members agreed one week ago to approach Spice and ask his opinion on a possible solution to what has been termed a "growing law enforcement problem" within the village limits.

No Police Officer

The village's regular part-time constable, Lawrence Roberts, quit his job last spring. The village has been without a policeman since. A village resident, Richard Nelson, has been hired by the board to act as a parttime "nightwatchman" but he is not entrusted with police duties.

Merchants became critical of the situation several weeks ago when at least eight break-ins occurred in the village, but only one was reported to the sheriff's department. The other break-ins were uncovered in an investigation of the one break-in.

Last Friday the owner and operator of a teen-age beer bar located near the village limits asked the sheriff's department for protection. He said he had heard rumors that a "brawl" was scheduled to take place at his tavern. He said the previous Tuesday a patron had been beaten up in his tavern by a group of "outsiders" from Appleton and Menasha. The man was hospitalized.

Deputy Assigned

A deputy was assigned to the tavern by Spice and three sheriff department investigators were assigned to the Shiocton area. There was no trouble reported in the village Friday night.

Spice said he will discuss possible plans of providing the village with law enforcement, either through a lend-lease system with the sheriff's department, or in the establishment of a village police unit.

Union Seeks To Represent Home Workers

The Wisconsin Council of County and Municipal Employees, AFL-CIO, has petitioned the Wisconsin Employment Relations Board (WERB) to conduct an election for employees at the Appleton City Home to designate the official bargaining agent.

The union contends the majority of employees at the home are unionized and as a result it should be designated as their official bargaining agent. A hearing on the petition for a representation determination will be conducted by the WERB at 11:15 a. m. Tuesday at city hall. The union claims to represent a specific unit of employees, the number totaling 10.

The city has raised the question whether the union is the official bargaining representative for the employees.

Set Chicken Dinner

SEYMOUR — St. John Catholic Church will have a family style chicken dinner with homemade pies from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. Sunday.

P-C and TCNR Employees Give 100 Pct. to Drive

Employees of the Appleton Post-Crescent and the Twin City News-Record have attained a 100 per cent contribution record in the Appleton and Neenah - Menasha Red Feather drives.

Henry G. Starck, Post-Crescent production manager who served as the company's fund drive chairman, said the total contribution was up 25 per cent over last year.

V. I. Minahan, company president, spoke at a series of meetings held on company time to urge employees to contribute to the drives.

Kindergarten Classes From the Masonic Temple, Dellwood and Rexford schools, Clintonville, toured the fire department and police department recently. Fire Chief Ed DuFrane and Fireman Harold Rekitzke of the Clintonville Volunteer Fire Department explained to the children from the Masonic Temple class with their teacher, Mrs. Clarence Ehlert, how the firemen wore a mask when it was necessary to enter a building filled with smoke. Chilton Board Reviews Bids on Language Lab

Proposals Range From $4,784 to $5,872 for 15 Units

CHILTON — The board of education Monday night reviewed bids on a new foreign language laboratory for Chilton High School.

In all, six firms submitted proposals. Bids ranged from $4,784 to $5,872. Specifications called for 15 individual booths with a versatile console control unit. The basic laboratory assembly must be capable of eventual expansion to 25 booths.

The board delayed its decision until completion of a tour today to examine the various models in schools where they have been installed. The trip will take board members to Sheboygan and Milwaukee.

Adult School

The board decided to again sponsor an adult and vocational education program in cooperation with the New Holstein Board of Vocational and Adult Education. The district pays the program expenses through the Chilton City Council.

A. W. Gordon reported interest in the vocational and adult classes being offered during the first semester is lagging. Only two classes, bridge and upholstery, attracted the required number of pupils, he said.

The McHale property, being sought by the board, is not for sale at the present time, the board learned from a letter from Mrs. William McHale.

Develop Playground

Earlier this year the district purchased a portion of the McHale back lot for eventual development as a playground area. The remainder of the lot, which fronts on S. Madison Street, and the home was being sought by the board.

The board authorized district officers to borrow up to $100,000 to meet current operating expenses until tax revenues due the district are paid.

Fire insurance coverage amounting to $1,000 will be placed on the Twain School building. The structure, which became district property as a result of reorganization, is being used for special classes for retarded children.

Brillion Scouts Have Separate Fund Drives

BRILLION — The city's joint Boy-Girl Scout fund drive this year will be replaced by separate drives for the two organizations.

Brillion Boy Scouts will be conducting their drive this month, in line with the Valley Council campaign. The Girl Scout drive will be from Feb. 17-22.

CHILTON — Results of the township Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service community committee elections in Calumet County have been announced by Herb Goeldi, incumbent ASCS committee chairman.

Brillion — Norbert Geiger, Kenneth Steinbach, Roy Bastian, Charles Schumacher and Lyle Holtz.

Brothertown — Roland Wettstein, Harold Schmitz, Ray Woelfel, Dave Ludwig and Norbert Klapperich.

Chilton — Fred Schmid, Harold Schaff, Aloise Gruber, Cyril Schaefer and James Ludwig.

Harrison — Paul Ashauer, Isadore Marx, Henry Renn, Alex Hoelzel, and George Dietzen.

New Holstein — James Webber, James Mertens, Gilbert Erbach, Robert Hemauer, and Donald Morgan.

Rantoul — Oscar Hillmann, Eugene Mertz, Donald Hillmann, William Schneider and Gerhard Riemer.

Stockbridge — Robert Bowe, Ernest Franzen, Arth Hoerth, Elmer Pilling and Harold Mochn.

Woodville—Joseph Gehl, Matt Micke, Edwin Loefer, Sylvester Berchem and Clifford Schmidt.

Township chairmen will serve as delegates to the county convention at 8:15 p.m. Thursday in the city hall here. The county ASCS committee will be elected.

Election

In the event the township committee chairman is unable to attend, the vice chairman and regular member have been designated as alternate and second alternate, respectively.

Three members and two alternates constitute the county committee to be elected. It is in charge of local adminstration of such national farm programs as the agricultural conservation, feed grain, wheat stabilization, national wool, acreage allotments, marketing quotas, commodity loans, storage facility loans, soil band and land use adjustment programs.

County committeemen elected Thursday will take office Nov. 1 and serve for one year.

Board Will Sell Five Old Schools

NEW LONDON — Five unused rural schools of the New London Unified School District will go on the auction block Oct. 26. Being sold are Oak Wood School and Pine Grove School in the northern part of the district and in the southern part of the district Oak Grove, Sandy Knoll and Hickory Grove.

The sale of the two northern schools will be in the morning. The other schools will be sold in the afternoon. Herbert Resch a local auctioneer will conduct the sale.

Board of education members put their stamp of approval on the sale at their Oct. 8 board meeting.

Show Fire Film

CLINTONVILLE — A special film, "A Way With Fires," was shown in St. Rose Catholic school to the entire student body as part of the school's observance of Fire Prevention Week.

Five Tours Set for Industry Education Day

Chilton Chamber Plans Tours of Local Industrial Plants for High School Seniors

CHILTON—Plans for the city's first Industry Education Day were set Monday night by a special committee of Chilton Chamber of Commerce members.

The event, which is expected to feature tours of five Chilton manufacturing plants, has been scheduled for Oct. 25. Chilton High School seniors will participate.

An orientation on safety practices by representatives of the firms participating will open the all-day event. It will be given at the school.

Students In Groups

From there the class, divided into groups of about 15 students, will begin by visiting Chilton Metal Products Co. After the metal products tour is completed, the group will move to the Aluminum Specialty Co. plant. The morning portion of the program will be concluded with a trip through the Chilton Trailer Co.

The firms specialize in metal stampings and gasoline tanks, aluminum cookware and mobile homes, and camping trailers.

L. M. Towers, instant milk plant manager, said he is awaiting formal authorization from the company headquarters at Los Angeles to clear the way for the visit by the students.

William Roghan and John Berger are co-chairmen of the industrial committee, which is in charge of the event. Chamber of Commercce President William Engler conducted the planning session.

Milwaukee Man Fined For Frequenting Bar While Ordered Not To

WAUPACA—Dennis Lee Wilson, 21, Milwaukee, formerly of Weyauwega, was fined $50 for frequenting a liquor bar while he was posted and $100 for disorderly conduct Tuesday afternoon by County Judge Wendell McHenry.

Wilson, who was unable to attend the hearing, pleaded guilty to the two charges through his attorney, Richard E. Johnson. He was arrested Aug. 25 in Weyauwega.

Charges of resisting an officer and escape from custody were dismissed Oct. 7 on a motion by Dist. Atty. Gerald K. Anderson.

Chilton Runners Lose Meet, 25-36, To Sheboygan

CHILTON — Chilton Tiger distance runners placed first and second in a cross country meet Tuesday but the team dropped a 25-36 decision to Sheboygan South.

Leroy Lorenz took first place by running the two mile course in 10:40.6. Steve Larson was second for Chilton.

The next five places went to South. In order of finish for the winners were Jack Felch, Richard Leslie, Steve Zehren, Chuck Ehren and Joe Stanear.

Mike Fox, Paul Geiser and John Towers, all of Chilton, rounded out the list of 10 finishers.

In the Jayvee meeting between the two schools it was the same story. Chilton's Dick Koehler was the top individual, but South took a 28-41 decision.

Dramatics Club Is Started At Shiocton High School

SHIOCTON—A dramatics club has been formed at the high school to promote an interest in play work during the early years of high school. The club is under the direction of Wayne Knoll, assisted by Fred Woell.

Lecture Series Scheduled by Urban Program

7 Talks Slated at Fox Valley Center For Civic Leaders

The Fox Valley Urban Program will sponsor a Civic Leaders' Conference on Urban Problems at the University of Wisconsin Fox Valley Center Oct. 28 through Dec. 9.

University professors and members of the Urban Program will give a series of seven lectures drawing a political and social profile of the Fox Valley, typical urban problems and problems that may be anticipated locally, and possible courses of action for community leaders.

The conference was designed for Fox Valley civic leaders, who have received invitations. Other persons also may attend.

Expected Problems

In the opening lecture Oct. 28, "Windows on the City," Gilbert James, assistant professor of sociology at the Fox Valley Center and a staff sociologist on the Fox Valley Urban Program, will discuss various ways of looking at the city, with emphasis on social and geographic organization. He will suggest the social problems that may be expected in the Fox Valley as the population increases. James is coordinator of the lecture series.

Daniel Schler, professor at the University of Missouri and a community development expert, Nov. 4 will outline the functions of the University Extension in the solution of local problems. Dean Lorenz Adolfson, director and dean of the UW Extension Division since 1944, will respond with a discussion of the "Wisconsin Idea" and UW resources that are available to civic leaders in the Fox Valley.

"Fox Valley: 1984"

Douglas Marshall, UW professor of sociology, will speak Nov. 11 on "The Fox Valley: 1984!" He will discuss the anticipated nature and size of the Fox Valley population in 20 years and such problems as possible in-migrations of minorities and farm families.

"The Shame of the Cities" will be James' topic on Nov. 18. He will describe typical urban problems that have plagued growing cities of America and the probability that it "could happen here." He will discuss the problems of urban blight, racial minorities, juvenile delinquency and dependency.

"The Fox Valley's 84 Governments—a Political Profile" will be presented on Nov. 25 by John Shannon, political scientist in the Urban Program, and Glenn Jensen, Urban Program coordinator. They will summarize features of county, city and school district governments of the Fox Valley, in a discussion based on an "Inventory of Government in the Fox Valley" prepared by the UW Bureau of Government.

Super Government

Thomas Dye, assistant professor in the UW Bureau of Government, will speak Dec. 2 on "Metropolitan Integration: The Case for and against Political Consolidation." He will analyze both the efficiency arguments advanced in favor of political consolidation and the sociological values that resist the idea of a super "metro" government.

The final lecture on Dec. 9 is entitled "It Can Happen Here." James and Shannon will summarize the local urban problems anticipated in rapid population growth, and outline alternative courses of action which community leaders may take in dealing with these issues.

Verne Imhoff, Fox Valley Center director, is director of the Fox Valley Urban Program.

All lectures will start at 7 p.m. at the Fox Valley Center. The fee for the series will be $5 per person and $7.50 per couple. Persons interested should register at the Center.

Miss Sharon Witt, route 3, Appleton took third place in the "Miss Credit Union of Wisconsin" contest held in conjunction with the 29th annual convention of the Wisconsin Credit Union League. She represented the credit union of the Aid Association for Lutherans. Crowning her is Arthur C. Gilberts, Menominee, Mich., who was re-elected president of the 400,000-member statewide organization.

County Units Salute Credit Union Day

42 Credit Unions, Outagamie Chapter, to Hear Sen. Lorge

International Credit Union Day will be observed Thursday by the Outagamie Chapter of Credit Unions with a dinner and program.

State Sen. Gerald Lorge, Bear Creek, will be featured speaker at the dinner and the program will be a special salute to Credit Union Day.

Tuttle Press Credit Union, Appleton, will be host to the 6:15 p. m. event in the Catholic Club, 3900 W. Spencer, Appleton.

Peter DeLain, president of the host union, explains credit unions are "organizations of people saving togethe rand lending to each other at a low rate of interest."

17 Million Members

He said there are 29,500 credit unions in the world with more than 17 million members. Shares and deposits total $8 million, he added.

DeLain said credit unions date back to 1849. He explained that in the United States they are chartered and supervised by the federal government.

As an additional part of its observance of the international day, the Outagamie Chapter has reserved the Appleton Theater Saturday for a special children's matinee.

Tickets will be available from credit union members. One feature-length children's film and several cartoons are scheduled for 1 and 3:15 p. m. showings. The title of the film will be announced later.

Participating Credit Unions

Aid Association for Lutherans, Appleton Coated Paper, Appleton district, Wisconsin Telephone Co.; Appleton Machine, Appleton Manufacturing, Appleton postal employees; Appleton municipal employees; Appleton teachers; Appleton Wire Works.

Homemakers Meet

MANAWA — The Manawa Homemakers will meet at 2 p. m. Wednesday at the city hall. The lesson, "Our Extra Head and Hands," will be presented by project leaders, Mrs. Frank Binder and Mrs. Arthur Patri.

Women Set for Church Bazaar At Waupaca

WAUPACA — This is a busy week for women of Trinity Lutheran Church who are completing final preparations for the annual "Autumn Splendor" fall bazaar scheduled Thursday.

The women of the church, under the direction of Mrs. Perry Jensen, chairman, and Mrs. Gerald Cook, co-chairman, are preparing to serve coffee from 9:30 to 11 a.m. and from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m.

Lunch will be served from 11 a.m. to 1:30 p.m.

There will also be booths for greeting cards, aprons, fancy work, Christmas gift boxes and gifts, foods, home decorating supplies, farm produce and a cookie tasting bar.

Correction

WAUPACA — George Retzlaff, a New London tavern keeper, was fined $75 Monday on a charge of allowing a minor to loiter in his bar May 30 not for serving a minor as was reported in Tuesday's Post-Crescent. The Post-Crescent regrets the error.

Tipsy Driver Fined $150

Arthur J. Krueger, 58, Scandinavia, Has License Revoked

WAUPACA — Arthur J. Krueger, 58, Scandinavia, pleaded guilty of drunken driving Tuesday and was fined $150 and his driver's license was revoked for one year by Municipal Justice George Whalen.

Krueger was arrested Monday night in Scandinavia. Undersheriff William Mork said Krueger backed his car up and came forward and ran into another parked car causing damages over $250 to each car. The other car is owned by Elroy Mork, Iola.

Krueger was committed to the county jail for 45 days or until the fine is paid.

Arthur McBain, 63, Seymour Businessman, Resort Owner, Dies

SEYMOUR — Arthur McBain, 63, Seymour businessman, died Tuesday after a five-month illness. He lived in Seymour 48 years and operated a bulk oil business and restaurant. He also ran a resort in Forest County.

He was a member of the Odd Fellows Lodge and St. Paul Methodist Church, Seymour. Survivors are his wife, one daughter, one son, a sister and five grandchildren.

Funeral services will be Friday at Muehl Funeral Home with the Rev. Richard Deems officiating.

Secretary Elected By Women's Society

WITTENBERG — Mrs. Joseph Turecek was elected secretary of the Methodist Church Women's Society of Christian Service at a meeting Wednesday night. She replaces Mrs. Lee Radum.

Plans were made for the Quiet Day of Prayer at the church Oct. 29. Committees were appointed for the fall sale Nov. 2 at the Legion Hall.

Mrs. Carl Hanson and Mrs. Walter Netzel were hostesses.

Rolls 571 Series

Plan Ordinance for Public Works Job

New London Council Also Makes Warren East-West Through Street

NEW LONDON—An ordinance creating the post of director of public works is being prepared on recommendation by the planning commission. It was approved Tuesday night by the city council

Two other planning commission recommendations—one that $350 be put in the 1964 city budget for New London Aviation, Inc., and that a request for financial assistance by the ski club be denied—were approved by the council

New Through Street

The council also voted to make Warren Street, from Oshkosh to Wyman streets and from Wyman to Division streets, an east-west through street. This leaves the city with three north-south through streets—Wyman, Mill and Division streets

The council also voted to install stop signs on Pine Street at the intersection with Oshkosh street

An application for a mobile home by Russell Hotchkiss, 602 E. Hancock St. was denied Mayor Wilmer Schlafer told the council the planning commission, board of public works and planning consultants are considering making sanitary sewer facilities available north of the canal for a trailer court.

County Trunk Project

Mayor Schlafer announced that the board of public works will have a meeting with the town board of Hortonia at 8 p.m. Thursday to discuss how much of the work on County Trunk D is to be paid by Hortonia. The work to be paid includes storm sewers, curb and gutter and grading of the street.

It was also announced that the license committee is going to meet with the city attorney to amend the ordinance so taverns can remain open on election day and that a class B tavern can sell one gallon of liquor for consumption outside of the premises

Richard Bergiund, chairman of the park board, announced he had an estimate of $550 for the conversion of the hot water heater at the park from wood and that there would be no guarantee of better results. No action was taken by the council

'Credit Union Day' Set in Clintonville

CLINTONVILLE — Mayor Frank Sinkewicz has proclaimed Thursday as Credit Union Day here to coincide with International Credit Union Day.

In his proclamation, Mayor Sinkewicz noted Clintonville has two credit unions, the F.W.D. Credit Union and Hansen Employees' Credit Union, whose combined membership totals 1,200.

Cost Totals $15,000

Recovery Room to be Built in Clintonville

CLINTONVILLE — The contract for the recovery room to be added to the Clintonville Community Hospital was awarded to Kucksdorf Construction Co., Leopolis, by the board of directors at a meeting Monday night. The cost of the addition will be $15,000.

Work on the addition is to begin as soon as possible. The structure will cover 400 square feet and will be located between the ambulance entrance and the surgical entrance of the hospital

Piped-in Oxygen

The recovery room will be equipped with three beds with piped-in oxygen, vacuum equipment, and post-operative equipment

With this new addition and equipment, it will mean that anyone who has been anesthetized either for surgery or any emergency will be taken to this room and cared for until he is out of the anaesthesia and then taken to his individual room

The appropriations for this addition are from the estates of the late Mrs Anna Gibson and Miss Viola Behling, and will not be of any cost to the city

Man Is Held on Bad Check Count

NEW LONDON—A rural New London man is being held in custody after pleading guilty of forgery. He appeared before Municipal Justice Herman H. Platte Monday.

Vernon Greshamer, 21, route 1, New London, admitted taking blank checks from a friend's home and then making them out payable to himself and forging another New London man's name. He cashed five of the checks which totaled $65. Three of the checks he cashed in New London, one in Clintonville and another in Appleton.

Justice Platte set bond at $1,000 and bound Greshamer over to County Court for trial. When Greshamer was unable to post bond, he was taken to Waupaca County jail.

Calumet Game Warden Gets 2 Guns, Car, but No Poachers

CHILTON — Calumet County Conservation Warden Kieth Reichenbach wound up with two guns and an abandoned car but no deer shiners after a high speed chase east of here Monday night

Reichenbach and his team of county special wardens were checking for deer shiners in the wooded area and swamplands near Riesterer's Corners about 9:30 p.m. when Reichenbach spotted a car shining a spotlight into the fields adjoining the swamplands

Reichenbach followed the car with his lights out for more than a mile before it turned around and came back toward him. He set up a partial road block using his car with a red flasher light and stepped into the other lane with a red flashlight.

Dives For Ditch

The car slowed at first, then came at him at a high rate of speed, Reichenbach said. He dove for the ditch to avoid being run down, then followed the speeding car.

During the chase the two men in the car tossed a loaded automatic rifle from the car window. They ditched the vehicle at a tavern and ran into a dense thicket. Wardens combed the area but were unable to find the suspects.

Another gun was found in the car. The weapon thrown from the vehicle has been shipped to the crime laboratory at Madison, Reichenbach said. The car and other rifle have been temporarily confiscated.

Airport Bids Show Saving Of $473,000

said, "that we have the best available site in the entire area for a regional airport, from as far south as Fond du Lac to north of Green Bay. Nowhere is there a better physical site.

"What is to be a regional airport in the feeder system? Your guess is as good as mine. The Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) hearings to determine this have been purely investigative in nature. No regional airport, in fact, exists today.

"We have consistently maintained the position that commercial airline service can be maintained both at the Oshkosh (Winnebago County) and at the Appleton (Outagamie County) airports. Airport service is essential to both communities, but we have established that this area is far superior in total airport demand for services

"Oshkosh could never adequately provide regional airport service for the area stretching as far north as Kaukauna This," Catlin stressed, "is undisputed by everybody but the Oshkosh interests.

"Technically, we are doing what we must do to provide for the future as developed in the Burke plan"

Financial Situation

Catlin told the board the county should act now on building the new airport "because we are faced with a pleasant financial situation we must take advantage of. We are receiving a substantial advantage in bids because we are at the close of the construction season.

We had expected to save only about $300,000 of Burke's estimate, but we find ourselves with a $473,000 savings instead."

In a financial report, Catlin pointed out the airport fund has $90,470 in cash and the investment fund has $2,182,779 for a total of $2,273,250. A total of $526,749 has been spent so far on the project.

Total Expenditures

Total spent includes $71,699 for consulting, engineers and surveys and participation in State Aeronautics Commission and CAB hearings: $56,450 for engineering, and $449,416 for the purchase of land.

Included in the $526,749 spent is the original $50,000 appropriation for the airport committee.

The major runway will be 5,200 feet long and 150 feet wide The cross runway will be 5,100 feet in length

Runway Bases

J. L. Donoghue, president of Ralph Burke, Inc., told the board there will be three types of base for the project at various points at the port — three inches of blacktop on a 6 inch compacted base for light aircraft, 6 inches of concrete on 6 inches of aggregate base for intermediate aircraft (up to DC-3) and 9 inches of concrete on 8 inches of compacted base for jet usage.

Catlin answered a query from Supv. Eugene Kloes on prospects for obtaining federal aid to help finance the project. He said the county, under federal law, must be reimbursed for 50 per cent of the land acquisition costs.

Fund Priority

"If the state allocates federal funds for any other project, we have the legal right to stop them because of our priority."

The county will reapply for federal aid for the balance of the project, but Catlin pointed out that FAA will not award any other funds until the CAB has made its decision in the regional airport hearings.

How Hurricane Grew To Record Proportions

TUESDAY, OCT. 1

In Haiti, the Negro nation on the island of Hispaniola the sound of the sea is subtly changing From far out comes a single long, low swell. It hits the shore of the Tiburon Peninsula with an unexpected boom Slowly, another comes, and another

Flora, still far away, is growing more violent.

WEDNESDAY, OCT. 2

1 p m The waves are breaking high over the coast of Hispaniola The weather remains calm Wisps of cirrus clouds spread a pale, milky haze over the sky

As the day goes on the veil thickens The sunset is spectacular, red and orange

THURSDAY, OCT. 3

8 a m The wind gusts at 50 miles an hour The sea is wild A hard burst of rain comes and goes, to be followed by another Huge swells bombard the coast and hurl foam far up the coral bluffs From far out comes the thunder of drumming rain.

No Hiding Place

1 p m Two hurricane hunters criss-cross the storm at 10,000 feet Sustained winds have reached 140 miles an hour, gusts 160.

2 p m Hurricane winds reach the south coast of the Tiburon Peninsula

8 p m The wall of the eye, a solid barrier of water and wind whirling savagely in toward the calm center of the hurricane, crosses the coast between Aquin and Cotes de Fer

200-Mile Gusts

Funneling down the canyons between mountain ranges, gusts reach 200 miles an hour

Solid sheets of rain turn rivers and streams into torrents Crashing down the mountainsides, they push the crops, even the soil, into the sea

FRIDAY, OCT. 4

1 p m Flora slams into Cuba s Oriente Province Now it is the biggest hurricane in history It torments the seas for a thousand miles, from the Bahamas to Puerto Rico More than 200 miles to the south, its rains flood Jamaica. Nine persons drown

Floridians start to worry Nassau boards up

SATURDAY, OCT. 5

A gigantic high pressure system to the north stops Flora over Cuba

11 a m Flora wanders aimlessly eastward, is blocked again by high pressure over the Gulf States

SUNDAY, OCT. 6

MONDAY, OCT. 7

The storm stalls between the cities of Camaguey and Santiago de Cuba Never has a single area taken such a sustained beating from a hurricane

TUESDAY, OCT. 8

After four days of fantastic rain, floods have risen to treetop level in Eastern Cuba Some areas never touched by floodwaters become inland seas.

Villages Razed

Villages and towns are destroyed Crops are ruined, cattle killed Highways and railways are washed out Mines are inundated Factories collapse

1 p m At last, the storm moves northeast off the northeast Cuban coast

Flora is racing toward her death over the cold waters of the North Atlantic

Now relief workers can pick their way through the mud and debris Gradually, the awful tale unfolds

In Haiti More than 5,000 dead No really accurate count is possible. Many bodies are in the sea or under the mud

In Cuba More than 1,000 dead Fidel Castro's Communist regime has suffered an economic disaster

Flora takes her place in history—the most deadly storm ever to howl out of the tropical Atlantic. The old death record of 6,000, set by the Galveston hurricane of 1900, has been exceeded.

Don't Pull the Blanket over your head or think you are seeing a scene from a terror movie The above is a man-made look into the past that appears to be advancing upon the United Nations Building. A barge loaded with eight model members of the Dinosaur family, headed by a 70-foot Brontosaurus, was floated around Manhattan Island Tuesday after a water journey from Hudson, N Y, where they took 18-months to prepare They will adorn an oil company exhibit at the New York World's Fair (AP Wirephoto) very with the leaders of the Kremlin"

Johnson said the Kennedy administration believes it can make some progress toward peace by agreements such as the limited nuclear test ban treaty and the decision to sell wheat to the Soviets without relaxing American defenses

"We are not gambling with our national security Johnson said "We are not taking any needless risks for peace But neither are we foreclosing our future"

In an apparent barb at Sen Barry Goldwater R-Ariz a leading contender for the GOP nomination, Johnson said he and Kennedy will meet head on the challenge of conservatives who want "to retreat from the 20th Century"

Johnson's Questions

The vice president giving his speech the tone of a man who intends to be on the ticket again with Kennedy next year, ticked off a long list of matters on which he said the Republicans should make their position clear

He included slum clearance school building aid highways Social Security conservation rural electrification space and civil rights

Miller called on his Republican listeners to think back to those better days of the Eisenhower administration when tax cuts had to be earned through spending discipline when the President of the United States publicly and indignantly fought against billing our children for our own profligacy"

Of Cuba Miller said "Can we indeed ever expunge this terrible blot? There it is still 90 miles off shore a Communist cancer menacing all the Western Hemisphere

"There it is still a symbol of blundering unmatched in all our history — a tragic failure to follow by a show of firmness this again followed by weakness and indecision Now today there it still stands an American shame"

Snow Falls in Moscow

MOSCOW (AP) — The first snow of the season fell on Moscow today

TWA, Pan-Am Scrap Plans For Merger

NEW YORK (AP) — Trans World Airlines and Pan American World Airways today scrapped their proposal to merge the two carriers into a single $1.2 billion system with 80,000 miles of routes

The timetable for necessary approvals, including those of the federal government, has not progressed to the point where we can look forward to consummation of the merger within a reasonable time," heads of the lines said

The merger agreement, ended Dec 20 1962 would have created the country's largest air transportation system, supplanting United Airlines as No 1

Termination of the deal was announced jointly by Juan Trippe, president of Pan Am and Charles C Tillinghast Jr, president of TWA

Russians Stop British Convoy For Nine Hours

49 refused the Soviet demand because it was "completely at variance with normal procedure"

It was the first time since the 1948-49 Berlin blockade that the Russians had blocked a British military convoy on the 110-mile lifeline between Communist-surrounded West Berlin and West Germany

A British spokesman said a protest was lodged with the Soviet authorities at Potsdam The three Western commandants in Berlin immediately went into an emergency meeting

While the British convoy was held up, a U S. Army convoy of four vehicles and eight men bound for West Germany was cleared without difficulty, a U S spokesman said.

Since the resolution on Saturday of last week's autobahn crisis, the U S Army has sent a number of convoys through East Germany without difficulty However, these movements involved large numbers of men who dismounted voluntarily to be counted.

Phone Calls Threaten Fires

mouth's police chief, reported receiving a telephone call from a man who warned her that if her husband "didn't lay off" the whole town would be set afire

Authorities questioned a number of persons in connection with the fires but all were released without charge

While authorities patrolled this community of 10,000 population through the night, merchants formed pools to guard their business places

Lights in most stores were left on all night as were those in the city's elementary a high schools.

As daylight came to Monmouth today, the lights which had burned all over town were turned off The guards around the schools, the hospital, and a nursing home were withdrawn Volunteers armed with rifles shotguns and clubs who had walked the streets through the night went home

But with the night will come again the fear, the suspicion the haunting anxiety that this time it might be our home, our business, our livelihood that would perish in flame and smoke

And so it will be each night until the arsonist is caught or a prolonged period of quiet lulls the fear that each night turns this town into a hushed camp of stalking guards

Cosmonauts Arrive For New York Visit

NEW YORK (AP) — Maj Yuri Gagarin and Valentina Tereshkova, first man and only woman to orbit the earth, arrived Tuesday night by plane from Mexico City for a one-day visit.

The first question put to the Russian cosmonauts was about reports that Miss Tereshkova was engaged to cosmonaut Pavel Popovich.

She blushed, giggled a bit and waggled her finger at the newsman.

"I'm not engaged," she said, "but when I get married you will definitely find out."

New York Justice, Woman Lawyer Have Quarrel Over Her Hat

NEW YORK (AP)—Supreme Court Justice Irving Saypol has let it be known he doesn't fancy the fancy hats of attorney Enid Gerling

Miss Gerling is fighting a contempt citation for refusing to take the stand to determine if she should withdraw as counsel for a man accused of carrying a gun

She showed up in court wearing a large, floppy, velveteen chapeau This prompted the judge to file a memorandum saying her "conduct in the pattern of hats, bizarre and tending to courtroom disruption and perversion is something no self-respecting judge can tolerate."

"You humiliated me as a lady and as an attorney," complained Miss Gerling

Photographs Prove Charge Not Justified

MADISON (AP) — Accused traffic violator Minot Stillman Jr, 52, of Madison, marched into Traffic Court Tuesday armed with photographs to prove his point and walked away with no blemish on his record

He denied the charge before Judge William Buenzli and produced pictures he took of the intersection and a sign and argued that directions were confusing. Buenzli agreed and dismissed charges against others who were to have followed Stillman to the bench.
